FIRE, POLICE LOSE 900 MEN

MOB IN BOSTON RAIDS COAST GUARD STATION

Infuriated by Killing of 3 Rum Runners.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 2.—(AP)—A demonstration on Boston common in which coast guard recruiting posters were destroyed was an unexpected aftermath today of a meeting in historic Faneuil hall called by the Liberal Civic league in protest at the killing of three rum runners in Rhode Island waters Sunday by coast guardsmen.

The petty officer in charge of the recruiting station was unable to stop the crowd. The posters were torn from their metal standards and trampled, and the standards were bent and broken.

The ancient rafters of Faneuil hall echoed to charges by speakers that in enforcement of prohibition the nation faces a new form of oppression. The Rhode Island incident was referred to by one speaker as the "Newport massacre," and was compared with the Boston massacre, the first bloodshed of the War of Independence.

Ask Impartial Investigation.

A resolution adopted by an audience which filled the hall called upon President Hoover for an impartial investigation.

"We believe," said the resolution, "that we have a right to respectfully demand that you, sir, as President of the United States, order a thorough and searching investigation into the facts surrounding this deplorable incident by somebody not connected with the coast guard or the treasury department.

"By the continuance of such governmental practices we can see nothing but the destruction of the liberties for which our fathers fought, for which free men have bled from the time of the great charter.

Public Becomes Skeptical.

"We are not asserting the guilt of the coast guard, but we believe the attitude of the government as at present taken will justly give the impression that an attempt is being made to suppress the facts and whitewash a criminal act of the worst kind, and all this for the enforcement of an unpopular, unnecessary and stupid law which has no proper place in the constitution of our nation and which all intelligent people know can never be enforced."

Conrad W. Crooker, general counsel for the Liberal Civic league, which has conducted an investigation into the shooting, denied that the rum runners had attempted to escape or that they were given any warning by the coast guard patrol boat 290 before it opened fire with a machine gun.

Shot at Close Range.

Crooker said his investigation showed the men were shot down from a pointblank range of 15 feet as their craft, the Black Duck, was proceeding at four miles an hour in a dense fog and headed directly towards the 290. The 290, he said, instead of being in pursuit, was tied by the stern to a Dumpling Rock buoy at the time.

He said Boatswain Cornell, skipper of the 290, was afraid to board the Black Duck after Charles Travers, the wounded sole survivor of her crew, brought her alongside the coast guard craft.

Medical Attention Neglected.

It was the cook aboard the 290, he said, who finally in response to Travers' pleas went aboard the Black Duck to help him with the three dead or dying men. Crooker claimed that when Cornell finally took his craft the half mile through the fog to Fort Adams, two hours after the shooting, a naval surgeon there said Jake Weisman, one of the three killed, was still alive and that he was not pronounced dead until half an hour after his arrival.

Crooker asserted that if the guardsmen had taken the men to shore quicker Weisman's life might have been saved.

Congressman John W. Douglas said the rum runners were "outrageously, feloniously murdered," and promised to forward an investigation at Washington.

John F. Fitzgerald, former mayor of Boston, after attacking the Newport slayings, announced his intention of being a Democratic candidate for governor next year, with repeal of the state's enforcement act as a platform plank. He made of his announcement a challenge to Gov. Frank G. Allen, who yesterday defended the state law.

"Let Gov. Allen and Mayor Nichols leave the rooms where liquor is served," he said, declaring it would

Movie Planes Crash at Sea; 10 Die

2 STUNT SHIPS AFIRE AS THEY FALL IN OCEAN

Kenneth Hawks One of Victims.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Santa Monica, Cal., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Kenneth Hawks, movie director and sportsman, and nine other men engaged in the filming of venturesome air "shots," were hurled to death in the Pacific ocean in two tangled, blazing monoplanes off the Palos Verde hills, 25 miles from Los Angeles, late this afternoon. In addition to Hawks, those killed were:

CONRAD WELLS, head camera man for the Fox Film corporation.

BEN FRANKEL, assistant camera man.

HAL ROUSE, pilot.

ROSS COOK, pilot.

GEORGE EASTMAN, camera man.

OTTO JORDAN, assistant camera man.

TOM HARRIS, property boy.

The bodies of Gold, Wells, and Frankel had been recovered tonight and a flotilla of small boats was conducting an intensive search for the other dead.

Planes Crash at 3,000 Feet.

The two planes, big, high winged Stinson-Detroiter cabin craft, each powered with a Wright 300 horse power motor, working at the time for the Fox Film corporation, collided at an altitude of 3,000 feet, exploded, and fell afire into the sea at about 4:30 p. m.

Pilots Rouse and Cook never had a chance to save their lives or those of any of the passengers. A third plane of the movie flotilla, piloted by Capt. Roscoe Turner, Hawks' good friend, was close by as the burning planes fell, with men tumbling out of them from a great height and plunging into 260 fathoms of water. Turner could do nothing to help. The picture on which the planes and the men were working was entitled "Such Men Are Dangerous."

Eyewitnesses' descriptions of the tragedy said that one of the two planes poised above the other and then, as if the pilot had lost his vision in the piercing rays of the setting sun, had darted down and struck the top of the lower plane. After a momentary shudder a wing broke and one of the planes exploded.

Planes in Tangle.

The other plane, tangled in the débris of its stricken, blazing companion, became engulfed in flames and the two swept down to the depths of the ocean. As the planes fell men jumped or were hurled from it. The bodies which were recovered showed that some of those on the plane were perhaps mercifully struck dead or unconscious at once, for the bones of the recovered dead men were broken.

Turner was flying some 500 feet to the left of the ill-fated planes with a parachute jumper for a passenger. The jumper was watching for a signal from the other planes to leap. The camera men who perished were to have photographed his descent to the sea.

"I was flying to the left and below the camera ships," said Turner in describing the tragedy. "The boy with me shouted that it looked like the planes were going to collide and I winged over for a look at them.

Bodies Splash in Water.

"Then I saw them, locked together, on fire and about to plunge into the water. As the wreckage struck two or three men either leaped out or were hurled clear of the planes. I saw bodies splash into the ocean some distance away from the burning wreckage."

Turner was of the opinion that one of the pilots might have been temporarily blinded by the sun and in that moment crashed into the other ship.

At about the time of the accident an explosion occurred on the naval ship Saratoga within sight of the planes. Another theory is that this mishap may have been responsible for momentary confusion on the part of one of the pilots.

The tragedy exacted the heaviest air toll in the history of motion pictures. In one former picture, "Hell's

When the Yuletide began to flow.

DRAGS GIRL OFF I. C. PLATFORM TO ASSAULT HER

Miss Charlotte Vanderhack, 17 years old, 5458 Hyde Park boulevard, was criminally assaulted last night by a Negro who pulled her from the platform of the Illinois Central suburban station at 87th street and dragged her across the tracks, attacking her at the side of the right of way. The girl's stifled screams attracted the attention of two passengers who were waiting for a train and they called the Burnside police.

The girl, a high school student, was on her way home from the home of a friend, Miss Virginia Seidensticker, 8240 Kenwood avenue, and had been accompanied to the 82d street station by Miss Seidensticker and her father, E. B. Seidensticker, to catch a train. By mistake she took a southbound train and got off at 87th street to take a northbound train to Hyde Park, when the Negro approached her.

She said he offered to drive her home in a taxicab and followed her from the station to the platform, where he seized her when she declined to ride with him.

Early this morning Alex Gaines, colored, 28 years old, residing near 91st street and the Illinois Central tracks, was arrested by Sergt. Patrick McShane and his detective bureau squad. The policemen took Gaines to Miss Vanderhack's home and she identified him as her attacker.

Italy Pardons Thousands for Royal Wedding

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Jan. 2. — Amnesty for offenses involving not more than a one year sentence and fines corresponding to a one year's term in prison were announced today as King Victor Emmanuel's acts of leniency on the occasion of Crown Prince Humbert's forthcoming wedding to Princess Marie-José of Belgium. Altogether 400,000 people will benefit from the royal pardon while 6,000 prisoners are to be freed from jail.

Political crimes as defined in the laws for the defense of the state, and the crimes of high treason, spying, revolt, desertion from military service, judicial extortion, financial fraud, and dope selling are excluded from benefit in the royal clemency.

The amnesty chiefly includes offenders charged with petty larceny, light military offenses, and the numerous persons who have been fined lately following the increased severity of traffic regulations.

QUEEN ADVISES DAUGHTER

BY ANN SOMERS HOUSE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Jan. 2.—"A queen need not scrub or cook meals, but any young woman who gets married ought to know how to take care of herself and children," is the advice Queen Elizabeth of Belgium gave her daughter, Princess Marie-José, who, within a week, will become the bride of Crown Princes Humbert and Italy's future queen.

In the talks she had with two newspaper women, Queen Elizabeth gave her views on the duties of a royal wife and queen. She told them she had given her daughter a thorough training in household work and child welfare work on top of a vast liberal education.

"A royal crown has no meaning unless it is the symbol of duty," Queen Elizabeth said, pointing out the official functions and social duties of a woman sovereign.

Queen Has Beautiful Privilege.

"A queen must lead where other women might hesitate because of the prejudices of convention. That is her most beautiful privilege. If there are others to take the household cares from her she may devote herself to other work."

"What is most important, to be a queen or to be a mother?" she was asked.

"To be the mother of a future kin," she replied emphatically.

Receiving a precious wedding gift every quarter of an hour today, Princess Marie-José now may safely call herself the most richly outfitted royal bride. With a $40,000 bridal veil and diamond ring safely tucked away in a special suitcase the princess has now added dozens of more gifts from an enthusiastic nation. These have been packed in her score of trunks and valises.

Lavish Gifts Pour In.

Princess Marie-José probably spent the busiest day of her young life, for she received one delegation every fifteen minutes with each gift presented. The diplomatic corps offered a crystal dinner set of 350 pieces, all hand cut, bearing the royal crown and emblems of Italy. The colonial war veterans, the Belgian gold star mothers, the shopkeepers of the capital, the personnel of the royal palace, all Belgian newspaper publishers, the military school, the province of Luxemburg and Frenchmen in Belgium were only some of the delegations to offer their congratulations to the princess today.

Auto Crashes Bridge Rail; Falls 30 Feet; One Hurt

Sullivan Middono, 21 years old, 1014 South Sangamon street, a city paving laborer, escaped with bruises early this morning when his automobile collided with a mail truck on the west end of the Van Buren street bridge, crashed through an iron railing, and landed on its top on the river bank 30 feet below. Major Berry, colored, 25 years old, 4107 Vincennes avenue, driver of the mail truck, was not injured. Middono was held on a charge of reckless driving.

Auto Kills Official of G.O.P. Women

Mrs. Lottie Gustafson, president of the Fiftieth Ward Women's Republican organization and associate manager of Chase park, in the Lincoln park system, was struck and killed by a motorist last night as she alighted from her car to go into an undertaker's chapel at 6346 North Clark street, where the body of County Commissioner John W. Gibson lay, awaiting the funeral today.

Her companion, Mrs. Katherine Hodson, 56 years old, 5210 North Paulina street, who was also struck, escaped with severe bruises. Both were taken to the Edgewater hospital, where Mrs. Gustafson was pronounced dead. She was 39 years old and lived at 1627 Edgewater avenue. The motorist, Conrad Woefle, 28 years old, 1426 Roscoe street, was arrested by Summerdale police.

Charged with Manslaughter.

Clark Ross, 909 Argyle street, an advertising man, was held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter yesterday by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Irving O. Kosche, 40 years old, 3100 Sheridan road, who was fatally injured on Tuesday night by Ross' automobile. Kosche, a broker, was run down while crossing Sheridan road at Wilson avenue with his wife, Mrs. Beulah Kosche, and a stepson, Emmerson Otte, 13 years old, who were seriously injured.

Policeman Ernest Kelly testified that Ross was intoxicated. Other witnesses said that he had been drinking, but did not appear to be intoxicated. The inquest was held at the Lake View hospital, where Mrs. Kosche and her son are reported to be recovering.

Actress Is Injured.

Martha Greif, divorced wife of Harry Moir Jr., son of the owner of the Morrison hotel, was disfigured, probably for life, when she was hurled through the glass partition of a taxicab when it stopped suddenly in front of 4100 Sheridan road. Miss Greif, known on the stage as Martie Martell, was on her way to her home at 1309 Addison street.

She suffered deep cuts on her forehead, nose, and left leg. Her injuries were dressed at the American hospital, from which she was removed to her home.

Cop's Auto Kills Boy.

Mrs. Gustafson's death and one other yesterday raised the 1930 Cook county motor toll to seven. The other victim:

Ralph Dehn, 5 years old, 3947 North Neva avenue. Fatally injured when he ran from behind a south bound truck into the path of a north bound automobile, driven by Policeman Ralph Wiltsey of Oak Park, in front of 3912 North Harlem avenue. Wiltsey was not held.

YOUTH DEAD, GIRL SHOT; NEW YEAR'S GUN "UNLOADED"

Michael Budz, 21 years old, 2025 James street, was dead last night and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Mildred Budz, 21 years old, 1810 West 46th street, was wounded in the left hand because his New Year's eve celebration was not through. Budz, an employé of the Armour Box factory, fired his revolver in celebration of the new year and thought that he had discharged all of the cartridges.

Last night while his brother, Jacob, and his sister-in-law were visiting at his home he prepared to clean the gun, believing that it was unloaded. Mrs. Budz picked the weapon up and was examining it when the one remaining cartridge, which Budz had overlooked, was discharged. The bullet passed through Mrs. Budz's left hand and struck her brother-in-law in the heart, killing him instantly.

Sergt. John Roza and his detective bureau squad questioned the members of the two families and said they were convinced the shooting was accidental, but Mrs. Budz was being held at the New City police station for the inquest today.

Gunmen Kill Mother, Girl at Door of Their Home

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 2.—(AP)—M by a volley of shots from the revolvers of two unidentified gunmen concealed in the back yard of their home late tonight, Eleanor Infantino, 15, was fatally wounded and her mother, Mrs. Salvatrice Infantino, 46, fell seriously wounded at the rear door of their home.

ALDERMEN VOTE 7 PCT. SLASH IN SAFETY FUNDS

Battle Over Budget as Night Passes.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

After six hours of almost continuous lobbying members of the finance committee obtained a majority of the city council for their plan to trim the police department an estimated 700 patrolmen and the fire department 200 men. After getting the required 26 votes other aldermen hopped on the band wagon, and it was claimed when the debate started that 31 councilmen would stick to the last ditch for a police and fire cut.

The advocates of a reduction in public safety claimed that the shortage of funds compelled hem to trim police and fire, but at the same time they insisted they are the "real friends of the police," the "constant supporters of the firemen," are much concerned about the welfare of the taxpayers, and earnestly desire to protect life and property.

Stick to Own Auto Allowance.

But the aldermen refused repeatedly to reduce less essential city service to maintain the present police and fire service. Incidentally they approved of the committee recommendation that the public pay the cost of operating and maintaining the private automobile of each alderman.

Vague promises were thrown out that added cash would be set aside for the police and firemen when added revenue is obtained, but no one made a definite prediction that any will be secured nor pointed out where it can be obtained.

The only reduction of passing interest in the finance committee budget was to limit the salaries of the five members of the zoning board to $1 a month each. More than $2,000 of that $6,000 saving was offset by granting them an added employé to the board. Ald. Massen got this bit of saving.

Immediately after this $4,000 victory for the taxpayers the aldermen added $10,000 to the office of chief justice of the Municipal court and $15,000 to the clerk and a like amount to the bailiff of this court.

Add 11 Food Inspectors.

The health department was given $97,480 additional in eleven food inspectors, six ventilating inspectors, and several odd jobs. On top of that automobile maintenance was voted for a small army of health inspectors which will cost an estimated $62,300. Nine ward superintendents in the street bureau were added to the committee recommendation, which boosted the budget $38,000 more. An additional twenty-five section foremen tacked on $52,500 more.

The council started work on the budget at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and were still wearily considering it at 3 o'clock this morning, with no prospect for an early conclusion. At that hour the $55,264,140 corporate budget presented by the finance committee had mounted to about $55,494,800.

That sum is $2,492,000 more than the city controller's estimate of the 1930 corporate revenue. This was considered an excessive amount for "salvage," and the aldermen then started out to eliminate $412,000 from the appropriations agreed upon.

Test for Budget Backers.

Early in the afternoon several aldermen threatened to make a motion to send the budget back to the finance committee for the purpose of trimming appropriations for minor services in order to increase the allowances for the police and fire departments. Ald. G. M. Rozczynialski [32d], Arthur F. Albert [43d], and John A. Massen [48th] uttered such threats.

At that time it was doubtful whether the advocates of the police and fire department reductions had a majority of the council, but as soon as the control was obtained, Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], who advocated the finance committee program, made the motion to defeat it. That supplied the first test.

Rejection Motion Beaten.

The chief argument for votes for the reductions was that it was necessary to make a strong appeal to Gov. Emmerson for a special session of the legislature to relieve the situation. It was urged that the governor might not be impressed unless he was shown that it was necessary to reduce the police and fire departments.

In addition it was urged that if the council trimmed out the fat in sundry departments to make adequate appropriations for the public safety, the aldermen thereby would tell the public that heretofore they have been wasting money on the departments of minor importance. The third point advanced was that the council must not appropriate beyond its estimated income, although the budget of the finance committee, before it was increased yesterday, was more than $2,000,000 above the city controller's estimate of the corporate revenue.

This line of argument won because there was no one lobbying against it, and the motion to return the budget to the finance committee failed.

Ald. Albert made one motion after another to reduce other appropriations, but all failed. Ald. Massen made a motion to substitute the figures of City Controller Schmidt for the finance committee appropriations for the zoning board, corporation counsel, license bureau, the public service department, and the council committees. This would have saved $661,980, which Massen argued would provide for a large number of police. That, too, was shelved.

Some of the shrewder members of the council predicted that there will be no cut in the police and fire departments despite the action last night. The appropriations for each department provide in numbers for the present force for each at the present rate of pay per month, but the total to pay the compensation is insufficient to maintain the present forces for a year.

Argue for Police Reductions.

Once when Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the finance committee, was hard pressed, he replied: "The budget does not make it mandatory for the police chief to reduce his force one man."

In support of the police and fire department reductions it was argued on the floor of the council that the finance committee pledged to appropriate any revenue, not now estimated, for the policemen and firemen. It was hinted that the city might sell "some real estate for $1,000,000." It was urged that the police commissioner charge for details of police for sport events, stores, banks and other private enterprises. Such charges, it was claimed, would increase the city's corporate income.

The suggestion was also made that the county pay for the policemen detailed to the state attorney's office. Nothing more definite was advanced.

The gossip was that the inside aldermen are relying on the state legislature, because they believe that the county and the school board will probably be out of cash by October. Before this time, according to their theory, a public sentiment in favor of "legislative relief" will be built up.

Figures on New Budget.

The principal debate of the long session centered on the police and fire departments, but it lacked pep because there had been whispers that those who favored the police and fire reductions had a majority of the council.

These departments were reduced only 7 per cent, according to the statisticians of the finance committee, while the slashes in other departments averaged 23 per cent.

Other departments, according to the finance committee, will be reduced by approximately 2,100 jobs.

School Trustees Cut $5,000 from Budget; Add $700,000

The finance committee of the school board yesterday took up the work of reducing the tentative 1930 school budget to meet the revenues. When the members adjourned, two and one-half hours later, they had taken $5,000 off the building fund, which shows a cash balance of some $13,000,000, and added $700,000 to the educational fund, which finished 1929 with a deficit of $8,000,000 and faces a new $7,000,000 shortage in the fall.

The tentative budget totals $37,481,483. Supt. Bogan has requested an appropriation of $54,271,743 for the educational fund to meet the year's expenses and absorb the 1929 deficit. The revenues for this fund are estimated at $45,991,202. If the board is to keep the educational fund budget within the revenues it must cut every item 14 per cent, or a total of $7,140,579. The building fund and other funds have been budgeted within the estimated revenues.

$4,241,298 Due on Loans.

Yesterday's $700,000 addition to the educational fund, out of which the teachers are paid, is for interest on temporary loans. It was omitted by mistake from the tentative budget, the committee was told. It increases the amount appropriated for the board's debt service in 1930 to $4,241,298. The interest to be paid includes $3,200,000 for educational fund loans, $1,000,000 for building fund loans, $80,000 for playground fund loans, and $3,298 for bonds. In addition the board must spend $8,000 for redemption of bonds.

The $5,000 cut in the building fund appropriation was made by dropping one civil service employé and taking $2,525 from the fund for new equipment and repairs in the business offices.

Paneling Stirs Questions.

Mrs. W. S. Hefferan, a school trustee but not a member of the finance committee, several times asked for information about an appropriation of $7,500 for walnut paneling now being put into the office of President Caldwell. She declared it was unwise to undertake such a project when the schools are in financial difficulties.

James A. Hemingway, chairman of the committee, replied to Mrs. Hefferan's questions with the remark that the item would be taken up later. According to H. H. Brackett, auditor, the item is not now in the budget but must be added.

The committee also ignored the recommendation of Secretary Charles E. Gilbert that a $2,400 a year employé in his office be dismissed and a stenographer engaged at a lower salary to perform her work. The employé was hired during the board presidency of J. Lewis Coath, Gilbert said.

Mrs. Harvey Tyler, chairman of the educational committee of the Woman's City club, suggested that the trustees might save $7,500 by abolishing the bureau of safety, headed by Frank Singleton.

2 ELECTROCUTED FOR SLAYING OF N. Y. POLICEMAN

Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 2.—(AP)—Arthur Brown, 34, and Frank Kowalski, 25, were electrocuted in Sing Sing prison tonight for the murder of Patrolman Harold Haltam after a robbery at Buffalo, N. Y., on Dec. 22, 1928.

John Schlager, under sentence of death for the same crime, is to be electrocuted later unless Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who declined to intervene for Brown and Kowalski, decides to save him. He is credited with having aided authorities in bringing the other two to justice.

Six Robbers Get $300 and 200 Suits of Clothing

Six robbers invaded the Lieberman Clothing company store at 719 West Roosevelt road last night, took $300 from the safe, and carried away 200 suits and overcoats in an automobile. The bandits left David Lieberman, the owner, and his son, Morris, locked in a washroom on the second floor and Robert Levin, a tailor, imprisoned in a room on the third floor. The Liebermans reside at 315 South Central avenue.

HARDING REPORTS $900,000 PAID ON 1928 TAX BILLS

County Treasurer Harding announced yesterday that he had received almost $900,000 on 1928 tax bills up to the end of 1929. The payments were made and accepted on the theory that those who made payments could make deductions in their federal income taxes and in the hope that the money would give relief to local governments in their financial difficulties.

The amount received, however, is too small to give substantial relief, Harding said. It is less than 1 per cent of the tax total and when divided among the various spending bodies will not be of material assistance, he explained. Nearly half of the amount received was paid on the last day of the year.

56 EMPLOYES ARE DISCHARGED BY CANAL DISTRICT

Fifty-six employés of the sanitary district, including Maclay Hoyne, principal assistant attorney for the district at $12,000 a year, were discharged yesterday at a meeting of the board of trustees. Seven other members of the law department were let out, at a total saving to the board of $38,492 a year.

The other employés dismissed were laborers, bridge tenders, and a subforeman. These, according to Trustee Frank J. Link, will be reinstated in the spring when weather conditions permit the resumption of channel work.

ALDERMAN BALKS AT $20,000 OFFER OF EX-OFFICIAL

Says Carlson Must Pay All Due City.

Ald. Sheldon W. Govier [9th] announced yesterday that he would not accept $20,000 payment to the city in return for more than $100,000 stolen from the city. Nor would he, as chairman of a subcommittee of the council finance committee, enter into any agreement that would permit a conspirator to escape a civil court judgment forcing the return of boodle.

His remarks were directed at an offer to pay $20,000 on the bond of George E. Carlson, former commissioner of gas and electricity appointed by Mayor Thompson in his former administration. Ald. Govier was told that if the council did not agree to take the $20,000 it might get nothing and in addition have to pay the costs of litigation.

Held Responsible to City.

The question arose after the finding, some months ago, by Master in Chancery Thornton M. Pratt that Carlson and Arthur F. Henderson, president of the Electrical Materials company, were responsible for charging the city more than $200,000 for materials, much of which was never delivered. Both were acquitted in a criminal trial on the same charge, after the first jury disagreed.

The city then sued for an accounting and the report of Master Pratt was that an accounting was due the city, because more than $100,000 had been paid to Henderson upon Carlson's approval of vouchers for material never received or used.

Upon his report to the court he was directed to ascertain the amount Carlson and Henderson owe the city. This will be ready in three or four weeks, he said yesterday. The question of their liability already is determined, he said, the new report merely fixing the exact amount to be paid.

Referred to Committee.

J. W. Breen, first assistant corporation counsel, said the offer to settle for $20,000 was referred to the finance committee by the law department because there was some question of the ability of the city to recover on Carlson's bond. Carlson professes to be impoverished, Breen said, and Henderson and his company have been put through bankruptcy.

"Carlson's bond protected the city only on city funds passing through his hands and for 'faithful performance of his duty,'" Breen explained. "He didn't default with any of the city's money and the question of the city's ability to collect, as a result of his unfaithfulness in the performance of his duty, is one on which there may be disagreement. It might be well for the city to take the $20,000 if it can get it."

"I'll never agree to that," Ald. Govier told him. "Even if both men are judgment proof we ought to get judgment against them so that we can levy against them if they ever get into any other business or get hold of any money. I'll never vote for any compromise that would enable them to clear their reputations by having the litigation settled out of court."

What Trial Revealed.

In the criminal trial it was shown that Carlson deposited in his own bank accounts more than $103,000 the first sixteen months he held the office in Mayor Thompson's cabinet. It was shown that in the same time Henderson deposited $500,000 to his own personal account in the same time. Mayor Thompson testified that Carlson bore a good reputation.

The present commissioner of gas and electricity for the city, Michael Kennedy, evaded questioning on Wednesday as to whether Carlson was getting city contracts, and yesterday afternoon he was not in his office, and at his home it was said he would be away all evening.

U. OF C. SCIENTIST IS AWARDED PRIZE FOR HYDROGEN DISCOVERY

Proof that the nucleus of the hydrogen atom, hitherto held by scientists to be one of the most solid and stable particles in the universe, is actually in a state of continuous vibration at tremendous speed, has been produced at the University of Chicago by Professor Arthur J. Dempster.

At Des Moines yesterday the American Association for the Advancement of Science awarded Professor Dempster its annual $1,000 prize "for a noteworthy contribution to science." Scientists, among them Professor Dempster's colleague, Professor Arthur H. Compton, hail the prize winning discovery as one of the most important advances in physics in recent years.

Professor Compton, whose phyics research won him the Nobel prize in 1926, described Professor Dempster's discovery as the final link in a chain of evidence, accumulated from all over the world in the last decade, proving that everything in the universe has a wave form as well as a particle form.

MAYOR WALKER'S ADDITIONAL PAY GOING TO CHARITY

Declares $15,000 Raise Will Aid Taxpayers.

New York, Jan. 2.—[Special.]—The secret came out today. It was to save the overburdened taxpayer money that Mayor Jimmy Walker signed the bill that gave him $15,000 more a year in salary.

For the next four years, he said today, he will give his raise ($60,000 all told) to charities that help the tax supported city agencies help the destitute.

"And I will thus save the taxpayers of New York City that amount of money annually," said the mayor.

Mr. Walker's lesson in economics was preached before the state chamber of commerce in an hour speech defending his administration.

"For the next four years," he continued, "I am going to take the money and divide it among the charities that are doing splendid beneficial work, and thus save the taxpayers of New York City that amount of money annually.

"You don't need to worry about my morality any more. I am a paying member already in seven charities in this city, and the list will be increased in the future. I hope this will be the last thing about that.

"There was no conspiracy about raising salaries. Congress and the legislature raised their own salaries. Borough President Harvey happened to think about it. If we had thought about it we would have done it a year ago."

The mayor's salary was raised from $25,000 to $40,000.

NAB 2 AS HOME ROBBERS WHO HAD GIRL FOR GUIDE

Two of four alleged robbers who used a girl to reconnoiter dwellings they entered, were under arrest last night. They confessed, police said, and named their accomplices, who are being sought.

Charles (Blackie) Blackman, 24 years old, 24 West Huron street, and Arthur Stern, alias Jack Robinson, 2[illegible] of 1 East Huron street, were arrested by Sergt. James Flynn and his squad in the Chicago avenue police station.

They were identified by Mrs. [illegible] Arendt, 65 year old widow of [illegible] South Campbell avenue, as the [illegible] who were beckoned into her home [illegible] Dec. 3 by a girl who posed as a [illegible] hunter.

Stern's wife, who has a record as a shoplifter, was suspected as the "accout," but she denied it and [illegible] Arendt did not identify her.

Coroner's Jury Charges Her with Murder.

Insanity as a defense for murderers was given a set back late yesterday when a coroner's jury refused to follow "expert testimony" and held a husband killer to the grand jury on a charge of murder.

The woman was Mrs. Florence Leeney, 39 years old, who fatally wounded her husband, Maurice, a trucking contractor, early yesterday in their apartment at 5336 Drexel avenue, after what she termed "a night of hell," the climax of six weeks of abuse. Leeney died in the Chicago hospital and attempts were made immediately to prove the woman temporarily or permanently deranged.

The killing had aspects common to others of its kind. There was the "other woman," who admitted intimacies with the slain man; there were three children whom the woman said her husband had abused, and there was the alienist, uttering such phrases as "dementia praecox," "homicidal and suicidal tendencies," and advising that the defendant be confined immediately in the psychopathic hospital.

Tells Coherent Story.

But the defendant herself played havoc with the alienist's plea half an hour later when she took the witness stand and, while emotionally distraught, told her story in a coherent manner.

The contractor was shot about 4:15 a. m. He died at 10, and at 3:30 p. m. an inquest was begun over his body at the hospital. The tempo of the hearing was set immediately when Attorney M. F. Henkel, for the defendant, suggested to Deputy Coroner Jacob Schewel that Mrs. Leeney was perhaps not in her right mind.

"Just a minute," interrupted Mr. Schewel, "we're not interested here as to whether this woman is crazy or not. What we want to know is how Maurice Leeney came to his death and who, if anybody, shot him. Just that." Then the inquest was moved to larger quarters in the Hyde Park police station.

There, under dingy lights in the squadroom, John J. Leeney, 8625 South Union avenue, the dead man's brother, was the first witness. He gave the family history, said all had not been well with his brother's marital affairs for the last six weeks, and added that his brother carried a revolver with the permission of the police.

The high point in John Leeney's testimony came when he disclosed to Mrs. Leeney's children—Florence, 19 years old, and Robert, 21—that the contractor was not their own father.

"What do you mean?" the girl cried out. "Not my father!" Her brother quieted her, and John Leeney left the stand, giving way to portly Dr. James Whitney Hall, who had spent two of the five hours after Leeney's death in examining the widow.

Thinks She's Insane.

The defendant was in a maniacal condition, said Dr. Hall. He asserted he believed she was afflicted with latent dementia praecox, and had threatened to jump out of the window. The alienist was not positive, but he said he believed she had been insane for a long time and he advised that she be sent to the psychopathic hospital.

The daughter, Florence, then took the stand and told of the recent actions of her stepfather. He had been intimate with Mrs. Dorothy Schweinfurth Langley, his distant cousin, while his wife was in the hospital six weeks ago, Florence said, and described how, when her mother returned home, he had struck her, threatened her, and cursed the children.

On New Year's night, the girl said, she returned home at 10:30 p. m. to find guests leaving and her stepfather drunk. He threatened to kill her mother and waved his revolver, she said. Florence tried, on her mother's plea, to quiet him but failed and went to her own room only to listen "for hours" to wrangling, oaths and pleadings.

She couldn't sleep, she said, and sat, half dozing, until suddenly she heard shots and her mother screaming. "Mur, O Mur!" "Mur" was Leeney's nickname, she said. Florence ran into the dining room and turned on the lights. She found the contractor lying face down on the floor in a pool of blood and called the police.

Lieut. Charles Grattan testified that in his belief, Leeney was shot while lying on the davenport.

Admits Indiscretions.

Mrs. Langley, 20 years old, slim, blonde, and plain, followed Florence and admitted in a low voice that she had committed indiscretions with Leeney over a period of weeks, twice in his home while the wife was in the hospital. The widow came to her apartment at 5112 Drexel avenue twice, she said, begging that she stop the attentions. Once Mrs. Leeney brought a revolver with her and threatened to use it if the affair did not end, she asserted, but she admitted she saw Leeney after that.

Mrs. Leeney was the last witness, entering the room with faltering step on the arm of a police matron.

She said she had been married to Leeney for 17 years and that until about six weeks ago they had had only "respectable arguments." Then she had a fainting spell and was taken to the Chicago hospital. The next day, she said, Mrs. Langley came to the hospital and confessed having been intimate with Leeney. She added:

"I worked my fingers to the bone for that man so he could pay his debts. Just after Christmas, after I'd worked a year, I took him $1,000 I'd saved over to the garage at 606 East 40th street and gave it to him and he only cursed me.

"He hit me, he threatened to throw our 3 year old adopted baby, Johanna out of the house and last night I couldn't stand it any longer. He said it would be my last night on earth and chased me around with that awful gun, turning the lights on and off. I grabbed the other gun and let him have it."

The jury returned its verdict in ten minutes.

Orphan Travels to Scotland Alone

6,000 Mile Trip

A 6,000 mile journey isn't so terrifying to a little girl as long as she has her best rag doll along. Four-year-old Isobel McPhail, clasping Marian closely to her, mother fashion, stepped off the Olympian of the Milwaukee railroad yesterday into the protection of the Travelers Aid for a few hours before resuming her journey from Seattle Wash., to Glasgow, Scotland. The little girl's father, her only relative in this country, was killed in an automobile accident in Seattle, and now she is going back to Scotland to live with her grandmother. She will sail from New York tomorrow on the Transylvania.

CLAIM INSANITY FOR MOTHER WHO DROWNED CHILD

Mrs. Irene Nelson, 35 years old, who drowned her 2 year old daughter, Martha, early yesterday in her home, 640 Skokie avenue, Highland Park, and was choking her other child, Harriet, 12 years old, when her husband interfered, was locked up in the Lake county jail at Waukegan last night, technically charged with murder. She will be tried as to her sanity Saturday.

The husband, Franklin V. Nelson, manager of the Northmoor Country club at Ravinia, said Mrs. Nelson had been mentally unbalanced since the birth of the younger child. He was corroborated by Dr. Daniel Rogers of Highland Park.

"I wanted my children to be safe from sin," the mother told Police Chief Edward Matoney. "I planned to put them out of the way Christmas eve, but decided to wait until New Year's. Then on New Year's eve I slept right through the night. This morning I decided not to put it off any longer."

BAKER KILLED BY TRAIN.

George Myers, 60 years old, a baker, 15333 Broadway, Harvey, was found crushed to death on the right of way of the Grand Trunk railroad at One Hundred and Fifty-third street, Harvey, late yesterday. He is believed to have been killed by a train.

CHICAGO SISTER TO VISIT HEIRESS TO $20,000,000

Mrs. Joseph F. Sirotek Departs for East.

Mrs. Joseph F. Sirotek, 8140 Calumet avenue, departed for New York last night to felicitate her sister, Mrs. Anna Mary Savin, who fell heir to a $20,000,000 fortune last week. The sisters were penniless immigrants from Czecho-Slovakia eighteen years ago.

"But we don't expect Anna to share her good fortune with us," said Mrs. Sirotek, who is 35 years old and the mother of three boys. "I wouldn't be going at all except that my husband is a delegate to the convention of the Electric association in New York."

Heiress May Move to Chicago.

"My sister tells me she intends to maintain her $6,000,000 mansion at Port Chester, N. Y., for two or three years," Mrs. Sirotek said. "Then, perhaps, she will move to Chicago, to be near us. You see, I am her only close relative in this country.

"All this money hasn't turned Anna's head. When Mr. Savin married her in 1927, after she had been chambermaid in his home, it didn't change her at all.

"We visited her after she became mistress of the Savin mansion. She was quiet and unassuming, as always. At Christmas time Mr. Savin sent me a pearl necklace while my husband got ten boxes of cigars. The cigars cost 33 cents apiece."

Sirotek agreed with his wife. Savin, he said, was a splendid man—had given him a case of champagne on his last visit to Port Chester.

Husband Praises Savin.

"Mr. Savin knew what he was about when he married my wife's sister," said Sirotek. "They are both splendid women. This is not flattery—for we don't want any of Anna's fortune. I have made enough for my own family."

Relatives of Savin's three former wives and his two disinherited natural children, who are expected to attempt to break the will, have scant chance of success in Sirotek's opinion.

"Mr. Savin was a shrewd man," he said. "When he drew up the will he made it lawyer proof. There will be no legal trouble over the inheritance for Anna."

Girl Pours Oil on Fire and Is Fatally Burned

Stella Jatczak, 11 years old, was burned fatally yesterday morning when she poured kerosene on a fire in the kitchen stove at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jatczak, 1701 Delaware street, Gary. She died several hours later at the St. Antonio hospital in Gary. The burning oil sprayed over another child, Rosie, 1 year old, who was sitting on the floor near the stove, but her burns were not serious.

HEALTH RESORT PATIENT ENDS LIFE IN LAKE

Robert Ladon, 35 years old, a Chicago bond salesman, patient at the North Shore Health Resort in Winnetka, committed suicide yesterday afternoon by plunging into the lake from the Maple avenue pier, Winnetka.

Ladon, who was admitted to the resort last week for treatment of a nervous disorder, broke away from his nurse, Miss Esther Larson, as they were walking in a park which skirts the lake. In plunging he broke through a crust of ice and his body did not rise.

The body was recovered. Ladon lived at 5200 Sheridan road.

COAL OPERATORS AND UNION TALK CONTRACT TODAY

Negotiations looking to a settlement of differences over wages and working conditions will begin today between the Chicago Coal Operators' association and the Coal Teamsters', Chauffeurs' and Helpers' union. A strike seemed imminent for a time last week until the merchants withdrew their demand for removal of George Barker, a police character, as business agent of the union.

The executive committee of the merchants' association, at a meeting yesterday in Hotel La Salle, delegated to the regular labor committee the authority to meet a union committee in joint session this morning.

DORR DESERTED BY MRS. O'BRIEN AS TRIAL OPENS

Four Jurors Selected in Murder Case.

CRIMINAL COURT.

James Brown, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Daniel P. Trude.

John McLaughlin, Thomas Moore, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 20 years each in the penitentiary; Robert Hall, burglary, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary, by Judge William N. Gemmill.

Harvard O'Gara, George Finnan, and Walter Szummak, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years each in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Phillip Finnegan.

Stanley Kacmarek, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge Harry B. Miller.

When Samuel Howard Dorr, former insurance salesman and "good fellow," who is charged with insuring the life of his best friend and killing him to collect the cash and have his wife unshared, went to trial for the murder of William O'Brien yesterday his waving black hair and his personality failed to hold O'Brien's wife faithful, but his "mouse of a wife" stuck by.

Her face drained of color, her posture one of hopelessness, Mrs. Rose-Dorr, the defendant's wife, sat across the aisle from the parents of the slain man, Mr. and Mrs. Donald O'Brien, in the courtroom of Judge Harry B. Miller and all listened tensely to the questioning of prospective jurymen.

Delay Motion Is Lost.

Dorr's usual sprightly manner was changed to one of dejection early in the day as his former sweetheart, Mrs. Genevieve O'Brien, appeared in the courtroom while Dorr's attorney, Barratt O'Hara, asked that the court cancel the order giving Mrs. O'Brien a separate trial. O'Hara also asked for a continuance when the first was denied, but the continuance, as well as a request that she be tried first, were denied.

Mrs. O'Brien, through her attorney, Samuel Hoffman, said yesterday that she would not testify against Dorr, but Hoffman indicated last night it was to save herself and not to save Dorr.

With the glamour of romance, however sordid, taken away from Dorr and Genevieve O'Brien by his effort to have her go to trial first and her refusal to stand by him and share his fate, the men and women who packed the courtroom obviously were disappointed. In the corridors outside comments were exchanged concerning the perfidy of women, if the group was one of men, and the faithlessness of men, if it were one of women.

No Mercy for Mrs. O'Brien.

"The state does not want Genevieve's testimony. We probably will not call her at all," Assistant State's Attorney Harry Ditchburne said. "If she testified she would expect leniency, and we don't want to give it. We are going to convict her. We are not going to let her off entirely just because she is a woman. And we will not wait until her baby is born to try her."

Four jurors were sworn in late in the afternoon, and, with the remainder of the veniremen who had not been excused were locked up for the night.

The jurors so far chosen are: Lawrence J. Merigold, 10048 Prospect avenue, railroad clerk; H. A. Henderson, 5723 South Wood street, American Car and Foundry company employé; Frank Triska, 5736 26th street, building manager, and L. W. Smith, 615 North Elmwood avenue, Oak Park, manufacturer.

Mrs. Dorr Collapses.

The crowd was given a thrill at the noon recess when, just as the prospective jurors were beginning to leave the courtroom, Mrs. Dorr rushed up and flung herself on her husband, kissing him and weeping. She was led from the room, and fainted as she started to enter an elevator, the crowd surging around her.

Deputy Sheriff Gabel, who permitted her to create the courtroom scene, was replaced by order of the court. Deputy Sheriff Hammersblock, who replaced him, had difficulty in keeping awake during Attorney O'Hara's careful questioning of prospective jurors, however, and the court ordered that he be awakened. Still he had trouble, however, as the questioning of prospective jurors' political affiliations, their sentiments concerning the defendant "in his hour of trial and tribulation" and their history continued. He was awakened again and this time replaced by Deputy Sheriff Schmitz.

Dorr regained his alertness as the afternoon wore on and others lost theirs. When court was adjourned he remarked to reporters, "How am I? I'm lovely, just lovely. Say, I'll be outa here in a week!"

So thoroughly was each man's past probed and his outlook on life and death laid to public view, that during the day only 27 men passed through the jury box, and of those, nine were excused because they had scruples against sentencing a man to death.

When asked if he had discussed the Dorr-O'Brien murder, W. B. Henderson, 9635 Winchester avenue, a salesman with Swift & Co., who came to Chicago from London, England, smiled and said apologetically:

"Well, there are so many murders here that I can't remember which is which. I suppose I discussed it as news of the day."

PROVIDES FUND AND INVITES FRIENDS TO OWN FUNERAL PARTY

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—George S. Wright, president of the Omaha and Council Bluffs Railway and Bridge company, revealed today the terms of a $1,000 funeral party he has arranged for himself. Wright said that some three weeks ago on his sixtieth birthday he took out a $1,000 life insurance policy to be paid up in ten years.

If he should die within ten years he wants twenty friends named in the policy to each invite another friend of the opposite sex and on the eve before his funeral he wants them to stage a real Irish wake. The thousand dollars is to be spent in one night and nothing but the best will be purchased.

In all there will be 40 guests at the wake—that is, if Wright should die within the next ten years.

However, if Mr. Wright lives out his ten years, he will celebrate the occasion on his seventieth birthday by giving the big party himself.

SPAIN'S KING PUTS O.K. TO DICTATOR'S PLANS OF REFORM

MADRID, Jan. 2.—(AP)—Premier Primo de Rivera today announced that King Alfonso had approved a "political plan" looking toward reorganization of the patriotic union and that later on another plan would be submitted for a national government presumably to replace the present dictatorship.

The Spanish dictator denied reports that he had resigned or that a political crisis was impending.

"The plan," said the premier, "will permit elections to be held in February, to determine the directories for each province. This will imply a modification in the old existing committees. Later on, perhaps in April, May or June, the municipal councils and provincial legislatures will be renewed, and a fourth part of the aldermen and provincial deputies will be designated by direct vote in the small towns and in the big cities, from among the members of political entities and economic organizations."

Olson Rescinds Order to Abolish Speeders' Court

On the plea of Commissioner of Police Russell, Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court yesterday reversed his order to disband the Speeders' court and assign all motor vehicle law violations to various branches of the court. At the same time Chief Justice Olson refused to remand an order dissolving the racket court.

Chief Justice Olson attended a meeting in the commissioner's office at which representatives of motor clubs and civic organizations protested against the intended action.

SHOW FIRM HEAD ESCAPES SERVICE IN DIVORCE CASE

An hour before deputy sheriffs came to serve a warrant forbidding him to leave the state pending settlement of a divorce action, Edward O. Talbott, 7547 Merrill avenue, head of a carnival supply house and former president of the Showmen's League of America, packed his trunks and departed for parts unknown.

His wife, Delia Allen Talbott, in a petition before Superior Judge Klarkowski, alleged he had beaten her 18 years ago in Dallas, Tex., when they were traveling with a carnival, and again eight years ago when, with a fortune made, they were living in the Southmoor hotel. The climax came, she averred, on last Dec. 18 when Talbott cursed and beat her after she reprimanded him for gambling.

Mrs. Talbott says her husband's income is $20,000 annually and she values his personal property at $100,000. They have six sons and daughters, all married except Phyllis, 19 years old, a student at a private school here.

Movie Operators Open Parley for New Contract

Representatives of the Chicago Motion Picture Operators' union yesterday opened negotiations with the officials of the Exhibitors' association for a renewal of the operators wage agreement which expires on Jan. 11. The conference was said to be of a preliminary nature and the main discussion centered on changes in working conditions. There will be another meeting on Tuesday when the officers of the Operators', union will present demands to be embodied in the new pact.

LAWYERS PLEAD STRIFE FEAR IN GARY MAYORALTY

Tell Supreme Court Town Faces Violence.

With the inauguration of a new mayor of Gary only four days away, the identity of the next incumbent of the mayor's office was still a moot question last night. The situation as painted for the Indiana Supreme court by attorneys for the three contenders for the office was one of "confusion," "chaos," "civil warfare," "possible violence and bloodshed."

The dire picture of armed forces clashing for control of the city hall when the mayoralty candidates assert their claims on Monday was revealed to the court in arguments on a petition for an injunction, sought by Henry G. Hay, the present mayor, to prevent R. O. Johnson, the mayor elect, and Emmett White, the defeated candidate, from attempting to take office on Monday. Hay contends that unless the court countenances his continuance in office, there will be no government in Gary after Monday, and gang rule will be supreme.

White Challenges Johnson.

Johnson, a Republican former mayor, was elected last November, defeating White, the Democratic nominee, but White challenged his qualifications for the office on the grounds that Johnson was automatically barred from office because he had served a sentence in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta for conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

Hay, a former city controller who took office when Mayor Floyd Williams resigned on Dec. 16, disputed White's claim as the runner up if Johnson were disqualified. Hay in seeking the injunction to prevent both White and Johnson from taking office, argues that the present mayor should continue in office until a successor is duly elected.

Albert Gavit, Hay's attorney, told the Supreme court that the supporters of both White and Johnson intend to take the office by force on Monday and that neither will be able to control the lawless element.

"There is a serious situation there," Gavit declared. "A clash of the White and Johnson forces is almost certain if they try to take the office by force. Unless relief is granted to Hay, confusion, chaos, civil war, and possibly violence may ensue on Monday."

Harvey Curtis of Gary, White's attorney, insisted throughout his arguments that "Mr. White is Gary's next mayor," but refused to elaborate the statements when the judges asked whether he intended to imply that he would countenance a movement of White's supporters to seize the office by force.

Says Foe Can't Rule Partisans.

Curtis' statement brought from Arthur Gilliom, former attorney general of Indiana, who represented Johnson at the hearing, the retort that his client would not relinquish his efforts to be seated.

"Johnson has been certified as the duly elected mayor," Gilliom said. "He will try to take office but he will not use force. He will not be responsible for any bloodshed in Gary."

"I know definitely that Johnson cannot control his partisans," White replied.

The court took Hay's petition under advisement.

DANCER WOOED ME, SAYS ARTIST ANSWERING SUIT

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—In a deposition from France in which he pictures his former 18 year old sweetheart, Dolores Salazar, Spanish dancer, as the wooer instead of himself, Ferdinand "Affinity" Earle, artist, today answered Miss Salazar's suit for $180,000.

The much married 51 year old artist admits that Miss Salazar accompanied him to Paris and stayed at hotels with him, but declared: "She fell into my lap like a ripe peach," and "There is such a thing as spontaneous agreement without proposal."

Since his affair with Miss Salazar, which occurred while Earle was still the legal mate of Mrs. Christine Herman Earle, who divorced him here, Earle has married Denis Loncin, a young Frenchwoman, and made his home in Paris. The couple have a child in France. Earle declined to come to Hollywood, where he still has property, to fight Miss Salazar's case.

FILIPINO CHIEFS HERE ON WAY TO CAPITAL MEETING

Seven members of a delegation headed by Manuel Roxas, speaker of the house of representatives of the Philippines, passed through Chicago yesterday on their way to Washington. There they expect to make a plea before congress for the freedom of the islands. On Jan. 15 they are to appear before the senate committee on territories and insular possessions, which is to investigate conditions in the islands. Mr. Roxas expressed his confidence that the visit will settle the question of Philippine independence. The delegation was met here by Camillo Osias, resident commissioner for the Philippines.

2 MOVIE PLANES COLLIDE AT SEA; TEN MEN PERISH

Hawks' widow is Mary Astor, movie star who was known in Chicago during her girlhood as Lucille Langhanke. Miss Astor was playing a rôle while her husband flew out over the sea and was not located for some hours. She collapsed when informed of his death.

Hawks' brother, Howard Hawks, a moving picture executive, missed going as a passenger on his brother's ill fated plane when the brother was reached by a message from his wife, Norma Shearer's sister, at the last moment. Howard Hawks took charge of the efforts to locate his brother's body. A third brother, William Hawks, who just married Bessie Love last week, with Kenneth Hawks as best man, was absent on a honeymoon.

Kenneth Hawks, 29 years old, was born at Goshen, Ind., and attended Yale university, where he was Charles "Chuck" Garland's partner in the champion intercollegiate tennis doubles team of 1919. Hawks interrupted his college career to enlist during the war and served one year in the air service. He married Mary Astor in a Hollywood society wedding one year and a half ago.

Experienced Stunt Flyers.

Rouse and Cook, the dead aviators, had flown in previous airplane movie pictures and were known as reliable stunt pilots. The shots which they intended to make today were supposed to show a stunt man, doubling for Warner Baxter, dropping from the third airplane, that of Aviator Turner, while the camera men and technicians in Hawks' two planes reeled film of their hazardous stunt.

The motion picture "Such Men Are Dangerous," in whose making the ten lost their lives, had for its central episode an incident similar to that of the mystery of the death of Capt. Alfred Loewenstein, Belgian multimillionaire, who fell or leaped out of a plane over the English channel.

FLYER TELLS STORY

Santa Monica, Cal., Jan. 2.—(AP)—Bert White, a passenger in Capt. Roscoe Turner's airplane today while the latter was engaged in the making of a motion picture scene during which two camera planes crashed and fell into the Pacific ocean killing ten persons, described the disaster as follows:

"I was assigned to watch the camera planes and tell Jacob Triebwasser, whose parachute jump the camera planes were to film, when to jump out. We were making the last two scenes of a film, in which the hero, for whom Triebwasser was doubling, was to fly out to sea and jump overboard. The cameras were grinding when the accident occurred.

"I looked at my watch, just 3:33 p. m., five minutes before Triebwasser was to jump and then glanced up at the camera ships, one of which was supposed to be flying 200 feet above us, the other, 500. We were flying at 3,500 feet elevation.

"I saw the planes, one of which was settling, come together. Their wing tips touched, and then the wings telescoped and the bodies collided.

"There was an explosion, a flash, and two bodies were hurled out. The flaming ships began to fall like plummets into the sea. I cried out 'they have crashed' and Roscoe wheeled our plane around.

"No one could have lived in those planes until they struck the water for they were enveloped in fire. The planes fell apart as they struck the surface of the ocean, and sank from sight."

PILOT UNCONSCIOUS IN 2 MILE TAILSPIN, BUT SAVES HIS PLANE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—(AP)—A routine report reaching army air corps headquarters today told how an army pilot had fallen unconscious more than two miles in a tail spin and recovered to save his plane and tell the tale.

Lieut. D. D. Graves of the 95th pursuit squadron at Rockwell field, California, lost consciousness at an altitude of 25,000 feet in an airplane he was testing. A fitting on his oxygen tank failed.

The plane lurched into a spin and he did not begin to recover until passing the 15,000 foot altitude. So fast was his drop that he had fallen 2,000 feet more before regaining his faculties sufficiently to bring the plane into control. He landed without damage to the ship.

TWO DEAD IN SHIP FIRE

San Pedro, Cal., Jan. 2.—(AP)—A gasoline fire which flashed over the surface of the sea and up the side of the U. S. S. Saratoga, $45,000,000 naval aircraft carrier, today killed two men and burned four, three seriously. The bodies of the two victims were not recovered.

Commander A. C. Reid, senior officer of the Saratoga, said the fire was caused by a turpentine pot in a punt alongside the Saratoga catching fire from an unknown cause, and firing the surface of the water which was covered with residue from a gasoline compressor pump which was being cleaned aboard the aircraft carrier.

The captain's $25,000 gig, moored alongside the big ship, was burned. Commander Reid said repairs to the Saratoga can be made without difficulty while she remains at her anchorage.

The dead:

MATHEW LA VIELLE, 22, seaman, second class, Schnectady, N. Y.

VINCENT VALENTINE LALOR, 29, engineer, second class, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The injured:

A. L. HOUSTON, seaman, second class, seriously burned.

H. KENTFIELD, seaman first class, seriously burned.

G. W. SEBREY, seaman, second class, seriously burned.

B. J. MORTON, seaman, second class, minor burns.

Only 20 planes were aboard, Commander Reid said. Fifteen hundred of the Saratoga's complement of 1,700 men were on board.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, Jan. 2.—The Norwegian steamer Zeta, from Bergen, arrived at Rotterdam carrying thirteen Norwegian students who had been poisoned by drinking smuggled methyl alcohol. Six of the students were sent to the hospital and three died. They were en route to the United States.

SCHIRESON LOSES COURT FIGHT ON LICENSE HEARING

Refused Writ to Halt Trial by State.

Superior Judge William J. Lindsay yesterday denied the petition of Dr. Henry J. Schireson, who sought to have the court halt proceedings to revoke his medical license now pending before the medical committee of the state department of education and registration.

As a result of Judge Lindsay's ruling, the hearing before the medical committee will be resumed this morning. Dr. Schireson has been charged by First Assistant Attorney General Harry A. Ash with fraud and with malpractice in the case of Miss Sadye Holland, both of whose legs were amputated following an operation for bowlegs.

How Judge Ruled.

Judge Lindsay, in his ruling, said there was a public interest in the proceedings which should be taken under consideration in deciding the question of whether Schireson should be allowed to continue his practice.

"According to your own bill," the judge told Burrill J. Cramer and Benedict J. Short, counsel for the accused physician, "Dr. Schireson has been practicing in eleven states, and has been in difficulties in many of them. It should also be remembered that he holds his license to practice here only by courtesy to another state, Vermont.

"As to the charges of conspiracy in your bill, if I were to uphold them, you would require me to say that the attorney general of the state of Illinois; his assistant, Mr. Ash; the governor, who appoints the medical committee; the physicians on the committee, and the American Medical association—all have been corruptly influenced by the editor of a medical journal, Dr. Morris Fishbein, to proceed against a single individual, Dr. Schireson.

"According to your bill the physicians on the committee are associated with the greatest medical institutions in the state and nation and still you charge they are under the complete domination of this medical editor, and are railroading Dr. Schireson because of some dispute between Schireson and Dr. Fishbein.

"If you can sustain the charges in your bill, as you say you can, it is your duty as a public matter to go forward with your whole case before the medical committee.

"The public is entitled to know if the departments of the state of Illinois, and the medical profession, are as rotten as your bill states.

Injunction Is Denied.

"The courts will be open to you if the medical committee revokes Dr. Schireson's license, and the proper legal method is to take the finding of the medical committee into the courts for review. The petition for a temporary injunction to restrain the state board from performing the functions given it by the legislature is improper, and it is denied."

Attorney Ash asserted that the move of Schireson for an injunction was made for the sole purpose of gaining months of delay during which the physician might continue his practice. He stated that it was important that Dr. Schireson's license should be revoked as early as possible, to prevent further malpractice.

Judge Refuses Divorce to Wife of 49 Years

Superior Judge Sabath yesterday refused a divorce to Mrs. Teresa Caporale, 632 South Miller street, who has been wed to Cuona Caporale for 49 years. She charged cruelty. In refusing to grant a decree and ordering a continuance the judge declared that he has made it a rule not to give a divorce to a couple who have lived together for 49 years until they round out a half century.

HUNT FORMER POLICEMAN FOR TWO ROBBERIES

Joseph Hennessy, 32 years old, once a member of the "clean up" squad of the Grand Crossing police station, last night was being sought for two robberies after his photograph had been identified as that of the leader of a band which held up a south side grocery and the north side saloon where Policeman Michael Langan was killed on Monday night. Hennessy is already under indictment for robbery as a result of his activities in extorting money from saloonkeepers in the Grand Crossing district while he was a policeman.

Hennessy's photograph was identified yesterday by Stanley Rackowsky, owner of a grocery at 8054 Branden avenue, as one of the four men who entered his place on Dec. 23 and escaped with $4,000. As the bandits turned to go, Rackowsky said, the handkerchief slipped from the leader's face and the grocer got a good look at him. Yesterday from a batch of photographs of known criminals, Rackowsky picked out that of Hennessy.

Roy Schwartz, the owner of the saloon where Langan was killed when robbers attempted to hold up the place, had previously identified Hennessy's picture as one of the men who had robbed him several weeks ago of $1,200.

Wales Sails for Africa Today on Big Game Hunt

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 2.—The prince of Wales leaves London tomorrow afternoon to resume his big game hunting in Africa which was interrupted a year ago by the illness of King George. He will remain in Africa until the end of April. The prince is traveling on the liner Kenilworth Castle as an ordinary first class passenger. In Africa the prince will travel chiefly by airplane.

Bandits Leave Victim on Street in "Undies"

Two prankish bandits stripped O. T. Willard, 19 years old, 5343 Blackstone avenue, of his overcoat, trousers, shoes, and hat at 54th place and Blackstone avenue early this morning and left him to streak home in his nether garments while they drove away chuckling with the clothing and the $9 in his pockets. Several neighbors observed Willard's plight and telephoned to the Hyde Park police.

Panama Canal Sets New Mark in Toll Collections

BALBOA, Jan. 2.—With toll collections of $27,592,150 for the year 1929, the Panama canal exceeds by $1,218,000 the total collections from tolls in 1928.

1929'S WEATHER WASN'T SO BAD, STATISTICS SHOW

Chicagoans who spent most of the last year complaining about the weather discovered yesterday that they had very little to complain about, after all, when H. J. Cox, head of the weather bureau, issued the annual meteorological summary showing that the weather of 1929 was only usual. The mean temperature for the year was 48.5 degrees, only six-tenths of a degree below normal.

Only March, April and May, however, showed a mean temperature above normal, while January, with an average of 17.6 degrees, was 6.1 degrees below the average for the month. The highest temperature of the year was 93 degrees, on Aug. 22, which was 10 degrees below the record of 103 established in 1901, and the lowest was 9 degrees below zero, 14 degrees warmer than the low record of 1872. The year's mean was five degrees cooler than the warmest on record.

The total precipitation of 36.81 inches in 1929 was 3.95 inches greater than the normal, but far below the highest record of 45.86 inches established in 1883. The total snowfall was 47.5 inches, 14.5 inches greater than normal. The record was 64.1 inches in 1918. June, July, August and September were the only months in 1929 without snow.

SECOND PARLEY ON WAR DEBTS TO OPEN TODAY

French, Belgians First to Reach Hague.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

THE HAGUE, Jan. 2.—The delegations of the powers concerned are gathering here for the opening tomorrow of the second session of The Hague conference to put the Young plan into effect.

A special train from Paris with the French contingent of 56, headed by Premier Tardieu, arrived at 6 o'clock tonight, soon after the Belgians. Many minor delegations already are here. The British and Germans will arrive tomorrow morning. The opening session will start at 5 o'clock in the evening.

Germans to Present Demands.

The diplomats interested in the London naval conference hope to finish the work here in ten days, but it is admitted by some that German demands may prolong the session. The most important German demand is that the creditor nations in adjusting the Young plan pledge themselves to regard the sanctions permitted under the treaty of Versailles as no longer a part of their reparation policy.

In plain words, this is a request that France promise never to use those sanctions should Germany not carry out the Young plan. Naturally, the Tardieu government will not accept that. However, the French delegation has brought to The Hague a compromise plan which seems to indicate a real desire to give the Germans a measure of satisfaction. This plan, which is largely the work of Foreign Minister Briand, may be expressed briefly as follows:

The Compromise Plan.

Both France and Germany, as well as the other interested nations, declare they will be faithful to the Young plan. In case either France or Germany is accused by the other of violating the Young plan, there will be an arbitration situation solvable, either by the arbitration board provided in the Young plan or by the world court. If the arbiters found France in the wrong she would abide by the findings. Should Germany be found at fault in the event of nonpayment then France would regain her liberty and take the sanctions under the treaty of Versailles.

It is understood the British will give the French formula their backing and subscribe to it. Naturally, this will not satisfy the German reich, but it marks a considerable concession from the former French view and it is expected the Germans will, in the end, accept it.

It is also expected the Belgians will try again to get the International bank for Brussels. But it is generally expected that the decision of the banking experts at Baden Baden or Basle, Switzerland, will stand.

CHIEF OF STAFF

GEN. MAXIME WEYGAND.

[Copyright: International News Photo.]
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 2.—Gen. Maxime Weygand, chief lieutenant of the late Marshal Ferdinand Foch, today was appointed by the council of ministers chief of the general staff of the French army to succeed Gen. Debeney. Minister of War Andre Maginot proposed Gen. Weygand for promotion, and President Doumergue has signed the order without comment.

Marshal Henri Petain continues as vice president of the superior war council and inspector general of the army. Gen. Debeney retains his position on the superior war council. Gen. Gemelin, commanding the 20th military region, replaces Gen. Giraud as under secretary of the general staff. Under this lineup, Gen. Weygand automatically supercedes Gen. Petain when the marshal retires, and Gen. Gymeline will then move up into Gen. Weygand's post.

The nomination of these two officers marks a transition in the French military hierarchy through placing younger men in the most important posts, which have heretofore been reserved for venerable veterans through seniority in service.

Guard Ditchburne's Home After Mystery Phone Call

Police guarded the home of Assistant State's Attorney Harry Ditchburne, 6400 Normal avenue, for several hours yesterday after a mysterious telephone call to the detective bureau aroused fears that some harm might befall him. Some one posing as a police lieutenant called the bureau and asked for Ditchburne's telephone number. The assistant prosecutor said he believed it was some one using the subterfuge to call him during the early hours of the morning and asked that the guard be withdrawn.

TRAYLOR LEAVES FOR LAUNCHING OF WORLD BANK

Launching of the $100,000,000 Bank for International Settlements is scheduled for next month, according to Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank and American member of the organization committee. Mr. Traylor left Chicago yesterday for Europe and will sail from New York early next week. He will be joined by Jackson E. Reynolds, president of the First National Bank of New York, the other American member.

The remaining work of the international organization committee consists in electing directors and arranging for the subscription of the bank's capital. One director for each of the seven nations participating in the bank is to be named. The capital stock also will be apportioned among the countries but only a quarter of it is to be paid in at present. The central banks of other countries will take their share while the American share will be taken by a private banking group, as the United States is not officially a party to the bank.

The committee will begin its final meeting on Jan. 12. Prior to these sessions the bankers will meet at The Hague, where final conferences on the Young plan will be held. Both the Young plan and the international bank are designed to govern future payments of German reparations.

Billie Dove and Willat Parted; Divorce Likely

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Billie Dove, movie star, today confirmed reports that her geographical separation from her movie director husband, Irvin Willat, is in reality an agreed domestic separation. Miss Dove said that she "presumed that a divorce will follow." The couple are among the richest of Hollywood movie colony folk, and their separation arrangements are moving jointly with a financial auditing, according to Miss Dove's friends.

Charge New Year Party Killer with Manslaughter

Albert Lambert, 1743 North Hancock street, who shot and killed William Havennan, 3452 Pierce avenue, in the home of Margaret Dwyer at 455 North Hermitage avenue, during a New Year party, was held to the grand jury yesterday on a charge of manslaughter by a coroner's jury. Lambert surrendered to the police several hours after the shooting.

HOLDERS OF FOX FILM 'A' SHARES URGE RECEIVER

Stock Market Depressed by Announcement.

New York, Jan. 2.—(AP)—Stanley M. Lazarus, counsel for the class A stockholders of the Fox Film corporation, announced today that unless the creditors immediately apply for a receivership, the holders of the A shares contemplate such action "for their protection."

The immediate effect of the statement was a drop of $7 a share in Fox Film class A stock on the New York Stock exchange, carrying the stock to $17, a new low record, and depressing the market generally in sympathy. The peak price last year was $105.62.

Fox Controls B Stock.

The corporation's class B stock is controlled by William Fox, who a month ago offered to relinquish control of both the Fox Film corporation and Fox Theaters corporation. H. L. Stuart of Halsey Stuart & Co. and John E. Otterson, president of Electric Research Products, Inc., a susidiary of the American Telephone & Telegraph company, then agreed to act as trustees with Mr. Fox.

"Class A stockholders of the Fox Film corporation announce that the situation in the Fox Film corporation and Fox Theaters corporation does not look encouraging," said the statement by Mr. Lazarus, "and indications are that a receivership must be resorted to at once in order to protect all interests. The reported disagreement among the trustees and class B Fox stock, the unwillingness of the company officials and trustees to cooperate with the class A stockholders committee and the status of the creditors whose claims are reported due with no present arrangement for satisfying them, makes such steps seem inevitable."

Trustees for Banks Silent.

None of the trustees for the banks, which are understood to hold approximately ninety millions in short term obligations of the Fox companies, would comment on the statement.

"The government suit to force the company to divest itself of Loew's, Inc., holdings, if successful, will result in the disposal of this valuable property at a severe loss on account of the marked depreciations in the price of the stock," said the attorney. "The removal of this most valuable asset and the resultant loss of revenue to the company will seriously impair earnings, in the opinion of the committee.

"It is essential that the liabilities of the Fox Film group and Fox Theaters be segregated and made public at once and the entire status of both corporations be brought out to the open so that the assets of each corporation may be properly located and maintained in the same position occupied by them prior to the appointment of the trustees. Appropriate action by the committee to this end is contemplated."

Mr. Fox tonight issued a statement predicting the year 1930 "will be the greatest in every respect in the history of the company."

"The assets of the Fox Film corporation over and above all liabilities are in excess of $73,000,000 and the earnings for this corporation during the year 1929 are over $13,000,000, with a special nonrecurring profit of $6,000,000, or a total for the year of over $19,000,000," he said.

"The estimated profits for 1930, based on flures presented by operating members of the organization are in excess of $17,000,000.

"Officials of the company are in process of negotiations which when completed they believe will enable them to fund all the corporation's short term obligations."

LYNCHING DECLINE IN SOUTH HAILED BY INTER-RACIAL BODY

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 2.—(AP)—The commission on inter-racial coöperation, in a statement today, cited "a decrease during the last 10 years of 88 per cent in the annual lynching record," as "notable evidence of improving inter-racial conditions in the south."

"The steady decline in the number of lynchings from 83 in 1919 to 11 in 1928, and 10 in the year just ended is undoubtedly due," the statement said, "to a rapid growth of public sentiment in behalf of justice and law."

'ARF PINT VISITS GULF CITIES ON WAY TO MIAMI

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—The air cruiser 'Arf Pint tied up in the muddy waters of Mobile bay tonight, after a hop down the Mississippi to New Orleans and along the cloud strewn gulf coast to Mobile. If the fog bank that moved in from the gulf late this afternoon blows away by tomorrow, THE TRIBUNE's air pathfinder will sail out early for Miami.

Hopping off at Baton Rouge, La., this morning, it took a beeline course to New Orleans, cutting curves in the Mississippi along which packet steamers meandered. The stern wheelers will arrive in the Crescent city tomorrow noon. In 40 minutes the 'Arf Pint sped across the checkerboard of sugar, rice, and cotton plantations to the city.

There is water, water everywhere at the tail end of the southern rainy season. Yesterday hunters were shooting ducks from the raised runways of the New Orleans airport, but much of the water had disappeared today.

Here again THE TRIBUNE's air exploring plane found an airport larger than the Chicago Municipal field. After a stop for lunch the 'Arf Pint went aloft again and flew past Gulfport and Biloxi to Mobile.

COUNTY MURDER RATIO DECLINES TO 9.58 FOR 1929

The murder rate for Cook county dropped from 10.28 per 100,000 of population in 1928 to 9.58 in 1929. With this announcement yesterday by Coroner Herman N. Bundesen, police officials united in protests against reduction in law enforcement personnel, declaring that the decrease is too slight to warrant departmental curtailment.

The statistics on the murder rate as compiled by Coroner Bundesen follow:

Year	Murders	Rate	Year	Murders	Rate
1914	228	8.18	1922	266	8.42
1915	178	6.87	1923	268	8.30
1916	246	9.22	1924	315	9.56
1917	239	8.74	1925	355	10.45
1918	207	7.33	1926	336	9.61
1919	279	9.62	1927	341	9.56
1920	319	6.94	1928	372	10.28
1921	229	7.41	1929	334	9.58

The figures do not include justified homicides or cases in which coroner's juries have returned verdicts of manslaughter. The population statistics are based upon the estimates of the Chicago Association of Commerce, with the addition of estimates on the county population. The figures for 1920, 1927, and 1928 are particularly exact, the coroner explained.

Rate Higher Since Prohibition.

The rate has been consistently higher since prohibition than in the years before, Coroner Bundesen said. Only twice prior to 1920 did the rate go above 9 for every 100,000 of population, and in one of the years the toll was brought up in the race riot of 1919. Since prohibition the rate has averaged better than that figure, with the peak being reached in 1925 at 10.45.

"The drop for 1929 should be a source of pride to all Chicagoans," Commissioner Russell said. "Despite the almost unbelievable slaughter of seven men last St. Valentine's day the decrease for the city was above that of the county as a whole. Murders in Chicago dropped 19.5 per cent, while the drop for the county was less than 10 per cent.

Oppose Police Cut.

"While we can express satisfaction, we must realize that we can hold this standard and secure further reductions only through more efficient law enforcement expressed in the police department and the courts. It should be a striking argument for an increase in the men of the department and certainly should put aside any proposals for a reduction."

Chief William F. Collins of the county highway police supported this stand. His department has already been reduced by eight men at the orders of Sheriff Traeger, who stated a month ago that a further cut would be made after the first of the year.

66 PLACES CLOSED FOR YEAR BY U. S. COURT DRY WRITS

Permanent injunctions closing sixty-six places for a year for violation of the dry laws were issued in Federal Judge Carpenter's court yesterday. The closing orders are the result of petitions filed by Assistant United States Attorney La Verne Norris during December, and represent the largest number for one month of 1929.

Among the places named was the Villa Maurice, 14 South Halsted street, a saloon owned by West Side Frankie Pope. Three rooms in the Park Manor hotel, 2150-54 North Clark street, were also ordered closed.

The total list includes thirty-four saloons, seven restaurants, five drug stores, one brewery, three distilleries, one roadhouse, one delicatessen, two cigar stores, five residences, one harbor shop, one poolroom, three hotel rooms and four miscellaneous places.

The Bond Half-Yearly Sale

We stick to the old-fashioned idea that, above all else, these half-yearly events should win increased favor with our old customers; and add many new friends to our rapidly lengthening lists—and that high pressure ballyhoo is a mighty poor method of holding their confidence ▼ We believe that faultlessly fashioned style is just as important during a sale as during a season. We cannot bring ourselves to think that a man is willing to accept less fabric quality in January than he demands in October ▼ And so, we refuse to harbor "special purchases" of inferior goods, and odds-and-ends, for the sake of "dressing up" our price reductions ▼ We know that critical men appreciate this policy of ours. They've told us so, by giving us their business ▼ At the same time, we don't pretend to overlook the very timely importance of lowered prices—for in this established Half-Yearly Sale we are presenting abundant selections of our London-Designed

SPEED TO VESSEL BATTERED BY 75 MILE GALE

Two Coast Guard Cutters Ignore Warnings.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 2.—(AP)—Disregarding storm warnings broadcast by the weather bureau, two coast guard cutters late today were racing to the rescue of the disabled freighter California, of Portland, which was being battered by a 75 mile gale far out on the Pacific.

The cutters Snohomish and Haida were expected to reach the crippled vessel some time tomorrow. Latest reports from the California gave her position as about 330 miles almost due west of Cape Flattery.

Drifting Toward East.

Forty-five men were aboard the ship, which lost her steering gear in the terrific storm. The coast guard here received a message today from Capt. Gregor Johnson, master of the California, which said the ship was "drifting 90 degrees true, three miles an hour." This would mean the vessel was drifting east.

The States Steamship company of Portland, owner of the ship, reported receiving a message that the captain had rigged up a temporary rudder and was steaming toward Cape Flattery.

Take to Lifeboats in Storm.

LIMA, Peru, Jan. 2.—(AP)—The Chilean steamer Mapocho was pounded into a total wreck tonight after going aground early today near Samanco, about 200 miles north of Callao. All passengers were landed safely by the ship's boats. Agents of the Compania Sud Americana de Vapores, owners of the vessel, said a rough sea pounded the ship on the rocks and stove in her hull below the water line. The Peruvian cruiser Bolognesi left here at dusk to offer any assistance possible to the crew.

AMERICA AND BRITAIN SIGN PACT COVERING ISLANDS IN PACIFIC

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—(AP)—Disposing of the last question of sovereignty in the Pacific, Secretary Stimson and Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador, signed a convention today establishing definitely the line between the Philippine archipelago and British North Borneo. Under the convention and accompanying exchange of notes between the United States and Great Britain, the American title to the Turtle and Mangsee islands was recognized. At the same time it was agreed that these small land units should continue under administration of the British North Borneo company.

The Turtle islands lie off the east coast of North Borneo—six on the American side of the boundary and one in British waters. They have a total population of about 220, and turtle eggs and copra provide their principal industries.

The convention signed today also included that part of the Washington army treaty which prevents the islands' fortification.

DONNELLEY HEIRS PAY TWO MILLION IN ESTATE TAXES

The $13,387,131 estate of the late Reuben H. Donnelley, Chicago publisher, was closed yesterday before County Judge Perry L. Persons of Lake county. The estate will pay $2,006,856 in inheritance taxes to the state and federal governments. This is the largest tax in the history of Lake county and the second largest in the state, exceeded only by the $2,024,949 tax paid by the estate of James A. Patten, wheat king.

The state will receive $1,476,248 and the federal government $530,608. The largest item in the estate consisted of stock in Montgomery, Ward & Co., valued at $9,856,000. Equity in R. H. Donnelley & Sons was set at $1,044,000 and in the Reuben H. Donnelley corporation at $4,975,000.

Mr. Donnelley died Feb. 25, 1929. His will listed more than 100 legatees. The bulk of the estate was left to a daughter and a son.

Baby Is Second to Die from New Year Bomb Injuries

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—(AP)—A second death resulted tonight from the New Year's day bombing outrage at the home of John S. Hall in Seat Pleasant, Md. His 19 months old son, Samuel Hall, died in a Washington hospital from injuries suffered in the explosion. The child's sister, Mrs. Naomi Hall Brady, was killed by the bomb, which had been sent to her wrapped as a Christmas present. Six others were injured.

BORAH 'HERESY' MAKES BROTHER DRYS BOIL OVER

Fess Calls on Idahoan to Draft Better Law.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Resentment among the dry leaders against Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho] because of his charge that the country is full of "practically open saloons" boiled over again today in two places.

Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.], Republican whip in the senate and a bone dry, proposed that Borah be made chairman of the joint congressional committee which is to consider new prohibition legislation. At the same time Attorney General Mitchell declared that he has received no evidence of any kind that the present U. S. attorneys are not doing their duty despite Borah's assertion that at least 17 of them are inefficient.

Renews His Demands.

Meanwhile the untractable Idahoan, who figuratively has been in session by himself during the holiday recess of congress, continued the open discussion of his views, renewing his demand for a change in the industrial alcohol system and announcing his opinion on the Sheppard bill to punish liquor buyers. The Sheppard measure, he said, is unnecessary as the present law is broad enough to cover the purchaser, but added that he had no objections to its passage.

Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, former assistant attorney general, was reported today to have been one who gave Senator Borah his prohibition ammunition, including the information he is said to have transmitted to the President in a letter a few days ago.

Kept Her Files Intact.

Mrs. Willebrandt, it is pointed out, had sole charge of alcohol diversions when she was in the department of justice.

"Mr. Borah, as one of the outstanding dry leaders, I should think, would be the proper man to head the joint committee to handle readjustment of the prohibition machinery," Senator Fess said.

Although the Ohio leader did not elaborate upon this statement, it was interpreted as a direct challenge to Borah to deliver or take a side line seat. The senate resolution providing for the committee asked for by President Hoover to handle legislation recommended by his law enforcement commission is expected to pass the house within the next week or so. As chairman, Borah would have a big share of the responsibility in revamping the dry enforcement machinery.

Mitchell Has His Say.

In this connection it was recalled that Borah shortly before the President's inauguration was offered the cabinet post of attorney general, but declined to take it. It is believed that he would likewise be adamant about accepting the Fess proposal.

Attorney General Mitchell denied that he has received from Borah any information backing up his sweeping criticism of United States attorneys. He added, however, that 15 vacancies among United States attorneys are yet to be filled. Attorneys in twelve districts have been replaced since Mr. Mitchell took office, and of these one has resigned from office.

Some of the appointments to fill the present vacancies, the attorney general said, are to be sent to the senate soon after it reconvenes.

The holiday battle over prohibition enforcement went merrily on today in other quarters, but most of the fighting was on the part of the drys, as it has been for several days.

Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran made a statement deploring the marked increase in corn sugar distilleries for making home brew and alcohol; F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, launched an assault upon Henry B. Joy, Detroit automobile manufacturer; and tonight Senator Wesley Jones [Rep., Wash.] made a bone dry radio address emphasizing his plea for support of the President's enforcement program.

Commissioner Doran based his fear that corn sugar liquor manufacture is on the increase upon a report he has received from the department of commerce. This report, he said, showed that the production of corn sugar increased from 150 to 968 millions of pounds between 1921 and 1928. This problem, he said, is much more serious than the industrial alcohol permit system.

McBride Is Indignant.

Mr. McBride, as indicated by his statement, is hotly indignant over the recent action of Mr. Joy in resigning from the Detroit Republican club because of prohibition hypocrisy in "high official places." Mr. Joy wrote a letter to the president of the club declaring that he could not "conscientiously support" any political organization which does not come out in open opposition to "the evil conditions" brought about by enforcement.

"When Mr. Joy refers to what he calls the free shootings and killings by government officers, one wonders whether he believes that the sworn defenders of the law of the nation have no obligations to protect the nation against one of the most criminal and murderous groups of which we have knowledge," said Mr. McBride.

"One wonders also whether Mr. Joy believes that there is a permanent open season on government officers so that they may be shot, wounded, or killed by the liquor criminals without the self-defense which is one of the first laws of nature. One might also wonder why Mr. Joy seems disturbed only when a sworn officer of the law kills a liquor gangster but seems quite indifferent when liquor gangsters kill each other."

In his radio address tonight, Senator Jones, who was author of the Jones five-and-ten law, highly commended the dissemination of dry propaganda in the public schools.

"I saw a short while ago that a bill had passed the senate of one of our states, requiring that the evils of alcohol should be taught in the public schools," he declared. "That is a wise step.

"The greatest aid to prohibition and its enforcement is to instruct our young people in the evils of the liquor traffic. A new generation that never saw a saloon; that never saw or experienced the horrors of intemperance and that has little knowledge of this nefarious traffic; that knows nothing of its evil influences; that is not aware of what it leads to physically or morally, is just coming to maturity.

Admits Some Senators Drink.

"If our temperance organizations will direct their efforts along the lines they followed that led to the adoption of prohibition, enforcement will become less and less difficult as the years go by."

Senator Jones admitted that there are some senators and some representatives who drink, but that they are growing fewer. Their failure to obey the laws, he said, does not excuse the ordinary citizen for doing so.

Explaining that he did not know "what the attitude of our President was before prohibition became the law of the land," Senator Jones declared that Mr. Hoover now is on the right track in holding that citizens cannot select the laws which they will obey.

"He practices what he preaches," Jones asserted. "He cannot work out, over night, the task that confronts him. We must have patience and, instead of hampering, help. His personal example should be followed by every good citizen in his home, at social gatherings, and in his business affairs."

$2,000,000 IS ASKED IN MASSACHUSETTS FOR DRY LAW WORK

Boston, Mass., Jan. 2.—(AP)—State Representative Roland D. Sawyer of Ware, Democrat and a Congregationalist minister, today filed with the clerk of the house two drastic prohibition bills. The first provided an appropriation of $2,000,000 to enforce the state prohibition law, while the second would make transportation of a quart or more of liquor "prima facie evidence of intent to sell."

Sawyer, in filing his bills, said that the big appropriation measure would be in the nature of an amendment to the state enforcement law.

The "one quart" bill was designed, he said, to protect any person who might have in his possession a legally prescribed pint of liquor issued on a physician's permit but to put those who possessed a quart or more in the class of bootleggers.

HOLIDAY BOOZE TOLL IN GOTHAM IS EIGHT DEAD

New York, Jan. 2.—[Special.]—From Christmas eve until tonight 228 men and women suffering from alcoholism or the effects of bad liquor were admitted to Bellevue hospital, and eight of them are dead. The total included 200 men and 28 women.

Two of the men died this morning from the effects of fractured skulls and alcoholism. An autopsy on another body, that of Frank Pedre, who died yesterday, showed that death was the result of acute and chronic alcoholism. Both of the men who died today were unidentified.

BOSTON CROWD RAIDS COAST GUARD STATION

have been as justifiable to shoot down guests in Boston hotels New Year's eve as the shooting of the Newport rum runners. He referred to the shooting as "murder in cold blood."

William H. Mitchell, chairman of the meeting, said 1,100 men, women and children had been killed in the enforcement of prohibition. "When murder stalks abroad in the guise of law, in God's name repeal that law," he pleaded. "Official murder is still murder."

Hold Inquest on Victims.

Newport, R. I., Jan. 2.—(AP)—Seven witnesses were heard today at the state's inquest into the deaths of three rum runners on the motor boat Black Duck off here Sunday. Federal officers were barred from the hearing by Attorney General Oscar L. Heltzen, who said he did not consider they had a right to be present to get information that could be used for a defense if an indictment should be brought against the crew of the coast guard boat No. 290 who did the shooting.

The inquest, conducted by Heltzen and Coroner Perry B. Dawley, was continued until next week, when, Heltzen said, he hoped to have the difficulties that have arisen between the state and federal authorities sufficiently ironed out to get the testimony of the coast guard crew.

Heltzen said he intended to confer with Henry M. Boss, United States district attorney, at Providence tomorrow, and if unable to get the information he sought he would telegraph to the treasury department at Washington, as the treasury department was in charge of the coast guard investigation from the federal angle.

The inquest was private, and nothing of the testimony was made known.

Charge Guards Peddled Whisky.

New London, Conn., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Evidence that coast guards peddled rye whisky here was produced today.

Testifying at the trial of Mrs. Ruth Cummings, in whose boarding house guardsmen staged a riotous Christmas drinking bout, sailors today said they bought whisky from coast guardsmen.

Erwin Craff, a submarine base sailor who appeared heavily swathed in bandages, said he bought the liquor from coast guards who had joined the party at Mrs. Cummings' home. Others admitted that heavy drinking preceded the free for all fight that resulted in a police raid on the house.

DIES SUDDENLY IN STORE.

Mrs. Carlotta Jenney, 55 years old, owner of a lingerie shop at 108 South Oak Park avenue, Oak Park, collapsed and died, supposedly of heart disease, yesterday as she was talking in her shop with Mrs. Jane Losey, owner of the building.

LAKE COUNTY, ILL., AUTO FATALITIES INCREASED IN '29

Automobile fatalities in Lake county, Illinois, increased 57.5 per cent in 1929 over 1928, while those of Lake county, Indiana, decreased 15 per cent, figures compiled yesterday showed. In Lake county, Illinois, there were 52 deaths, as compared to 33 in 1928. Forty-seven persons were killed in collisions and other automobile accidents, while five were killed at railroad grade crossings. In 1928 there were 12 killed at grade crossings.

The Lake county, Indiana, statistics showed a reduction of 18 in the toll for the year, 99 having been killed in 1929 and 117 in 1928. Of the 99 fatalities, 27 resulted from grade crossing accidents. In 1928 there were 43 fatal grade crossing accidents. The county's homicide rate also decreased in 1929, there having been only 49 murders and 37 suicides, as compared with 59 murders and 38 suicides in 1928.

CASTE WAR IN HAITI SLOWS UP UNCLE SAM'S JOB

5 Per Cent Try to Boss 95 Per Cent.

BY WILLIAM LAWSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, Jan. 2.—Nothing has complicated Uncle Sam's job of rebuilding Haiti so much as the color line between the Haitians themselves. Ninety-five per cent or more of the Haitian population compose black illiterate, half slave peasants, who learned, by a century of oppression and tyranny, to hate the less than 5 per cent who constitute the so-called élite mulatto group which ruled the country before the United States intervened in 1915.

In the words of one important treaty official, the American occupation has been virtually "insulated" from the great mass it seeks to help because from the first it has had to work through the 5 per cent to reach the 95 per cent.

No one who has not observed it on the ground can appreciate how completely the color line is drawn in Haiti. The full blooded black Haitian, resembling in many ways the American Negro of the deep south, is proud of his color and deeply resents the assumed superiority which leads the cultured mulatto, equally proud of his lighter skin, as a result of a mixture with French or German blood, to refer to his humbler fellow citizen as "black."

Girl Weds Out of Caste.

To illustrate the feeling between the two castes, a story is told of the daughter of one of Part au Prince's most prominent mulatto families, a beautiful light skinned girl, who chose, to the horror of her family, to marry a "black." He was as educated and cultured as the girl, but the girl's family was grief stricken, but she married the "black." Today only the social position of her family keeps the girl from being ostracized by the élite circle in which she moves.

Under the treaty by which the United States agreed to supervise the rehabilitation of Haiti, it agreed that Haitians should be trained in the responsibilities of the government as rapidly as possible so that, when it considered it safe for the occupation to withdraw, there would be native Haitians competent to take over the helm.

Naturally only natives qualified by their ability to pass the simplest educational tests and, by their environment as material for training in the various services established under the treaty, are of the elite class. Today one may visit these services and find that the majority of natives occupying key positions are mulattoes. Many ranking native officers of the Garde d'Haiti are light skinned, and the same proportion holds true generally in the native government.

Masses Object to Plan.

When the occupation finally withdraws, the mulatto will be the one who will have been trained to take over the government, and black Haitian leaders complain that the occupation, instead of starting at the bottom to train the majority in self-government, is actually operating to perpetuate a government of the same minority whose excesses drove the masses into bloody rebellions and finally forced American intervention.

"Where do the masses benefit," I have been asked, "if, when Americans go, they will leave in power the same group which ruled Haiti before. The question is how long will it be after the Americans leave before this group, better trained, will take advantage of that training to grind down upon the peasant harder than before."

Peasant Resents Rule.

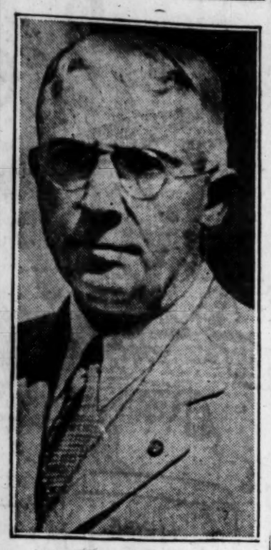
"The pity of the whole situation," said one treaty official, "is that the occupation has had to deal from the first with the minority, which has no sympathy and only contempt for the peasants. They have been slow or unwilling to see the advantage or necessity of education of the peasant and of instituting many reforms which will ameliorate the conditions under which peasants have lived.

"At the same time many of the things accomplished or under way for Haiti were possible only through the coöperation of the so-called ruling class, which has been resented by the peasant, who learned through years of bitter experience before the occupation to fear anything proposed or sanctioned by the élite."

Seek City Identification of 2 Killed by Poison Rum

The police of Blue Lexington, Miss., yesterday asked Chicago police to assist in establishing the identity of two boys found dead of poison liquor in Blue Lexington. Letters in their pockets indicated that the boys were Patrick Lyons and Michael Mahoney and that they were "hitch hiking" through the country, starting from Chicago.

RESIGNS



EDGAR S. JENNINGS.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Resignation of Warden Edgar S. Jennings of Auburn prison, scene of two bloody mutinies within the last year, was announced today. Dr. Raymond F. C. Kleb, state commissioner of correction, said the warden was retiring because of "incapability of carrying on his duties" as head of the prison.

4 LAKE FOREST YOUTHS CONFESS TO VANDALISM

Four Lake Forest youths, who are alleged to have used shotguns to break windows and cause other damage in vacant homes in Lake Forest and also to have shattered street lights and plotted to fire shots through train windows, were arrested yesterday by Policeman Russell McBride of Lake Forest.

Five windows were broken and doors and walls damaged in a vacant house at 1395 McKinley road, owned by Olaf Perrson of 995 Woodbine place, Lake Forest. Two guns were found in the possession of the boys and they confessed their vandalism, telling the police they fired the shots for thrills.

Illinoisian, 83, Will Face Trial as a Scofflaw

Mount Vernon, Ill., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—F. M. Knowles, 83, has been placed under bond of $2,000 on a charge of illegal possession of liquor. His case will not be heard until the March term of County court. He is the oldest person in Jefferson county ever prosecuted under the liquor laws.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs and colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

THE GREAT DRY FRAUD.

Senator Wesley L. Jones says he has assurances from members of President Hoover's enforcement commission that the inquiry has not and will not touch upon the feasibility or wisdom of the prohibition amendment. All the commission will do, according to the senator's information, will be to recommend methods of working it. Mr. Jones is the author of the greatest bone and dry, principally bone, act of recent legislation, the 5 and 10 skinny statute which makes virtually all adults in the United States criminals in the sight of the law.

Mr. Jones is satisfied that the commission will behave itself, but he is also admonitory. The members are advised to make it snappy and get their findings in support of prohibition in without delay or congress will cut off their expense accounts. That threat should cause George Wickersham, Roscoe Pound, Newton Baker, Frank Loesch, Judge Kenyon, et al. to wilt. The senator from Washington and his dry associates show them the lickin' log.

The affair promises to be ignominious. When President Hoover appointed the members of the commission they were justified in regarding their undertaking as serious. Its problems are. It is distorting American government and is affecting American citizenship profoundly. Law enforcement in the United States is diseased. The source of law seems to be the general ward of a psychopathic hospital in an unusually hysterical mood and seeking help from the underworld.

The committee organization indicated that the gravity of the situation was appreciated. There were committees on the causes of crime, juvenile delinquency, lawlessness by government law enforcers, on prosecution, penal institutions, courts, statistics of crime, etc. The purpose evidently was for a thorough study intended to produce valuable findings which would be worthy of the inquiry and consistent with the ability of the membership of the commission.

It was moreover an inquiry to aid the President in recommending measures to congress. It was not supposed to operate as the paid agent of the drys, but as a body of citizens intelligently concerned with the grave questions of government and citizenship. It has been so affected by prohibition politics that nothing now is expected of it but a humiliating fiasco. The dry senators, Republican and Democratic, have threatened to wreck the administration if they are not allowed to dictate the report.

The prohibitionists were suspicious from the beginning that the truth might be made public with all the authority of honest intelligence behind it, and of late they have been wildly alarmed. The success of the terrorist methods used to coerce the administration and silence the commission is as discreditable to the senators responsible as it is humiliating to the citizens who had been commissioned on an important service to their country.

What a free inquiry would have produced could not be foretold, but it was of first importance that it should be free, honest and intelligent. An investigation controlled by the drys is worse than worthless. It is a fraud. It is a deception of the public, and that can be its only purpose. The government did not need the aid of a commission to make a few departmental changes and pass more laws for the mistreatment of American citizens.

THE PORT OF WAUKEGAN.

A harbor plan for Waukegan will be submitted to the rivers and harbors committee of the senate upon the request for a federal appropriation. New breakwaters and an enlargement of the inner basin are features of the recommendations which have been approved by Maj. Wild, the United States district engineer in charge of the Waukegan port. It is estimated that the projected improvement would quadruple the water terminal facilities in Waukegan.

The demands upon the federal pocketbook by the Chicago area have always been far from inordinate and we have received far less than our fair equity in government expenditures. This is something of a tribute to the economic self-sufficiency of this neighborhood, but it is a virtue only in so far as we do not ask the government to finance our local improvements. When our representatives fail to bring us federal appropriations for strictly federal projects in our community, either the representatives are delinquent or those politicians and private interests which are jealous of Chicago's prosperity are successfully depriving us of our share in the nation's investments. All of our legitimate requests for an allowance from Washington have been reasonable and necessary. We have never been guilty of asking for pork. Therefore in view of the immense and indefensible appropriations such as the Boulder dam handout which other regions have obtained from congress, our exclusion from national benefits may only be credited to the inadequacy of our representatives or to the work of the anti-Chicago cabal.

The Waukegan project is a desirable part of the harbor development in the Chicago district. It is important that the water lanes be accessible to the industries in the northern region. A north shore harbor has been included in the recommendations of all engineers who have advised us of the proper terminal construction to handle the traffic arising from the lakes-gulf waterway. It is one of the few undertakings which we have asked the nation to assume and Chicago will watch carefully the fate of the Waukegan harbor bill in congress.

ONE REASON WHY CRIME IS RAMPANT.

Judge McGoorty's rebuke of the police and prosecution in the case of George Maloney throws a flood of light on the crime situation in this community. We do not know whether the outrageous slackness and incompetence revealed in this case is far below the general level of competency in criminal prosecution or not, but we do know that no serious case could reach the trial court in such condition as this unless there were something seriously at fault in the methods of our police and prosecuting office. The prevalence of crime where police and state's attorney's office can be guilty even in extreme instances of the blundering, ignorance, stupidity, and callous indifference shown by the officials of the law in this prosecution is not surprising. It is inevitable. No one can wonder that crime thrives.

The cure or at least the mitigation of this condition is obvious. The bar and organized citizenship and the press should unite at once in a peremptory demand for the proper instruction and training of the police and the discharge of all prosecuting assistants who are incapable of preparing or too slack to prepare a case competently for trial. The frequent reversal of verdicts by the Supreme court proves beyond question that there is incompetence in the preparation of criminal cases and the evil is so persistent as to be a scandal.

There should be a modern schooling for every man who is given a uniform and state's attorneys should be held to accountability for the appointment of ignorant or irresponsible assistants. The science of crime detection has been ignored in this jurisdiction and prosecuting officials have exploited their opportunities and responsibilities for political and personal advantage. The result is that our protection from crime has grown scandalously ineffective and it is time for drastic reform. Crime has never been so highly organized, equipped, and supported as it is today, but the means and methods of detection, apprehension, and prosecution have not kept pace with this advance.

Corrupt politics and professional criminality have made powerful alliance and we should see to it that our system of defense is made efficient to meet it. We belabor the courts and criticize juries when they do not bring punishment to bear upon the offenders, but the fault often lies with inadequate police methods or with prosecution that is incompetent or worse.

AMERICAN ADMINISTRATION IN HAITI.

William Lawson of THE TRIBUNE staff, investigating conditions in Haiti, finds that there is considerable dissatisfaction with American supervision. Some of the causes are curious as the correspondent describes them. The Haitian peasant is the person who has received the greatest benefit in added security, adequate public health measures, and aid in making his crops. He has been protected in getting to market and in getting back with his money. He has been given roads and freed from extortion. He is suspicious, however, that an injustice is being done him because he sees so many of his own grafting native officials still at their posts.

The illiterate peasant connects improvements which he does not wholly understand with the continuance in office of these natives and reasons that the Americans must be getting a division of the loot. That is a refutation of the assertions in the United States senate and in foreign newspapers that Haiti is being outraged—"Oppression in Haiti" the Manchester Guardian calls it. It is the opposite that is indicated—too much tolerance of local forms of government for the good of the governed and, possibly, too much eagerness to get ahead with measures for the betterment of native life.

The local government thus tolerated gives occasion for suspicion of the whole administration, the purpose of which is to build up a competent, steady and reliable class of natives who will support orderly government because they see their own advantage in it. That is a work for true peace and order, viewed malignantly at home because it is the nature of the American radical to take such views of his country and malignantly abroad because it helps to give the United States a bad reputation.

Editorial of the Day

THE STATE OF WILLIGAN.

[Detroit Free Press.]

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE took Mr. Grundy so seriously that it opened a prize contest for redrawing the map of the United States so as to properly modulate the voices of backward states in the senate. With its own entry, Willigan, we think THE TRIBUNE wins; and we suggest as the prize, a copy of the constitution of the United States done in braille.

As the name indicates, Willigan would take in parts of Wisconsin, Illinois and Michigan, as well as Indiana north of the Ku Klux line and Ohio west of its "gangdom." Chicago, as the capital of this ideal state, would become the economic hub of the nation, as it already is the criminal hub. THE TRIBUNE ostentatiously excludes Detroit—and "with it that part of the state of Michigan which includes the bigots who put widows in jail for life for selling a pint of whisky, while furnishing to depraved criminals an asylum free from police interference."

We are neither so ambitious nor so avaricious as our frequently esteemed contemporary. We are content with the grand old state of Michigan. We covet nothing our neighbors have. We should fare better if we were rid of some of the things at least one of them persists in purveying to us.

Among these dispensables are the graduates of Chicago's seminary of vice, crime and corruption, who have contributed their share to the conditions that incline the THE TRIBUNE to extrude Detroit from its model commonwealth. Widows wouldn't sell so many pints of whisky in Michigan if Chicago imported its own and the "World's Greatest Newspaper" showed as much bigotry in upholding the law as it has displayed in trying to make it contemptible.

While we find it necessary to condemn many things done at the city hall, we are happily free of anything approaching the alliance of vice, crime and politics that has made the name of our erring sister city at the foot of the lake a byword from Casco bay to the Golden Gate and from Canada to the gulf. What Chicago needs is not so much a new state, as a new state of mind, a change of heart instead of a change of boundaries.

HELPING AVOID THE MISFIT

WHEN a student enters the Sullivan Junior High school he is rated in more ways than one. The marks obtained in the lower grades are good so far as they go but they do not go far enough. They are supplemented by intelligence tests, physical examinations, tests of personality, benavior, and deportment, and tests of social adjustments. Finally, an effort is made to help the student in the selection of a vocation and in training for that vocation.

In determining the pupil's intelligence, not one but a group of tests are used. There are several of these tests. One fits one type of mind and another, some other types. To iron out these differences several tests are grouped into a bank of tests. By this means students are placed into eleven groups, as follows: Very superior to genius, superior to very superior, superior, bright to superior, strong over-age normals, normals bright, normals strong, over-age normals, normals under-age, slow over-age normals, backward over-age. Work is patterned according to the grouping.

The effort to train the mind as well as to fill it with information as carried out in the public schools has gone forward a mighty distance since the school methods of one hundred years ago. But that is only a part of the story.

Many men fail in life because of their personalities. Some fail because of their behavior and some because of emotional disturbances. The failure may be negative in character, resulting in nothing worse than misfits, inadequates and unhappy, discontented people. Out of it may come antagonisms, enmities toward society, and even major criminality. The latest thing in school development is recognition of deviation in personality early in life, and effort to train the child out of his difficulty based on the diagnosis. This activity takes the place of old time markings on deportment and old time disciplinary measures. This is one part of the response which the school is making to the cry of society for help against its enemies.

COD LIVER OIL FOR AGED.

Mrs. B. writes: Would you advise the taking of cod liver oil by the old, say 75 years or 80?

Does it not build up decaying tissue? Does its use cause hardening of the arteries, the aorta especially, as some other anti-ricket medicines do? Does it, instead of delaying, superinduce senility?

REPLY.

As a rule, old people do not need cod liver oil or any other vitamin D food and are a little better off without them. Some of them take it with advantage for a while in midwinter to help ward off colds and pneumonia. This applies particularly to old people who must stay in a cold climate where there is not much sunshine.

ONE TREATMENT OF BOILS.

I. H. W. writes: I have at last found a cure for bolls. Proceeding on the theory that the cure by hot fomentations was wrong, in that it fed and multiplied the germs, I decided to try the opposite course and kill the germ. This I am now successfully doing. The moment I feel the initial sting of the germ, or note the appearance of a yellow head, I apply a strong chlorine solution and it instantly prevents necrosis and stops the boil from developing. I have given this remedy to friends and they have found it successful.

USE MORE VENTILATION.

Mrs. F. M. C. writes: In the winter, when the windows are closed and I cook with gas, my bronchial tubes seem to be irritated and filled up. This is also noticeable when riding in a closed car. When I feel this way I usually open the window wide and take a few breathing exercises.

REPLY.

Your symptoms may be due to carbon monoxide or unburned gas. In any event you have found ventilation to be the remedy. Use more of it.

SOURCE OF LIME IN FOOD.

L. J. S. writes: What fruits and vegetables are rich in lime?

REPLY.

Milk and cheese are the best food sources of lime. Among the best vegetable and fruit sources are dried beans, raisins, spinach, all forms of greens and salads, string beans, turnips, green corn, cabbage, lettuce, asparagus, oranges, onions, peanuts, walnuts, and oatmeal.

USUALLY IS NOT SERIOUS.

C. D. L. writes: Is hydrocele important? Is an operation necessary?

REPLY.

PROBATE USUALLY NECESSARY.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My mother died three years ago, leaving me $2,000 in the bank. I am the only child. Would this have to be taken up in court before I can get the money? I will be of age tomorrow.
E. J.

Probate would be necessary unless the bank is willing to waive it in reliance on affidavits in relation to heirship and debts.

ASH REMOVAL.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—[Friend of the People.]—Is the city obliged to remove ashes and refuse from the rear of my 6 flat apartment building? The ash wagon drivers remove ashes from my neighbors, but say they are not obliged to do so from my building. W. S.

The ordinances governing the removal of waste and refuse do not obligate the city to remove the ashes from a six flat steam heated building. Ashes must be removed at owner's expense. J. J. BUTLER,

BOOKKEEPING IN FOREIGN TONGUE.

Chicago, Dec. 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Has Illinois a law which prohibits a man or woman in business from keeping his books in any other than the English language? J. S.

No, except as the books must be intelligible for federal income tax audit.

SNOW MAN.

His head is little better, without poise or majesty;
His arms are short and stubby and his legs are squat and low,
He's a real cold proposition, for his structure is of snow.
Two chunks of coal stuck in his face are meant to pass for eyes,
His mouth's a slash above his chin, and if he ever cries
He'd stain his ermine cheeks with streaks of soot, I fear,
His mood is quite repellent and nobody envies him,
He stands out on the commons and is moveless through the night,
He's the ghost of old man winter in the steely blue moonlight.
Perhaps tomorrow they will deck him in some ragged overcoat,
Or set a dingy derby on his head and laugh and gloat.
He's the scarecrow of the winter, grotesque and stupefied,
Just a dumb and cold creation that the neighbor boys deride.
If the day is warm he melts, but at night congeals again,
And he glistens sharp and slippery after every winter's rain.
He's the silent wraith of winter and he shrinks as he gets old,
Getting thinner, getting smaller, from the day that he was rolled.

CLARENCE P. MILLIGAN.

JUST BEFORE THE BATTLE, MOTHER—and Bill Borah is shaking his long black mane and roaring and the Very Drys are buckling on their armor and the Stand-By-the-President Drys are running around and shouting, "Shoosh, shoosh!" And the Constitutional 5 and 10 Drys are sharpening their spears, and Bishop Cannon has been wheeled into position and loaded 'n' everything, and it certainly looks as though there was to be a terrible carnage down along the Potomac next week. Which is all very interesting to the Wets, who are perched on top of the old rail fence and darned near laughing themselves to death.

What in the World Possessed the Man?

"My seventy-six agents," says Deputy-Administrator-of-Prohibition-Enforcement-in-Chicago Hurlburt, "saw not a single violation of the prohibition law New Year's eve." Then we wonder if that man we saw on Burton place and the drive, just as the New Year came sneaking in, had been drinking buttermilk or ginger tea. He said, as far as we can remember, "Whoop-pee fer New Year. I jus' bough' shree pints fer shree dollars pint an' am I happy? Ash me somebuddy, ash me am I happy?" Then announcing that he was a squirrel and had a home in the top of the old oak tree, he briskly started to climb a tree in somebody's front yard. The last we heard of him he had found out he was a polar bear and was yelling for somebody to take him up to the Lincoln Park Zoo. Possibly the gentleman had been drinking sarsaparilla. Ah, 'tis deadly stuff!

"TAMMANY," says ex-Candidate-for-Mayor La Guardia, "runs the Republican party in New York." Tammany may stand for that, but if ex-Candidate-for-Mayor La Guardia says that Tammany runs the Republican party in Washington they'll probably sue him for libel.

If You Know What I Mean!

"No," said the lovely society debutante, telling us about the party she went to. "It was a nice party, if you know what I mean; that is, there wasn't anybody that got spiffed to the gills or chasing anybody with the carving knife, or anything like that, if you know what I mean. Except just one, the big cheese; they had to pick him up; well, he drank a whole quart of Scotch while I was looking at him, and he just fell over and went blooey, if you know what I mean. I thought he was dead, but he couldn't have been dead, for they carried him out head first, and if he had been dead they would have carried him out feet first, if you know what I mean. Anyhow, it was an awfully nice quiet party. If you know what I mean.

THE COLUMN immediately to the west of us broke out with winter itch again yesterday. Anyhow, Doc Evans told one of his contribs that the best thing to do if one had winter itch was to go at once to Southern California or Florida. All right, Doc, what we want to ask you is, how does one get the winter itch? Winter itch—oh, what a lovely thing to have! Oh, scratch around, Doc, and tell us how to get winter itch.

YOUTH'S ADVENTURE.

I'll shoe a fine horse
And curry him down,
And ride in the sunlight
Out of town.

I'll mind field and heather
And countryside flat,
And if there are bogs—
The hell with that.

But if there be swamp
And sun that grows hot,
We'll both come to grief
Like as not.

WE DON'T BELIEVE in cutting down the police force before we have the big fair in 1933. How are strangers going to find their way to the fair grounds if there's no policemen to tell 'em? Huh? Can't expect the bandits to stand around saying, "Right that way, lady," or "Walk straight east 'til your hat floats," can you? Bandits have their living to make and they don't like to waste their time.

DO YOU KNOW, strange as it may seem, and, believe it or not, but we shouldn't be a bit surprised if 1930 turned out to be a good deal like the years that have gone before it. We've had two days of it—and, well, 1930, we're dreadfully disappointed. Everybody said you were going to be so different, and look, your face is dirty already and you've got a black eye. Oh, 1930, you naughty boy!

THE DOCTORS DISAGREE OVER THE PATIENT'S ILLNESS

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 3, 1865.

As New Year's fell on Sunday and the holiday was observed on Monday, following its usual custom, The Tribune was not published on the next day, Jan. 3.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 3, 1900.

BERLIN.—The German steamer Hans Wagner, from Hamburg, was seized at Delagoa bay by the British on Dec. 27. It is reported that the owners have lodged a complaint with the British foreign office. This is the second seizure of a German ship by the British at Delagoa bay and no doubt it will make more complications in the diplomatic situation.

LONDON.—Latest advices indicate that the situation at Colesberg is far from satisfactory to the British. One dispatch says that the Boers have retaken the position. The dispatches do not seem to bear out reports of yesterday that Gen. French had whipped the Boers and driven them out of the Colesberg stronghold.

CHICAGO.—Before 2,000 students and friends of the University of Chicago assembled in Studebaker hall, President W. R. Harper announced that nearly enough money had been given to the institution to assure John D. Rockefeller's conditional donation of $2,000,000. Among the donors were Mrs. Annie Hitchcock, $200,000, and Leon Mandel, $50,000. President Arthur T. Hadley of Yale university delivered the convocation address.

CHICAGO.—Water was turned into the drainage canal from the Chicago river and the opening of the greatest canal ever constructed in America was accomplished without ceremony. The nine sanitary district trustees, with their engineer, Isham Randolph, simply went to the Kedzie avenue connection with the river and saw the thin ridge of earth cut through. The next step will be the opening of the gates at Lockport by which the water of the great channel will be turned into the Des Plaines river and thence ultimately into the Mississippi. When the gates are opened St. Louis plans to ask an injunction. The canal has cost upwards of $33,000,000. Work was begun on it on "shovel day," Sept. 3, 1892.

CHICAGO.—Ald. Thomas F. Ryan, superintendent of the Evanston gas works, died of asphyxiation as a result of being overcome in the purifying room of the plant. William Miller, an employé, also was overcome but he will recover.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 3, 1920.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The United States government tonight struck with all its power at the Red agitation that seeks to overthrow it. The full force of federal authorities fell on the radicals from coast to coast, and as reports came in it was said that thousands of America's foes had been trapped in the nation's greatest raid. Raids were made simultaneously in thirty-three of the nation's largest cities. In New York City alone 800 warrants were issued. Attorney General Palmer personally directed the roundup there.

CHICAGO.—The government raids of haunts of radicals in Chicago were directed by John T. Creighton, special assistant to Attorney General Palmer, who came here a month ago to gather evidence against the agitators.

CHICAGO.—Ignoring suggestions from Gov. Lowden and Chicago clubwomen, Sheriff Charles W. Peters permitted more than 200 prisoners in the county jail to view the hanging of Raffalo Durage for a double murder. The prisoners shrank back from sight of the hanging and as the body was taken down several of them broke into hysterical screams. Chief of Police Garrity praised the plan.

CHICAGO.—Miss Jean Hippach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Albert Hippach of Evanston, will be married this afternoon to Hjalmar E. Unander-Scharin of New York, son of Mrs. Fanny Maria Unander-Scharin of Umea and Stockholm, Sweden. The ceremony will be at the Fourth Presbyterian church, and the Rev. John Timothy Stone will officiate.

BLAMING THE WAR ON BRITISH LABOR.

Attica, Ind., Dec. 30.—What amazes me is to learn of the superficial reasons given by so many writers and statesmen as the prime causes of the world war. Why should they be permitted without challenge to mislead the public by advancing such reasons as that there might have been no world war if Britain had agreed to the freedom of the seas. The fundamental causes were not political; they were industrial, commercial, and economic.

I resided in England from 1895 to 1898 and lived eighteen months in the New Travelers club in London where I met representatives of the vast colonial enterprises owned by British capital throughout their far flung empire and I secured first hand information regarding the real and primary causes.

The seeds of the great war were planted in the steel strike that started in 1895 or 1896 and lasted eighteen months. The aftermath of that strike disclosed a sinister and tragic attitude on the part of organized labor in every industry in the land. The workers practiced every conceivable form of sabotage and loafing on the job, thereby hoping to get even with organized capital. Unhappily they inadvertently committed industrial suicide by so doing because they made the cost of every manufactured article produced in England so high and prohibitive that England could no longer compete in the markets of the world.

Britain had practically lost her colonial trade, was rapidly losing her home markets, and was threatened by a revolution in England, and reluctantly accepted the war as the only alternative out of an apparently impossible predicament. The murder of the archduke at Sarajevo was a mere pretext and in no real sense responsible for it. It simply supplied the lighted match thrown into the powder magazine all set and ready for the inevitable conflict.

When England solves her labor problems scientifically we will have no more wars. E. H. CARQUEVILLE.

A RECEIVER FOR CHICAGO.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—I notice that the aldermen are trying to preserve the cash and expense of the upkeep of their automobiles, and this in the face of the fact that the city is about bankrupt. This kind of graft on the taxpayers is about the last straw. The office of alderman should be an office of honor and not an office for plunder. Any man who cannot afford the upkeep of an automobile should not aspire to be an alderman.

I don't understand why some of the creditors of the city don't get together and ask for a receiver and throw out the whole bunch from the city hall, put in a good business man as manager (receiver), and run this city as it should be run. It is the only chance to get rid of all the grafting politicians of all political parties and give the citizens an honest deal for once.

You will find a lot of so-called inspectors in the various departments drawing $15 per day who don't earn a dollar per day. Every department could dispense with at least half of the pay rollers and this would enable us to keep our police and firemen.

ELMER E. BALDWIN.

LONGER POLICE SHIFTS.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—Now at the worst time of the year policemen are to be laid off. I dug down in my trunk and got out my old reliable .32 revolver and oiled her up and shoved in a clip. As a citizen who works hard for his living, I am not going to stand for holdups.

If we taxpayers have no protection for our money, then we will have to protect ourselves. Years ago policemen worked 12 hour shifts for $83.33 per month and were glad to get it. Now they work 6 or 7 hours and ride around their beats and receive three times more salary. If they were put back on 12 hour shifts until hard times, blow over it would help. Then five hundred or a thousand police could be dispensed with and we would have plenty of protection. Of course there would be a howl, but they would get used to it the same as corporation police had to do after the war. They were put on 12 hour shifts from 8 hour ones. FRANK CRANEY.

A TEST OF THE ALDERMEN.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—If THE TRIBUNE could give us the views of each alderman regarding the 1930 budget and its reduction of the police and fire departments we would probably know how to vote at the next aldermanic elections.

ELMER STAUBER.

MR. SWANSON AND THE COAL DEALERS.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—Allow me to congratulate your paper in its exposé of facts regarding our worthy state's attorney. The stand this representative of public rights took on the coal merchants' association issue is, I suppose, as much as could be expected from one who possesses the courageous ability he displayed in extricating himself from such a position. Oaths, pledges, promises, and hypocrisy shake hands and swear allegiance. A. T. CULLODEN.

SYNOPSIS.

John Andrew Kellogg, heir to millions, asks Barbara Thornton to marry him. She agrees, but not very graciously. When she hears that he has just lost his job she scolds him and calls him a playboy. He calls on his attorney, David Craig, who tells him that he will never inherit the money his father left if he doesn't prove himself capable of managing his life in a sensible way. He tells him that since he has lost one job after another he will have to double $5,000 in thirty days or live on an income from a trust fund for the rest of his life. John Andrew telephones this to Barbara, and she offers to give him $5,000 to turn over to Craig. He refuses and tells her he is going out to Hollywood. She is furious with him and breaks the engagement. He decides to go to San Francisco and starts for California. On the train he meets Anne Ames, who is on her way to Hollywood with a letter of introduction to a movie producer. They become interested in each other. Before saying good-by in Utah, John Andrew tells Anne that he will see her in Los Angeles in a few days.

INSTALLMENT XXIII.

THE SUSPECT.

John Andrew and Fitzgerald shook hands.

"And that," thought John Andrew, as he walked down the long corridor, "is that." A wild idea. A little crap game. A few words of pleasant conversation. Twenty-five thousand dollars. The world again his oyster.

"Use the other door, mister," an office boy suggested, as Kellogg pushed vainly at one near the entrance.

"Every time you hit, you win," John Andrew told him, earnestly. "Three cigars are worth your money. You follow that advice, young man, and you'll fly across the Pacific some day."

All actors, the office boy knew, were crazy; he decided to kid this one a little, in order to get a good story: "I suppose you've been up in th' air lots of times, mister?"

"Never," said John Andrew, "quite as high as this."

In those offices at Consolidated where the linoleum ended and the Turkish rugs began there was jubilation: Fitzgerald had announced that (with a little help from the outside) the Consolidated engineers had practically ready for use a noiseless camera which (certainly for some time) no other picture company might either use or imitate. Luncheons had been delayed and midday golf postponed while the latest Consolidated triumph was discussed happily. There was only one gnat in the ointment:

"Why," asked one of the officials, "does it cost us twenty-five thousand for the patent? Say, I know inventors, Fitz; if you offer 'em a good steak and $50 and praise 'em a lot, believe me, you can get whatever they have."

"Not this fellow," Fitzgerald said. "I'd have turned him over to you gentlemen, but he was the sort who'd raise the price every time you tried to . . . er . . . beat him down. He knew what he had; if I hadn't known him pretty well he'd have gone over to Magnificent as it was——"

"It is customary to identify yourself with the manager."

"You got him sewed up tight, Fitz?"

"He isn't the kind who tries to slip out from under," the engineer said. "As a matter of fact, I was almost ashamed to get more than his word; but, as you gentlemen so often remind me, business is business."

"When you get it in black and white, you got something," said Mr. Sinsheimer. "Otherwise, what have you got?" He waggled a finger at the youthful engineer. "You're a fine boy, Fitz, but you take some of the bumps we fellers have taken and you'll want sixteen lawyers around when there's anything to be signed."

"We'd give it to him, wouldn't we?" Fitzgerald said. "If we didn't, somebody else would, even if it isn't worth more than we paid. But we needn't worry. This fellow Kellogg's straight, and by day after tomorrow you'll have everything signed, sealed, and delivered. But, for heaven's sake, when you let the publicity hounds in on it, don't bring my name into it. Just say 'developed in the Consolidated studios' or something like that——"

"Maybe we could say that one of the stars—maybe Gordon Graham; he's got a wonderful following—developed the idea in his home laboratory."

"That's a big idea," Fitzgerald said. "Only, if you let Graham be interviewed, send him over to us first; he thinks a rheostat's a model of a car . . . and don't let any one from a technical journal talk to him. Yep; that's a hot notion."

A good boy, Fitz, the officials decided, even if he liked to talk. And so the men from the publicity department were called and given instructions to keep in touch with Fitzgerald, and the necessity for complete secrecy was emphasized, and the man who was detailed to care for "sound publicity" (standing joke among all staffs save the publicity itself) dictated several preliminary news stories to be used later, and informed her also that nothing was to be said on the subject . . . and the stenographer left the sheets in her typewriter with a part of the story already written . . . and by one-thirty news of Consolidated's fortune already was traveling around the lot, clear to the sound stage itself, where technicians and electricians and cameramen and directors and actors and extras heard that the villainous booths which housed the cameras would soon be unnecessary. . . .

Anne did not dare ask if it were the something-Kellogg camera, but she felt that it must be, and knew that she would not wait until Sunday to talk again with John Andrew; it was hard enough to continue acting until four-thirty. She wondered, as she rehearsed a scene with Chester, just what John Andrew was doing, and what he was thinking.

John Andrew's thoughts were chaotic. He realized perfectly that he had been successful—or would be very shortly—only because of sheer luck, but what of that? The hundreds of times he had given people a friendly hand were, he felt, now being returned to him thousandfold; John Andrew was indeed very happy. It was difficult to avoid wiring Craig what he had accomplished; he had, however, wired to Blake in San Francisco, finding the man's address on the plans, simply saying that the patent was to be sold for $25,000 and for Blake to go to the Consolidated offices in San Francisco and put his signature upon whatever papers were offered him, after which the documents were to be forwarded to Kellogg at the Poinsettia.

The fact that his cash resources now amounted to two round silver dollars (no longer needed as a safeguard in wiring Craig for funds) and one ten cent piece did not trouble him; in a day or so he would have the money from the sale of the Blake-Kellogg apparatus. Why, there were still twenty dollars left in his account from the amount paid for the jade-green Mercury; he had better get that in cash, instead of going around broke."

It had taken John Andrew better than an hour to be served and to eat leisurely; it had only taken a few seconds for his luncheon check to go to the cashier's office for approval, to be added to the information the Poinsettia had about one J. A. Kellogg. . . .

John Andrew stopped at the cigar stand and bought several packages of cigarets, paying for them with one of the silver dollars; he walked next to the cashier's window, opened his checkbook, and wrote out a check for $20.

"I need a little money," John Andrew said, smiling. "This is an expensive town. Will you cash this, please?"

"Have you cashed checks with us before, sir?"

"It is customary to identify yourself with the manager. . . ."

"Glad to," John Andrew said, and, following the girl's directions, went around the wainscotted paneling to a door. "My name's Kellogg," he told the man behind the desk; "I'm staying here, and I'd like to cash a small check, please. . . ."

The manager's trained mind recalled at once: telephone never used (therefore not acquainted here); breakfast check signed instead of being paid for; hasn't got a watch, or has sold it very recently; garage charge daily; sent clothes to be pressed and probably will charge that against his room; sent a telegram (contents unknown), and charged that also; just ate an expensive lunch without paying for it; has a flat tire on his car which hasn't been repaired; and now wants to cash a check! Go slow; be cautious, but don't insult the man, for, on the other side of the ledger, he seems both at ease and a gentleman, and drives a very fine car.

"You—this is only a matter of form, Mr. Kellogg—you can identify yourself?"

John Andrew, who walked into New York hotels and was welcomed by the clerks by name, grinned, and dug into his pocket. "New York driver's license," he offered. "A couple of envelopes . . . not much good? Here's a bank book. . . ."

He waited while the manager thumbed through it, noting the good sized amounts entered therein, the final entry of $5,000 just a week before.

"This is—this should be satisfactory," the manager said, slowly, "but how are we to—er—know that you are John A. Kellogg?"

"Darned if I can tell you," John Andrew grinned. "But I am."

"I'm sure it is perfectly all right, sir, but . . . we must be very careful, you know. Isn't there some one——"

"What d'you want me to do?" John Andrew asked, still pleasantly; "bring in somebody you know? That's impossible. . . . I'm a stranger here. . . ."

Good Morning!

Here's a picture that's well directed, sincerely acted, and interesting. It would rate as excellent had the character of Mexicali Rose been more intelligently drawn by the scenario writer. Her attitude and the things she says during the major part of the narrative make her final gesture entirely out of focus.

The film is a sort of restrained melodrama. It has its gambling house, with picturesque and hard boiled owner, its woman who doesn't care, its slimy croupier, its unsuspecting young man from other parts, etc., etc. But there are no shootings in it and no heavy villainy. The gambling house owner IS a tough egg, but, as he says, none of his mother's children were dumb, and he lets his head rule his inclinations and his trigger finger.

So—when Rose, his wife, whom he had trusted, betrays him, and, when divorced, slips away and marries his adored kid brother, "Happy" Manning deals with the situation effectively—but sanely.

Sam Hardy as this likable and able gentleman lives up to his reputation as a dependable and entertaining actor. Barbara Stanwych does splendidly with her lop-sided rôle. William Janney as "Happy's" kid brother is all the heart could desire. Minor characters are portrayed with unusual excellence. Note the work of Louis King as an old bar fly, Julie Beharano as an aged and volatile scrubwoman, Arthur Rankin as Loco, her half witted son, and Louis Natheaux as the genial Mexican, Joe. The picture is not too long. Sound effects are fine.

The Castle theater, redecorated and equipped with the best of talking apparatus, is a delightful retreat for the movie fan who hasn't much time to spare. You see, its program consists of only the feature picture and a news reel.

See you tomorrow!

Mrs. Gann to Give Party for Referee of Her Social Battle

Washington, Jan. 2.—(AP)—Mrs. Dolly Curtis Gann will preside with her brother, Vice President Curtis, at a formal dinner party on Saturday for about 70 high ranking American and foreign officials.

This function, the first affair of the kind to be given by them since she assumed the social duties of official vice presidential hostess last winter, will be a farewell to Sir Esme Howard, the retiring British ambassador, who leaves the British diplomatic service next month. Among the guests will be five or six members of President Hoover's cabinet, a number of heads of foreign missions, and members of the house and senate, with their wives. The Longworths were not invited.

Vice President Curtis said today that he and Mr. and Mrs. Gann were giving the affair to return the courtesy of Sir Esme.

"He has been fine to me and Mrs. Gann," Vice President Curtis said, "and when we heard that he and Lady Isabella were leaving we wanted to honor them in farewell."

It was Sir Esme Howard who, at the height of the controversy over Mrs. Gann's social rank last winter, sent a communication to the diplomatic corps, declaring in effect that the Vice President's sister was recognized by him, Sir Esme, as entitled to the same honor she would have as the Vice President's wife.

Set in the Chinese room of the Mayflower hotel, at which Mr. and Mrs. Gann and the Vice President live in a 15 room suite, the Saturday dinner will be followed by a private showing of a motion picture film, as Sir Esme is fond of movies.

Hessian Family Hears It Won Millions, Fortune of Soldier

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DARMSTADT, Germany, Jan. 2.—The small Hessian village of Fich, near Darmstadt, is in jubilation tonight because it has received word that it has won a victory over Philadelphia in a legal fight for the possession of a fortune of $4,000,000.

Fich is the home village of a clan of Beckers. From it a Hessian soldier was shipped to America to fight for King George III. Soldier Becker stayed in America, and he accumulated a small fortune. When he died he provided that his estate should be kept piling up interest for 100 years, then be paid out to his heirs in Germany.

Philadelphia claimed the inheritance. The Becker clan in Fich gathered its pennies together to make a legal fight for the possession. Today the Beckers received word that the $4,000,000 had been awarded to the heirs in Germany.

A large Philadelphia newspaper reported last night that it could not locate any story about the Becker fortune in that city.

Stanford Official Asks Students to Make Better Public "Front"

Palo Alto, Cal., Jan. 2.—(AP)—The wearing of old corduroy trousers by students was discussed today by Almon E. Roth, controller of Stanford university. He spoke to delegates of the National Student Federation of America, holding its fifth annual congress at Stanford.

Too often, Mr. Roth said, the public gets the wrong impression of universities, and the old corduroys are a contributory factor.

Mr. Roth, speaking on "The Academic Dollar," urged American college students to "sell their schools" to the public. He advocated strict control of radio broadcasts of university functions and urged care in permitting the taking of campus scenes by motion picture companies.

Boy Wins Union League Club Prize; Gets Air Trip

Maurice Stein, 16 years old, of 2002 West Grand avenue, who won the annual prize of the Union League club foundation for boys as the outstanding boy for 1929, will be personally congratulated by C. M. Moderwell, president of the club, today. Maurice ranked first among 2,630 boy members in conduct, good character, athletic ability, and participation in club activities. He will be given a round trip to St. Paul in a Northwest Airways plane leaving at 1:30 p. m. today.

THE QUESTION.

Have the talkies raised or lowered the standards of moving pictures?

The Answers.

Mrs. Margaret Hall, 1500 North Clark street, furrier—They have raised the technical standards, that's certain. Actors and actresses must not only have good looks and be able to act, but must have good voices, either for speaking, singing, or both.

Elmer Swanson, 4835 Kimball avenue, radio technician—Yes, the natural sounds makes possible a screen drama that possesses those subtleties that make tremendously powerful and impressive productions. The mass noises of spectacular plays, creeping sounds of mystery plays are now possible. These sounds make the action instantly understandable to the audience.

Miss Marjorie Lowe, 5517 Kenmore avenue, stenographer—The talkies have lowered the standards. They have done away with most of the excellent music which we had during the silent picture era. That loss has taken away one of the most important factors in the enjoyment of the movies. The music for the "soundies" is terrible; tinpanny.

H. T. Franklin, 127 North Dearborn street, theatrical manager—The talkies have raised the standards of about 10 per cent of the productions. In the other 90 per cent, scenario writers and actors have not yet adapted themselves to the new conditions. They rush pell mell into the complex productions, but miss the artistic mark.

Miss Elsie Pelletier, 3841 North Lawndale avenue, trained nurse—The talkies have raised the standards, because they give a real chance for good actors from the stage to enter the more remunerative movies. Heretofore the movies mostly required good looks. In photography the scope has been vastly enlarged.

U. S. Stock Price Cuts Dim the Night Life of Montmartre Cafes

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 2. — Reverberations of the Wall street market crash have rumbled across the Atlantic and hit Paris, particularly the Montmartre. As a result, a dozen leading night clubs, dance halls and other resorts, some fashionable and some questionable, are facing bankruptcy.

The usual brilliant winter season November and December was a dim affair. International society, largely made up of wealthy Americans and the local American colony, failed to patronize the favorite night clubs and restaurants.

Joe Zelli, who maintains one of the most popular night clubs, closed up yesterday morning. The Perroquet, long famed for its handsome doll souvenirs, closed last night, and Rat Mort, notorious in the Thaw case testimony, also turned off its lights.

THEATER

GEORGE M. COHAN, acting the principal rôle in his play named "Gambling," is bulletined for February 2 in the Erlanger. That the stay there of Earl Carroll's Vanities will be three weeks has been stated here. Mr. Cohan's play, also, will be for three weeks. His plan is to act out to California, where he expects to write and direct a sound-film for the uses of Al Jolson.

"The Queen Was in the Parlor," wherein Miss Pauline Frederick is announced for January 12 in the Garrick, is the work of Noël Coward.

And, as to the Garrick, Joseph E. Howard is said to be eager to obtain an arrangement with the Messrs. Shubert whereby he would take over that theater for revival of some of the pieces for which he provided the tunes in the old days of the La Salle and the Princess. His plan would be to start with "The Time, the Place, and the Girl."

Miss Constance Collier and the cast of English players she has assembled for "The Matriarch" will sail tomorrow for this fair land. As has been stated here, she will open the 20th in the Princess under the direction of the Dramatic League of Chicago. . . . Expectation is that "The Infinite Shoeblack," the current offering of the League, will be taken to Philadelphia at the end of the Chicago engagement; and Mr. MacOwan, the author, says that he is eager for a New-York verdict on his piece.

Matheson Lang, long an actor-manager in London, has the rights in a new play by Patrick Hamilton, author of "Rope," which was all but a success in New-York. There is small likelihood that the latter piece will be shown in Chicago.

Miss Mary Boland hopes to have another go at "Mrs. Cook's Tour," which is being fixed up.

An English play called "Newly Poor" is renamed "Dear Old England" for the American market.

Ferdinand Gottschalk is to be with George Jessel in a new play which, when last mentioned by name, was called "P. S.: He Got the Job."

The New-York dailies have been giving a bit of space to Miss Margaret Perry for having been successful, it is said, in the principal rôle in "Strictly Dishonorable." She went on in the illness of Miss Muriel Kirkland. The point is that Miss Perry had never before been on the stage, although she is the daughter of a seasoned actress, Miss Antoinette Perry. And it is now told that the débutante will have the rôle in the company which is to be assembled for performing the comedy in Chicago.

Theater Heads to Curb Scalping in New York City

New York, Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Producers and managers representing twenty-five theaters met at the Empire theater today and agreed upon a method of distributing tickets which they are confident will do away with "the unconscionable prices demanded by brokers" and again attract patrons alienated from the theater by high admission charges.

The plan is a simple one. It is based on the assumption that the kernel of the evil in the situation is the custom of allowing ticket brokers voluntarily to buy outright blocks of seats months in advance for successful plays and forcing them to buy seats for the less popular shows.

To end this evil, the managers today signed an agreement to send tickets to agents only on consignment. The agents, must, however, bind themselves to make no "buy" for any theatrical attraction and to make no charge in excess of 75 cents a ticket. The managers will cease selling blocks of tickets outright to the brokers and keep a substantial number at the box office. If a broker violates the agreement all theaters will withdraw their tickets from him and if a manager goes back on his signature his tickets will be removed from all bonded agencies.

The agreement, in resolution form, was proposed by Arthur Hopkins, chairman of a subcommittee of three which has been investigating ticket speculating. It was adopted unanimously. As virtually unanimous consent is regarded as necessary for the plan to be successful committee members were named to visit the remaining managers and invite their cooperation.

Brock Pemberton, a member of the subcommittee, pointed out that the federal government profits most by the excessive prices charged for theater tickets.

Cure of Cancer Hope of New Research Group

Doctors Tell of Plans for Work.

The cure for cancer, which disease "is now economically the most important cause of death, claiming one person in seven over the age of thirty," will come out of the results of research. Such was the faith expressed by medical authorities and business leaders last night. They talked at a public conference on cancer at the Chicago Woman's club. The meeting was conducted by the Cancer Research Institute of Chicago, recently incorporated.

Following a dinner attended by 200 representatives of universities, research laboratories, medical societies, welfare organizations, and other groups the cancer problem was discussed publicly. Mrs. Henry Hoyt Hilton, president of the Chicago Woman's club, introduced Dr. Charles B. Reed, president of the Chicago Medical society, who presided.

"The Chicago Woman's club has started a campaign for the control and cure of cancer. That campaign will finish, I believe, with the conquest of the disease," Dr. Reed said in his brief introduction. "The clubwoman have enlisted men who are deeply concerned, who have spent their lives in an effort to solve the cancer riddle."

Dr. Ludwig Hektoen, director of the John McCormick Institute for Infectious Diseases, declared that as long as cancer presents unsolved problems, and the causes and true nature of cancer are not understood, there will be urgent need for promoting research. He called cancer the most economically important cause of death.

"The prospects of making successful attacks on the problems of cancer never were more promising than they are now, due to research which has been devoted to cancer and related subjects," Dr. Hektoen added. "In recent years have been introduced into the study of cancer, the transplantation of cancer in animals, the cultivation of cells, the effects of hormones or powerful substances screened by body glands which may have a relation to cancer growth, the effect of radiation on cancer, and experimental cancer, all of which have contributed to the problem.

"Research—searching for facts and interpreting them. Out of a simple beginning may come large developments."

Cancer was described as the problem of the age by Charles Ward Seabury, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce. He discussed it from a business man's viewpoint.

"Health is fundamental from the point of view of economics," Mr. Seabury said. "Cancer is levying a huge toll of human life and imposing great suffering. Estimates on the annual mortality in this country alone range from 100,000 to 250,000 persons, and the economic loss is estimated at a billion dollars a year.

"As a business man familiar with the methods of successful business enterprises, I know that wider and more intensive cancer research and better facilities for research are needed. Their importance can not be overestimated."

Dr. D. J. Davis, dean of the college of medicine of the University of Illinois, urged the public to take more interest in the cancer problem. Americans are not aroused to action, he asserted, as they should be.

Following the addresses, Dr. Bowman C. Crowell, director of clinical research of the American College of Surgeons and the American College for the Control of Cancer, presented the Canti movie films showing the growth of cancer cells.

Mrs. William R. Cubbins, chairman of the board of trustees of the institute, had charge of last night's conference.

Evanston Methodist Church to Start Charm School

The Covenant Methodist Episcopal church at 2525 Hartrey avenue, Evanston, is to open a charm school for unmarried girls. Two hundred misses from Northwestern university and Evanston high school have signed up to attend the first class, next Tuesday evening. The lesson will be "What Constitutes Charm?" Another subject in the course, which will continue for six weeks, will be "The Charm in Sex Hygiene." A charm school for men may be introduced later.

HOW TO KEEP FROM GROWING OLD

G. O. P. REGULARS ABANDON FIGHT ON LA FOLLETTE

Wisconsin Man Slated for Finance Committee.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Old guard Republicans in the senate virtually have abandoned hope of keeping Senator Robert M. La Follette [Rep., Wis.] off the finance committee. It now is likely that the Republican committee on committees will name the Wisconsin senator some time next week for membership on this committee, where his father was a thorn in the flesh of the regulars for years on all tariff and revenue legislation.

The finance committee since the death of the elder La Follette has been one of the few senate committees which has been in complete control of the regulars. No radicals have been permitted to obtain a membership on this committee. Senator La Follette has had his eye out for a place on it for two or three years, but until now his ambitions have been thwarted.

Creates Second Vacancy.

The prospective appointment of Senator F. M. Hackett [Rep., Ky.] as ambassador to Germany creates a second vacancy on the finance committee and seems to assure Senator La Follette a place. The Wisconsin senator has been an aspirant for the vacancy created when former Senator Walter E. Edge [Rep., N. J.] was named as ambassador to France. The regulars advanced Senator Guy D. Goff [Rep., W. Va.], who outranked Senator La Follette in seniority, for the place and thought they would be able to force the selection of Goff.

With another vacancy in prospect it looks as though both La Follette and Goff would be given places. Under the seniority system prevailing, the regulars will not easily be able to keep La Follette off the committee. If they did try to do so the radicals would be sure to carry the fight to the floor of the senate.

East's Representatives.

With the transfer of the Edge membership away from the east the eastern Republican members of the finance committee will be Senators David A. Reed [Pa.], Frank L. Greene [Vt.], Henry W. Keyes [N. H.], and Hiram Bingham [Conn.]. Western Republicans already on the committee are Senators Reed Smoot [Utah], James E. Watson [Ind.], James C. Couzens [Mich.], Charles S. Deneen [Ill.], and Samuel M. Shortridge [Cal.]. Counting the Edge and Sackett vacancies, there are 11 Republican places and eight Democrats.

If Senator La Follette goes on the committee the regular will control by the narrow margin of one vote when he lines up with the Democrats. If Senator Couzens, who frequently opposes treasury policies, also votes with the Democrats, the regular Republicans will be in the minority. Several other important committee vacancies are to be filled by the Republican committee on committees.

Jones to Be Shifted.

Senator Wesley L. Jones [Rep., Wash.] will be shifted from the chairmanship of the commerce committee to the Warren vacancy in the chairmanship of the appropriations committee.

SEAWAY SCHEME WASTE OF MONEY, MONTREAL TOLD

Canada Experts Probe Plan, Then Rap It.

BY STANLEY JACKSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 2.—Montreal's board of trade last August asked two prominent Canadian engineers to investigate the St. Lawrence deep waterways scheme in all its bearings and submit an opinion to the board as to its soundness.

The two engineers, Henry Holgate and J. A. Jamieson, in submitting their report, recommend that the board oppose the project, declaring the new seaway unnecessary and uneconomical.

Canal Improvements Urged.

The engineers also ask the trade body to urge the government to improve the existing canal system, to increase its efficiency up to the standard of the Saulanges and Lachine canals. They further recommend inquiry into the economic situation of Montreal harbor and the grain transfer system at Port Colborne, with a view of urging on the government such improvements so that charges on grain in transit will be reduced to a reasonable figure.

The engineers pointed out Canada has expended a large sum of public money on the construction of the St. Lawrence and Welland canals, which are now being used only to 65 per cent of their capacity.

They comment that the demand for wreat in the orient is growing, which means shipment from Vancouver, that the United States is gradually reaching the point when it will practically cease to be an exporter of wheat, and that 85 per cent of cargoes on the St. Lawrence waterways is composed of wheat.

Old Route Satisfactory.

"In many discussions on the St. Lawrence river project, especially from American sources, this work is referred to as if it were a new route for grain from the west, and many have ignored the fact that existing canals have provided for about thirty years a very satisfactory route for carrying all grain offered for transport," the engineers say.

"The traffic in 1928 was 7,321,348 tons and the capacity of present canals is said to be 12,000,000 tons, or an increase of over 50 per cent with present facilities.

"It is a fact that western grain reaching Chicago is mostly carried east by railway, and that lakes and canals carry the remainder and what has already proved to be a commercial fact will likely continue for economic and seasonal reasons, so that a 50 per cent increase over the 1928 tonnage may be very problematical."

START HEARINGS IN DISPUTE OF RAIL WORKERS

Arbitration of a wage and working dispute between 800 union employés of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad and the company was begun yesterday before Superior Judge William J. Lindsay. Judge Lindsay was selected as the third member of the board to sit with Bernard J. Fallon, vice president in charge of operations, attorney for the railroad, and O. D. Zimring, attorney for the union, which is division 900 of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employés of America.

The dispute began last June 1 with the expiration of a contract between the company and its employés. The company sought an extension of the contract and the employés made demands for salary increases and improved working conditions.

The union is asking an increase for motormen and conductors from 72 and 78 cents an hour to 78 and 85 cents an hour. Conductor-collectors now receiving 65 cents an hour ask 77 to 80 cents; brakemen-collectors, from 65 cents to 72 and 75 cents. The increase asked is proportionate with ticket agents, baggage masters, train callers, towermen, switch tenders, flagmen, and gatemen.

COL. McCORMICK TALKS ON SEAWAY IN NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, La., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Neither New Orleans nor Chicago should permit "a smoke screen of disingenuous pretense to be raised before their eyes" by the forces that are fighting to keep the great river transportation systems of the St. Lawrence and the Mississippi from being joined by the Chicago canal into the Illinois river, Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, told the members council of the New Orleans Association of Commerce at the luncheon today in the St. Charles hotel at which he was the guest of honor.

"Since some will deem the city of Chicago partisan in this question," said Col. McCormick, "and since the opponents of this linking of the Great Lakes and the Mississippi river may also be deemed partisan in that they do not wish commerce to go down the Mississippi river, my only suggestion is that this matter be decided by those who are wholly impartial and unpartisan. I do not believe that the engineering dicta of 1866 should be binding today."

Col. McCormick reviewed the entire history of the fight for a canal linking the Great Lakes and the Illinois river and thus, the Mississippi river. He said it had always seemed to him only simple and logical that from Chicago the water route south down the Mississippi to New Orleans should be used for grain cargoes when the northern route via the St. Lawrence was frozen over. He said the debate about the possible lowering of the level of the Great Lakes had only developed since the harnessing of Niagara Falls, and the worry of certain "public spirited citizens" over a possible change in the landscape interested commercial organizations had been back of the recent litigation endeavoring to halt the Chicago canal on the plea that it would lower the level of the Great Lakes.

NAVY SECRETARY SAYS U. S. SEEKS A "JUST" PARITY

Battleship Described as Leading Weapon.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 2.—(AP)—The navy is desirous of peace and would welcome any arrangement whereby competitive building of ships by nations could be eliminated, Charles Francis Adams, secretary of the navy, said today in an address before the Boston chamber of commerce. He will be one of the United States' representatives at the coming London naval conference.

The secretary was brief in his remarks on naval parity, which will be the chief topic of discussion at the London conference. For the United States navy, he said it "would be glad to have that parity a real, just parity." He explained the necessity of maintaining the navy with the statement that it was "but reasonable insurance" for the nation's overseas commerce.

Battleship Defended.

The battleship he described as a very important and probably leading weapon of the modern navy. "It is fair to say," he said, "that the battleship is the far more economical way of throwing about high explosives."

Concerning the relative value of aircraft and battleships, Secretary Adams said every navy believed the battleship would continue to be an important part of national defense despite the rapid development of aircraft. He pointed out that a ship could continue to remain at the scene of battle whereas it would be necessary for aircraft to return to their carrier or base for fuel or ammunition.

Naval Men Praised.

After praising the men under him, Adams said, "I want you to see the men as I see them and not as you see them on Boston common. And perhaps all of those men are not navy men; perhaps they are coast guards."

His reference to the coast guard produced a laugh.

And Spend 27 Millions in Chicago Alone.

BY PAUL POTTER.

What! Ice cream dishes, plain and fancy, still a favorite dessert in snow stricken January? If the slogan unofficially adopted by those who mix the cream, the sugar, and all manner of attractive flavorings for Chicago's ice cream appetite be true, then this concoction is truly becoming the "American's favorite year 'round food."

Of course, they assure us, there is still no strenuous period of frantic freezing to supply the winter demand that always takes place during the months of June, July, August and September, when 60 per cent of the annual "make" of more than thirteen million gallons takes place in metropolitan Chicago. But with fancy molds for holiday occasions, pies and cakes of all sorts made from ice cream and sweet, colored frostings, as well as the constantly growing demand for sundaes and malted milks in the winter time, more and more people keep their desire for ice cream, no matter what the weather may be.

Eighty-four Dishes Each.

The annual ice cream expenditure of Chicagoans has been estimated by R. L. Hammond, secretary of the Ice Cream Institute of Chicago, to total $27,000,000. With an estimated consumption averaging 3½ gallons per person annually, the average citizen seems to be getting at least eighty-four dishes of ice cream a year. The consumption in recent years has been mounting at a rate of about a tenth of a gallon per person, indicating the rising popularity of ice cream among adults as well as children.

"Improvements in the manufacturing processes of ice cream in the comparatively few years it has been made on a large scale in Chicago now insure us one of the best supplies to be found in any city in the country," vouchsafes Mr. Hammond. "Refrigeration, pasteurization, and other features that produce pure, smooth ice cream to be had at every street corner, have been the primary influences." Strict sanitary regulations and the competition between rival producers have also helped along the advent of this high quality supply.

Modern Methods Help.

First there was the brine freezer, making it possible to produce larger quantities of ice cream than the former hand crank, home owner type of freezer. Then came perfection of the mechanical hardening room, where ice cream could be stored until fully frozen to bring out the best in flavors and keep them that way. There followed the mechanically chilled boxes in drug stores and confectioneries, and lastly the mechanically refrigerated trucks, thus keeping ice cream frozen until served to the ultimate consumers. Now, with refrigeration in the home, families can keep ice cream always at hand for company or a quick dessert, thus completing the chain of frigidity from maker to consumer.

One interesting machine now used in preparation of this food is called the homogenizer, which beats the cream quickly by pressure, breaking down the fat globules into smaller particles, and adding materially to the smoothness and uniform texture of modern ice creams. Up to date makers have laboratory men watching constantly the chances of improving the quality of their output. It pays the housewife to give attention to the source of her ice cream purchases, since there is still quite a difference in ice creams made by different concerns.

Forty-three Factories Here.

There are forty-three ice cream factories operating in Chicago, twelve of which produce about 65 per cent of the city's total. These firms make and pasteurize their own ice cream "mixture," in the country, mostly in Wisconsin, and ship it into the city plants for freezing and storage.

The Chicago department of health maintains close supervision of all materials entering into the ice cream of the city, and all cows on farms supplying Chicago factories are tuberculin tested. Each employé is also required by the health department to pass a physical examination.

Oscar Lundquist Named New Swedish Consul Here

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 2. — (AP) — Sweden's new consul in Chicago will be Oscar Constans Lundquist, an attaché of the department of foreign affairs. He now is head of the bureau for settlement of estates of Swedes who have died abroad. Mr. Lundquist, who was born in 1891, will succeed Carl von Dardel, who has been promoted to Swedish consul-general at Batavia, Java.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Danish Pastry.

In the publication called, "The Nation's Chefs," for December, 1929, there is an article on Danish pastry as demonstrated by Christian Sorensen, with pictures of this pastry maker and of his work.

The article is brief and reads: "Christian Sorensen is a good baker. What's more, he originally comes from Copenhagen, Denmark, where he learned his trade. Putting two and two together, we reasoned that he must know something about Danish pastries. We were correct. As we like to go to authentic sources for our information, we went to him to tell us all about Danish pastry, taking the camera along.

"The dough for Danish pastry is similar in treatment to puff paste. You take a good stiff yeast dough, but take less butter than for puff paste, roll it not only three times three. Let the dough repose sometime between the intervals, then roll it out. Otherwise the treatment is much the same as in the case of ordinary sweet rolls."

Under the picture which shows some pieces of dough with filling on them, it says: "The dough is rolled out, cut into various shapes, the pieces filled with various fillings, almond paste, marmalade, cocoa and nut filling, etc. The pieces are folded or rolled into sundry shapes—pockets, crescents—as the fancy of the good baker may dictate." Under another picture which shows pieces that have been filled and closed and slashed on one side to effect a finger shaped appearance, and ready for the oven, it says: "When filled and cut, the pieces are allowed to rise again. When ready they are brushed with beaten eggs and sprinkled with crushed nuts, prior to being consigned to the oven."

Then we have a picture of the baker, who seems to be putting his pan into the oven on a long wooden shovel, and then another picture, under which it says: "The job finished to the satisfaction of the master. Right after being taken out of the oven, the pastry is brushed with icing, flavored in various ways. A few drops of lemon juice improve the icing wonderfully. Avoid cheap, synthetic flavors."

Twelfth Night Cakes Furnish Real Amusement

They Contain Hidden Symbols.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Jan. 7 is St. Distaff's day. She is not a listed saint. On her day the women of the household resume their spinning—the Christmas holidays now being over with Twelfth day, Jan. 6, celebrations. She or her representatives also resume their authority.

The distaff, you know, was once supposed to be a perfect—note "perfect"—symbol of the activities, sphere and prerogatives of women. The word survives entertainingly in the expression "distaff side," which we always fancy men use with a sort of wry smile conceding so that female authority does exist.

As Christmas eve is a time of great celebration so has Twelfth day or Twelfth night been, in the past, and in a few isolated cases now, the time of great celebrations, the chief surviving representative of which is Twelfth cake, or bean cake, or, better, the "King cake." Custom has also given this other names, for instance, "Baddeley cake."

Baddeley was an actor who left a fund for defunct actors when he died in 1794 and also three pounds sterling to be expended on a cake and accompaniments for each Twelfth night in perpetuity. A news item last year told of a current observing of the custom, which has been going on annually since Baddeley died. And perhaps you read the other day how Porto Rico once celebrated Twelfth night as we do Christmas, but now has accepted Christmas time, which fact makes some people sorry and willing to try to restore the old custom there.

Epiphany, a Church Festival.

The religious name for the secular Twelfth day is Epiphany, and there is much to be found about this as a church festival day—Roman and Anglican—but it is not so easy to find out about the layman side of festivals, which in one case have been described thus: "Many special observances were connected with the day, which under the name of Twelfth night, in England, closed the Christmas festivities. The date for Easter for the year is on this day solemnly announced to the faithful in the Roman Catholic church. The king of England still observes the day of the Epiphany in Chapel Royal by offerings of gold, frankincense and myrrh at the altar."

In New Orleans, and other parts of the world where French influences prevail, the bean cake is called the "King cake," because the man who gets the cut containing the bean is elected king for the Mardi Gras season, whereupon he elects a queen. For more than one reason I am sure this is entirely a French and not a Spanish influence. And I was further assured of it the other day when I picked up a collection of De Maupassant stories—in the French—and read one with the title "Mademoiselle Perle," by fortunate chance, since it was one in the middle of the book.

It is a story of what a guest on Twelfth night discovered in a family which lived almost exclusively to itself, after he was the one to get the little china doll no bigger than a bean, which replaced the latter in the family's annual "le gateau des Rois" [the cake of the kings]. Usually in this home papa got the bean each and every year, or translating directly:

"On each year M. Chantal was king. . . . He infallibly found the bean in his part of the cake and he proclaimed Madame Chantal queen."

In an English cook book, these many years out of print, though of the nineteenth century, there is a dainty picture of a Twelfth cake. It has charming dancing figures on the top, dressed to match the red and green decorations, and in the center there is a little Christmas tree. Unfortunately, the section containing the recipe for this cake was lost or stolen before I got the book. Some queen cake recipes are there, which are pound cakes with almonds.

It is remarkable that Maria Parloa, the famous Yankee teacher of cooking and writer of many cook books, should, as early as 1837 or earlier, have revived this cake and told about the celebration, because at that date Christmas celebrations were not wholly popular in that portion of the country as yet. She begins: "There has been a tendency in late years to revive old customs and amusements, and among the ancient divertissements that have come into favor is the cutting of the Twelfth night cake—the twelfth day after Christmas, sometimes called little Christmas. A long time ago the observances of Twelfth night were strictly of a religious character, but they changed materially, and the feature of the holiday became the election of the king of the bean. A rich or plain round cake was made, containing a bean, a pea, and a clove; and it was iced and handsomely ornamented. When the family and their friends had gathered in the evening, the cake was cut; and he who got the bean was declared king, and she who found the pea was queen, while the possessor of the clove was called the knave. . . ."

Miss Parloa's Recipe.

Miss Parloa tells how, after games, etc., were added, the cake still held the prominent place, and why she favors a plain one, and then she gives a recipe we believe is reasonable, and then because we have tried out some of Miss Parloa's cake recipes and they have proved excellent: "One cup of butter, two of granulated sugar, four of flour, one of milk, five eggs, the rind and juice of a lemon, a teaspoon of cream of tartar, and half a teaspoon of soda. For the decoration there will be required three cups of powdered sugar, the whites of three eggs, one tablespoon of lemon juice, half a pound of French candied cherries, and a quarter of a pound of angelica, unless the same amount of French candied almonds be preferred. There should be three fancy figures to represent the king, queen, and knave; and for the center of the cake there should be a crown or Christmas tree.

"To make the cake, beat the butter to a cream, and gradually beat into it the sugar and the lemon juice and the grated rind. Add the milk, then the eggs, well beaten, and finally the flour, thoroughly mixed with the soda and cream of tartar. Have at hand a large round pan, well buttered, and pour the mixture into it. Drop the bean and clove into one side of the cake, marking their location by two clean broom straws, and drop the pea into the other side . . . bake in a moderate oven for an hour and a quarter."

There follow this description two long paragraphs of how to ice and decorate the cake. The angelica and cherries are stuck into the icing to make two wreaths around the top and sides. The figures of the king and knave are placed on the bean and clove side—these items never being lost sight of by the worker.

In the picture mentioned, which is in color, the colors are red and green, so Miss Parloa's cake is evidently authentic from the English standpoint, and in telling how to serve it she declares it a genuine Twelfth cake, and that nobody should get the erroneous impression that it is difficult to make.

Table Laid with Mathematical Precision

Small Details of Table Laying Are Important

Perfect Picture Results if Care Is Taken.

BY SALLY LUNN.

Let me remind you who are striving to be discriminating setters of tables of the importance of considering the numerous comparatively minor details in this particular phase of your household duties. Don't make the mistake of losing sight of the minute items in an excess of enthusiasm to create novel and unusual table settings. The entire effect of a beautifully arranged table may be destroyed in the eyes of a discerning critic by one small fault resulting from carelessness.

Certainly the absolute immaculateness of the linen, silver, and glassware is of paramount importance, and good systems of dishwashing, silver polishing, and laundering should be an inherent part of your household regimen. Servants should be taught the best ways of caring for your possessions, or if you do your own labors of this kind, as many women prefer to, you can evolve by study and experimentation the best methods for keeping your things at their loveliest.

Experience Is Valuable.

Most schools of domestic science include in their curricula instruction in these matters, or if mother is your cooking school teacher she will have tried and true schemes for polishing, laundering, and ironing that you will do well to master. The new housekeeper who believes that all keeping a house entails is good common sense, and scoffs at the leavening process of experience, usually discovers that there are many tricks to the trade. If she is adaptable and clever she will set to learning some of them before the shine is off her new silver and her trousseau linens have acquired a dingy look.

Also in the realm of the little things to be considered is the problem of deciding what not to put on the table. An extra little dish of something or other may detract from the general appearance to an unbelievable degree.

Of course, it isn't possible for all of us to have complete and matching sets of table appointments. It isn't essential either, but with a heterogeneous collection of silver, china, and glassware it is well to be wary in combining them. The requisite supply of silver, drinking glasses, linen, and plates must be assembled, certainly, but steer clear of the addition of unnecessary adjuncts when they do not harmonize with the general ensemble of your table. For example, I think it better to forego a relish if it is necessary to place it on the table in an odd dish that merely clutters the picture. It can be served separately if desirable.

Individual cigaret trays are most attractive if they fit in with the general scheme, but if they don't they are decidedly unattractive. Salt cellars also should be decorative in themselves and in relation to the whole effect as well. All extras such as these mentioned should be considered critically with an eye as to whether or not they add to or detract from the setting; and, of course, care should be taken to place them precisely and carefully when they are used.

When you wash out handkerchiefs, try pinning them, four or five double on clothes hangers before hanging them out on the clothes line. This saves having cold fingers, as the hangers are quickly brought in, and the clothespins taken out in a warm kitchen.

PRESIDENT-ELECT OF MEXICO WILL VISIT CITY TODAY

President-elect Pascual Ortiz Rubio of Mexico and members of his staff will arrive early this morning over the Michigan Central to spend two days in Chicago before returning to Mexico.

The visitor will be accompanied by Dr. Jose M. Puig Cassauranz, governor of the federal district of Mexico City; Lieut. Col. Hernandez Chazaca, his private secretary; and Rafael Quintanilla, secretary of the Mexican embassy at Washington. They will be met at the station by Rafael Aveleyra, Mexican consul, and his staff.

Official receptions will be avoided, the consul said yesterday. However, the Mexican president-elect will make a visit to the city hall today and will be shown the city's sights. Tomorrow he and his staff will be guests of the Chicago Association of Commerce at a private lunch at the Union League club, attended by thirty-five outstanding financial, commercial, and professional leaders of the city. The party will leave Chicago Sunday.

RADICALS PLAN U. S. BOUNTY ON SUGAR IN TARIFF

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—(AP)—Senator Borah of Idaho disclosed today that senate Republican independents seriously considered supporting a sugar bounty to apply to American producers of sugar alone as an amendment to the pending tariff bill.

The Idaho senator is preparing the bounty amendment but is not ready to say what figure will be proposed. He said its purpose would be to extend benefit to American producers, and for that reason Philippine sugar growers would be excluded.

The sugar schedule in the tariff bill probably will be reached soon after the senate resumes debate next week.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 2.—Col. Nelson Morris of Chicago today appealed, in the Versailles courts, the temporary allocation of $1,000 monthly allowance to his wife, Jean Aubert, the actress, pending divorce proceedings. A hearing was set for Feb. 14. Col. Morris claims the French courts are incompetent because he is legally domiciled in Chicago.

YOUTHS ARRESTED AFTER HOLDUP.

Frank Moore, 17 years old, 3054 North Kedzie avenue, and Irwin Schmidt, 17 years old, 4852 Flournoy street, were arrested by two policemen yesterday a few minutes after they had robbed Carl Krenn, 4159 West 21st street, of $114, and several shirts he had received as Christmas presents. Krenn was held up at 21st street and Crawford avenue.

GOVERNOR PLANS CONFERENCE WITH NEW PARK HEADS

Predict 'No Politics' Plea from Emmerson.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Gov. Emmerson is coming to Chicago for a talk with the new Lincoln park and west park commissioners whose appointments he made public on New Year's eve. Both of the new boards held informal meetings yesterday. It is expected the governor will be here on Monday and will talk over policies he wants to see put into force.

The engagement was made at the session of the Lincoln park board. Warren Wright, who is scheduled to become president, presided at the gathering in the board rooms and told his associates of the governor's intention to meet with them.

One of the bits of gossip about the governor's probable message to the new boards was a yarn that he intended to tell them that he does not expect or desire them to play politics; that this field may be left to him to control the superintendents and other employes, and that all the commissioners need to do is to maintain and improve the parks, handling their affairs on a strictly businesslike basis.

West Park Men File Bonds.

Six of the seven members of the west park board headed by W. R. James—the absentee being Theodore W. Bunte, who is in California—did go before Judge Klarkowski and take their oaths and file their bonds of $25,000 each, but when they went out to the board rooms the program was of a social nature. There were flowers and songs, but no business.

Discuss Outer Drive Bridge.

One specific subject that aroused their interest was the proposed outer drive bridge, a phase of this that stirred discussion being the question of the removal of the long existing temporary street car line running along the seawall and out to the Navy pier. It was put in under a previous Thompson administration for the sake of the Pageant of Progress and never has been removed.

The previous administration could not obtain favorable action from the Small utilities commission, but a different attitude is hoped for from the Emmerson utilities body because the line would interfere materially, engineers say, with handling the 20,000 or 30,000 motor cars expected to use the big boulevard bridge daily.

L. S. GIMBEL SR., STORE OWNER, IS DEAD AT 63

New York, Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Louis S. Gimbel Sr., one of the executive heads of the department store of Gimbel Bros. until his retirement from active participation in its policies in 1923, died today at his home on Park avenue. Although he had been ill for a long time his death was unexpected.

Mr. Gimbel had been vice president and director of the store, and since his retirement retained his place on the directorate. He was in his 63d year.

Mr. Gimbel was born in Philadelphia on Oct. 16, 1867, and after his graduation from Villa Nova college joined with his brothers in the management of their store at Vincennes, Ind., the other stores owned by them being situated in Philadelphia and Milwaukee. In 1896 he was transferred to the Milwaukee store, and in 1909, with his brother, Isaac, he came to New York, and founded the store here.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Second Fiddle

Wathall Wins Elmer's Praise with "Mosaics"

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Last evening, with its varied forms of cheerful and excellent musical entertainment, was a pleasant one for the radio audience.

Alfred Wathall's Orchestral Musical Mosaics may have required some musical experience to entirely appreciate their worth, though certainly not to enjoy them as musical entertainment. The program was from W-G-N, 8:30 to 9. These pieces were the gems of the earlier centuries arranged in Mr. Wathall's own masterful way. Still better, they were melodic gems that have lived through the centuries, finally to be orchestrated and enriched by Mr. Wathall so that we now have them in a more lovely form than ever before. I think that Mr. Wathall, who conducted also, must have suspected that the "All Thorugh the Night" number in the early part of the concert had made a deep impression, for it was also used to bring the concert to a close.

Songsters Al and Pete are unquestionably making a great popular hit with their new—and I believe it is an entirely new—original feature from WBBM, 9:30 to 10. Their stunt is to sing, make a stab at singing, or fail on any song requested by the radio audience. They have their misses, yet their number of wins is large.

There was a large amount of dance music on the air; not so much of the 1, 2, 3, 4 commonplace toot-toot stuff, but the syncopation type in its progressive march out of the jazz chaos. One of the best of these was a descriptive "Movie" composition by Nat Shilkret on the New York program through KYW, 9 to 10. Richard Crooks, tenor, and Lawrence Tibbett, baritone, both admired in radio, were guest soloists on this program.

The Elmhurst Women's Choral club, Helen Leefeit directing, WLS, 9:35 to 10, presented an interesting program of choral music from many nations.

Ferdinand Bauman to Be Buried This Afternoon

Funeral services for Ferdinand Bauman, an employé of Mathias Klein & Son, 3200 Belmont avenue, for 57 years, will be held at 1:30 p. m. today at a chapel at 3653 Fullerton avenue. H. H. LAMPERT'S DEATH LAID TO HEART ATTACK

Henry H. Lampert's death yesterday was held by Coroner's Physician E. L. Benjamin to have been due to heart disease, although police at first suspected holiday drinking was responsible. Mr. Lampert was 43 years old and a wealthy manufacturer with a known penchant for drinking parties, during several of which he became well known to the police.

He was found dead in his home at 201 East Delaware place by Dr. James H. Appelman, who had been summoned by a nurse on duty in the Lampert apartment. Police were told he had "been drinking heavily for a week."

Files showed that Lampert was arrested on several charges of disorderly conduct in 1922, and in 1925 his wife fired several shots at him when he made an early morning call on her after they had been separated for two years. Soon afterward he was present in an apartment when one woman stabbed another over his attentions. Last year he made a settlement of $30,000 on his wife and they were divorced.

DR. EDGAR FYKE, POLITICIAN AND COAL MAN, DIES

Dr. Edgar E. Fyke, 61 years old, of Centralia, prominent Illinois coal operator and politician, died on Tuesday at a veterans' bureau hospital in San Antonio of spinal meningitis, according to word received here yesterday by business associates. He was wintering in the south when he was stricken a few days ago.

Dr. Fyke was a delegate to the last state constitutional convention and was a member of the state board of equalization during the term of former Gov. Dunne. He was president of the Marion County Coal company and active in the affairs of the Illinois Coal Operators' association, having served as a member of the board of directors. He was a member of the Chicago Athletic association.

Besides his widow, he is survived by three daughters, Mrs. John R. Montgomery Jr. of Chicago, Mrs. Theodore Geroudi of Centralia, and Mrs. Norman Waite of Boston. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at Centralia.

Carrie R. Smith, Teacher for Half Century, Is Dead

Funeral services for Miss Carrie R. Smith, 84 years old, 410 South Loomis street, a school teacher in Chicago for half a century, will be held at 1 p. m. tomorrow at a chapel at 3834 Irving Park boulevard, with burial at Rosehill cemetery. Miss Smith died on Wednesday in a hospital at La Porte, Ind., after a brief illness. She had been a resident of Chicago since 1852 and began her teaching career shortly after the civil war. She retired 15 years ago. She is survived by one brother, E. K. Smith.

RITES ARE HELD FOR C. P. TAFT OHIO PUBLISHER

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 2.—(AP)—Cincinnati today paid final tribute to Charles P. Taft, philanthropist and publisher, who died Tuesday at the age of 86. Mr. Taft, founder of the Cincinnati Times-Star and its publisher until his death, had been ill for more than a year.

Funeral services were held at Christ Episcopal church, with the Rev. Frank Nelson, rector, officiating. Bishop Boyd Vincent of Cincinnati, pronounced the benediction.

Mr. Taft served in congress, and took an active part in the candidacy of his half-brother, William Howard Taft, now chief justice of the United States, when the latter was a successful candidate for President.

The chief justice accompanied by his wife and several relatives, arrived here this morning to attend the funeral.

Rites for J. W. Gibson at Masonic Hall Today

Funeral services for John W. Gibson, county commissioner, who died on Tuesday, will be held at 2 p. m. today at Constellation hall of the Masonic lodge, 3900 North Damen avenue, where the body will lie in state from 10 o'clock until the hour for the funeral. Interment will be in Memorial Park cemetery. The county building will be closed in tribute to the late commissioner so far as demands on various offices make it possible. The services will be attended by the county commissioners.

Geo. Edward Woodberry, Author and Educator, Dies

Beverly, Mass., Jan. 2.—(AP)—George Edward Woodberry, author and educator, died here tonight. He was especially noted for his works on Edgar Allan Poe and Nathaniel Hawthorne and his "Americans in Literature." He was 74 years old. Harvard graduate, he was professor of English at the University of Nebraska, professor of comparative literature at Columbia university, and was given honorary degrees by Harvard, Amherst and Western Reserve. His first work was published in 1883.

Funeral services will be held at the home of his father, A. Ferdinand, 1441 Irving avenue, on Monday. Interment will be at Waldheim cemetery.

FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TODAY FOR EMIL EIGER

Funeral services for Emil Eiger, a resident of Chicago since 1892, who died on Wednesday night at his home at the Chicago Beach hotel, will be held at 827 East 47th street at 10:30 a. m. today. Mr. Eiger, head of the E. Eiger & Brothers Manufacturing company, 1249 Wabash avenue, and the Eiger Realty company, was born in Posen, Germany, in 1866.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Thekla Eiger, and two brothers, Joseph and Oscar, of Chicago. Dr. Louis Mann will conduct the services. Burial will be in Rosehill cemetery.

DEATH NOTICES

In Memoriam.

BOOS—In sweetest memory of my beloved husband, George W. Boos, who passed away one year ago today, Jan. 3, 1929.
HIS WIFE.

GREENBERG—Flora Greenberg. In loving memory of our darling angel sister, who passed away one year ago today.
YOUR LOVING SISTERS.

GRENBOCK—Bertha Grenrock. In loving memory of our dear mother who passed away 3 years ago today.
SONS AND DAUGHTERS.

HADERLEIN—John Haderlein. In fond and everlasting memory of our beloved husband and father, who passed away one year ago, Jan. 3.
In the graveyard softly sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one we loved dearly,
In his lonely, silent grave.
Loving father, true and kind,
No one on earth like you we'll find;
For us he's always did his best,
God grant him peace and eternal rest.
Gone but not forgotten,
Nor will he ever be.
For as long as life and memory last
We will always think of thee.
FONDLY MISSED BY WIFE AND CHILDREN.

KIFFERLY—In loving memory of my mother, Blanche E. Kifferly, who passed away 9 years ago.
BLANCHE KIFFERLY.

KUNZ—In fond and loving remembrance of our beloved father and grandfather, Rudolph Kunz, who passed away 10 years ago today.
WIFE, CHILDREN, AND GRANDCHILDREN.

LANGE—Henry J. Lange. In sad and loving memory of our dearly beloved husband and daddy, who passed away one year ago today, Jan. 3, 1929. "Gone but not forgotten."
LOVING WIFE AND CHILDREN.

PERRONE—Anthony Perrone, Jan. 3, 1929.
If we had seen you at the last
And held your dying hand,
Heard the last sigh from your heart
We would not feel so bad.
We did not know the pains you had.
We did not see you die,
We only knew you went away
And did not say good-by.
LOVING WIFE, CATHERINE, SONS, AND DAUGHTERS.

PORGES—In loving memory of our dear one, Mrs. Eva Porges, who passed away 5 years ago today.
PORGES FAMILY.

SHUTAN—In loving memory of my dear husband and our devoted father, Elias Shutan, who passed away 3 years ago today.
WIFE, DAUGHTERS, AND SON.

ZANDER—Calvin William Zander. In loving memory of our darling babe who passed away one year ago yesterday, Jan. 2.
In the graveyard softly sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies our babe we loved so dearly,
But whom we could not save.
HIS LONESOME MOTHER, DADDY, BROTHER, AND ERNIE JUNIOR.

Bottled Sunshine

—to build her up in weight and vitality

YOUR child's weight and height are, of course, an index to his health. Usually underweight means a lack of vitality and endurance.

For under par children physicians are advising a health-builder long known for its power to renew vitality and to increase general resistance to certain infections.

Authorities find that Bottled Sunshine—good cod-liver oil—helps to bring the underweight child up to normal weight. It gives him new vitality; puts the ruddy color of health into his cheeks.

Bottled Sunshine does this because it is so rich in two essential vitamins—Vitamin D, the "sunshine vitamin" of which children get so little in these modern days of indoor living, and Vitamin A which promotes normal growth and nutrition and increases resistance to many infections.

When they prescribe cod-liver oil, thousands of physicians specify "Squibb's," because it is vitamin-tested and guaranteed as to its content of the health-protecting Vitamins A and D.

Ask your physician about Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil to help your child grow and gain weight as he should. Squibb has a new Mint-flavored Cod-liver Oil which will appeal to the older children especially. You can get it, as well as Squibb's Plain Cod-Liver Oil, at all good drug stores.

Marian Moore Is Engaged to John W. Cross

BY THALIA ——.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Small Moore, whose connections with Chicago continue to entitle them to listing in the Chicago social register, although they have lived in the east for the last ten years, are this morning announcing the engagement of their daughter Marian to John W. Cross, also of New York City.

Miss Moore attended the Ethel Walker school at Simsbury, Conn. After that she spent a year of study in Europe. She was one of last year's debutantes in New York. Her sister, the former Jean Moore, became the bride of Oliver Malcolm Wallop, son of the earl and countess of Portsmouth, last June. The Moores departed from Chicago shortly after the war, having enjoyed a popular and gay career of social prominence here.

Mrs. Moore was a beautiful young matron in Chicago during the war years when she was active in relief work. Mr. Moore served as a dollar a year man in Washington. They built the Lake Forest house that is now owned by the family of the late John R. Thompson. They now own a New York residence at 4 East 66th street, an estate at Roslyn, Long island, and yet another at Palm Beach. The prospective bride is the granddaughter of the late William H. Moore, who with his brother, James Hobart Moore, was well known in the Chicago business world a quarter of a century ago. Mr. Cross is the son of John W. Cross and the late Mrs. Lily Lee Page Cross, members of an important New York family. He attended Yale university, and is a member of Chi Psi society. No date for the wedding has been set.

The Second Assembly is to take place this evening at the Congress hotel. Several of the wives of the younger members of the board of governors who customarily receive will not be in the line this evening because of mourning or illness. Mrs. Donald Ryerson, Mrs. Lester Armour, Mrs. John A. Stevenson, and Mrs. William McCormick Blair are expected to officiate. Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Rogers Jr. and the Howard Linns are among those giving large dinner parties before the ball.

Mrs. Parmalee McFadden's assisting hostesses for the Arts club tea to open two exhibitions this afternoon include Mrs. Graham Aldis, Mrs. Shreve Badger, Mrs. Walter Paepcke, Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Miss Betty Borden, Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Mrs. William E. Clow Jr., Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Duncan Hodges, Mrs. F. L. Lillie, Mrs. R. R. McCormick, Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. Martin A. Ryerson, Mrs. E. N. Eisendrath, Mrs. Leonard Bloomfield, Mrs. Adlai E. Stevenson, Mrs. Martin Schutze, Mrs. Theodore Tieken, Mrs. Charles H. Worcester, and Mrs. Paul Walker. The exhibitions include one of modern drawings and sculpture privately owned by Chicagoans, water colors by Arthur B. Davies, and sculpture by Chana Orloff.

Miss Beatrice Harrison, who is to give a cellist recital at the Playhouse on Sunday, is to be welcomed in Chicago with several entertainments. Mrs. Godfrey Haggard, wife of the British consul general, is to give a luncheon for her today, and this afternoon, Mrs. Hollister Sturgis is to give a small tea at her apartment at 1347 North State street. Tomorrow, Mrs. Chauncey Borland, chairman of the common interests committee of the English Speaking union, is to give a lunch for her at the Casino.

The American Friends of China have invitations out for a tea for Nelson Johnson, American minister to China, next Tuesday afternoon at the Casino.

The Honorable Mrs. Alfred Lyttleton of London, England, who has been attending the Pacific Relations conference in Japan, and her daughter, Lady Crake, are to be visitors here within the fortnight. The English Speaking Union has scheduled a luncheon for them at the Blackstone on Jan. 16. Mrs. Lyttleton is chairman of the common interests committee of the union in London.

The Needlework and Textile Guild of the Art institute begins the new year with ambitious plans for the stimulation of interest in the affairs of the needle and thread. Miss Myners, of the Royal School of Needlework of London, who has been instructing classes on Monday and Thursday mornings all winter, is to give an informal talk on "Stitches Useful in Embroidery" in the Allerton wing of the institute on Saturday, Jan. 11, at 11 o'clock in the morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Cummings of Lake Forest are the parents of an almost New Year's baby, a daughter born on Tuesday at the Chicago Lying-in hospital. The infant is to be named Ruth for her grandmother, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings. Mrs. Cummings is the former Emilie Hoyt, daughter of Mrs. Phelps B. Hoyt.

Mrs. Harold W. Richards of 5343 Harper avenue is to give a tea for her daughter, Miss Jere Richards, who is a sophomore at Wells college, from 4 to 6 o'clock this afternoon at the Woman's Athletic club.

MISS HELEN GARRITY.
[Underwood & Underwood Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick P. Garrity of 8016 Phillips avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen, to Thomas Gordon Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kelly of Rushville, Ind. Miss Garrity is a graduate of St. Mary of the Woods school at Terre Haute, Ind., and Mr. Kelly was graduated from the University of Illinois.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 2.—Mrs. Osborne Craig is at the Barclay before going to Santa Barbara for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Rose left today for California, where they will remain until April 1.

Mrs. Charles L. Mathews will entertain at the Park Lane tomorrow in honor of Miss Marjorie Heather and Henry Davies Roulston, who will be married on Tuesday at St. Bartholomew's church.

Mrs. D. Roger Englar will give a tea dance tomorrow afternoon for her subdebutante daughter, Miss Elizabeth Englar, and a number of her chool friends who are home for the holidays.

Mrs. James Brown Potter, who was at Richmond, Va., over Christmas, has returned home.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Anderson of 4104 Cornelia avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Aleda, to Leslie C. Gawne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gawne of 4738 Kelso avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Dillon of Winnetka announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth Elizabeth, to Byron Bayard Smith, son of Mrs. Byron B. Smith of Chicago. Miss Dillon is a graduate of Northwestern university and a member of Alpha Phi sorority. Mr. Smith attended the University of Illinois where he was a member of Psi Upsilon fraternity.

Society at the Opera

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick's party included Mrs. McCormick's mother, Mrs. Charles Deering, Mrs. David R. Forgan and her two daughters, Mrs. Philip Lyndon Dodge and Mrs. Halstead Freeman of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Hamill and Col. and Mrs. George T. Langhorne were guests of the Charles H. Hamills.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall McCormick had with them Mr. and Mrs. Howard Elting and Mr. and Mrs. Augustus W. Eddy. Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Morse had a family group in their box composed of their two daughters and sons-in-law, the Carl Stibolts and the William S. Covingtons, and Charles H. Morse Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Armour and Mr. and Mrs. John Payne Kellogg were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Bermingham. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Heyworth were hosts to Count Hohenlohe, Mrs. A. J. Kelshure, and Miss Matilda and Miss Evelyn Kelshure. In the George B. Dryden box Mrs. Eastman Dryden had Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zeddes and Frederick C. Collins of Detroit, Mich.

With Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. Welles were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. White and Jay N. Whipple. The Roy D. Keehn box was occupied by a group including Mrs. William Young, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Ready, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Little, and William Young Jr. Mr. and Mrs. James Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Judson, and Edwin D. Krenn were guests of Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ayer were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Kirk. Miss Helen Gilbert, and Henry J. Patten. Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Wiman's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wheelock, Mrs. Farley Hopkins, and Dr. O. F. Van Alyea.

Mrs. Bernard A. Eckhart had as her guests Mrs. Joseph O. Watkins, Mrs. Leroy A. Goddard, Mrs. Charles M. Hewitt, Mrs. George M. Reynolds, and Mrs. Frank M. Smith. With Mr. and Mrs. Max Adler were Miss Lois Adler of New York, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Spitzglass, and Cyrus Adler of Louisville.

Richest British Peer to Wed Daughter of King's Purse Keeper

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 2.—Two society engagements were announced today. The first was that of the duke of Westminster, the richest British peer and owner of the ground on which stands a large section of London, to Miss Lolita Mary Ponsonby, daughter of Sir Frederick Ponsonby, treasurer to King George and keeper of the privy purse. Miss Ponsonby is a cousin of A. A. Ponsonby, Socialist member of parliament, who has just been elevated to the peerage.

The other engagement is that of the countess of Seafield to Mr. Derrick Studley Herbert. The countess is the youngest peeress in her own right, and one of the richest women in England. Mr. Herbert is a rich young man who has a record as an athlete, and who is now engaged in financial work in London.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Allan Hoover has returned to his studies at Harvard after spending the holidays in real gala fashion at the White House, with his parents.

The secretary of the navy went to Boston last night, but Mrs. C. F. Adams is remaining here and tonight headed the receiving line at the ball for the navy relief, an annual affair for Thanksgiving eve, but postponed because of the mourning for Secretary Good. Mrs. Adams was assisted by Mrs. Hughes, wife of the ranking admiral of the navy; and Mrs. Arthur Lee Willard, wife of the commandant of the Washington navy yard. Vice President Curtis, accompanied by his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Gann, were the guests of honor and occupied the presidential box.

WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Homer D. Jones of Oak Park announce the marriage of their daughter, Marion Aileen, to Burton W. Hales, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Willard Hales of Oak Park, on Saturday evening, Dec. 26. The ceremony took place at the First Presbyterian church in Oak Park, and was followed by a reception at the Nineteenth Century Woman's club.

Dinner Gown Offers Aid to Needy Figure

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS. — [Special Correspondence.] —Ladies whose curves are unrestrained, take hope! It will not be necessary to keep on your coat or go to bed in the new long line princess frocks. Paris has found a way out.

Worth, in his midseason collection, is showing dinner dresses, of which our sketch represents the most successful single one, that carry a camouflage making them adaptable to faulty figures. This dinner dress is only a week old and it already has one hundred children. That is to say, Worth has copied it exactly one hundred times for insistent women who heretofore looked upon princesse frocks with a singularly suspicious eye.

That this model is princesse there is not a shade of doubt, with its molded upper portion extending almost to the knees, where well behaved dresses used to end their career. Shirred at the bust and waistline, it makes a point of curves, but curves that are no more ample than those observed in a perfect 36.

However, the little cape, made of the same black georgette as the frock, does the trick of making these lines adaptable to heavier figures and to figures with a backline that is too curved or not curved enough.

All Paris fashions are trending, as it were, in this direction—adding a little cape or a jacket to dresses that fit the figure, and thus making them fitting to any figure.

Particularly interesting is the long skirt of this dress, which begins just above the knees in voluminous gathers and extends to the insteps. Silver fox bands are placed at the sides, while in front and back there are dipping points of the unadorned material. Ankles simply must get under cover after dark—there seems to be no other way out for the woman who would be chic, and dresses lifted in front are getting rare and less fashionable by the minute.

To Head Boys' College.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 2.—(AP)—Maj. Warren E. Dewey of Chicago will become superintendent of Clayton college for boys, succeeding Clarence E. Eddleblute, resigned, it was announced today by Fred Farra, chairman of the board of trustees.

New Way to Hold Lower
FALSE TEETH
Firmly in Place

Do false teeth annoy and bother by dropping and slipping when you eat, talk or laugh? Just sprinkle a little Fasteeth on your plates. This new, tasteless powder holds teeth firm and comfortable. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste. Makes breath pleasant. Get Fasteeth today at Walgreen Drug Stores or any other drug store

Ralph P. Branche, Albany, N. Y.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid Arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid Arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

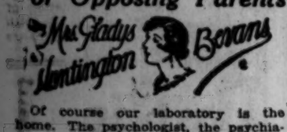
Pity the Child Who Is a Storm Center of Opposing Parents



Of course our laboratory is the home. The psychologist, the psychiatrist, the doctor, the educator—all do their work in the office, the hospital, the clinic, the university, the school.

But when they make tests, question parents, straighten out slight or often alarming behavior problems and serious psychological states they find the trail almost always leading them back—back to the child's home. They keep records, of course, and these records are of great interest. In one survey made the causes of difficulties with children were sorted out. Of these, one of the four leading causes of nervousness and other troubles of children was traced to the conflict between a father and mother over the management of the child.

This may sound to some people like an overstatement of children's sensitiveness to their surroundings. But it isn't. Suppose parents hold almost opposing views as to how their children shall be managed. This is not at all unusual. I know, personally, of several families where the father holds old fashioned, rigid ideas of discipline and the mother is very modern in her views. I know several others where the fathers indulge their children in every way, both as to behavior and material things, while the mother tends to neutralize this by severity.

Well, what happens? In the first place, the children are inwardly bewildered—they don't know half the time where they stand, what is expected of them. Life becomes most complicated for them.

In the second place, they find themselves much of the time a veritable storm center. Antagonism, discussions, even quarrels between the father and mother result and are seldom disguised. Even as an undercurrent children feel the force of the emotional impact.

Also, jealousy of the children's love frequently results, each accusing the other of trying to win it, or of being cruel, or some such absurdity.

Children surrounded by conflict of this kind cannot be untouched by it. It will show itself in some immediate way quite obvious to the onlooker, or in some more subtle or remote way, either then or in later life.

It is not wise to suggest covering up such disagreements, because the tension still exists. And anyhow, it can't be done! But by caring more for the children's good than for their own ego a man and a woman can find common ground for a harmonious management of their children.

MADRID, Jan. 2.—(AP)—Prof. William R. Shepherd of the history department at Columbia university, today successfully urged Premier Primo de Rivera to establish at the University of Seville a chair for teaching Spanish-American subjects.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Gentlemen, Be Seated

WELL, HOW DID YOU LIKE "THE LOVE MARCH"? ISN'T IT A SWELL PICTURE?
YES, THE PICTURE WAS FINE, BUT MY STARS, I'M NEARLY FALLIN' DOWN. I'M SO TIRED OUT!
GOSH, YOU DON'T MEAN TO TELL ME YOU STOOD UP ALL THROUGH THAT MOVING PICTURE??
OH NO, WE HAD SEATS IN TH' THEATRE, BUT COMIN' HOME, TH' CAR WAS TERRIBLY CROWDED!
WEREN'T YOU ABLE TO GET A SEAT??
WELL, I GOT A SEAT ALL RIGHT——BUT POOR MAN HAD TO STAND ALL TH' WAY HOME!

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

Black sheer velvet is always correct for afternoons, dinner or the matinée. And this smart design is appropriate for such a dress. The ecru lace at the neckline and on the sleeves, as well as the cascading jabot frill add a charming touch of femininity. The hips are flat, and the rippling of the circular skirt is cleverly placed low down so as not to interfere with the effect of slenderness. Crêpe satin, Canton crêpe, rayon novelty crêpe and printed sheer velvet are lovely materials to choose from also.

The pattern, No. 3063, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material with ⅝ yard of 20 inch contrasting.

Note—Clotilde patterns are made in New York exclusively for THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE. They are perfect in fit, up to date in style, and the easiest of all patterns to use.

A Friend in Need

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Needs Clothes for Work.

"My husband was out of work for months and now although he has found a position his salary is not enough to keep up. I am working, too, but it takes every penny of our salaries to pay our expenses and the debts incurred while he was unemployed. I have to make a neat appearance to hold my position and I find myself with only one dress for business and I cannot afford to even have it cleaned. If you can get me a dress, size 36 or 38; underwear, a hat, gloves and hose, size 9½, I will be most grateful. We need bedclothes, also. MRS. E. E."

If the expense of Mrs. E.'s clothing can be dispensed with, they will be able, with their combined salaries, to pay their debts and straighten out the deplorable financial condition Mr. E.'s unemployment has brought about. Will you help by giving her the garments you can no longer wear?

Goat's Milk for Baby.

"I am interested in an undernourished child for whom goat's milk has been recommended. The family cannot afford to buy a goat, but as there seems nothing impossible to procure through the corner, will you please ask if there is some one who will donate a nanny goat? I can vouch for the great want such a gift would fill. MRS. G. E."

German, Russian, Mexican Art on Show at Institute

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Sculpture by a German, other sculpture by a Russian, and drawings and lithographs by a Mexican present three nations in aspects that arouse the keenest interest. Georg Kolbe is the German artist and his exhibit at the Art institute includes a number of graceful full length figures.

The sculpture by Numa Patlagean, the Russian sculptor of French ancestry, is as different from that of Georg Kolbe as well can be. Patlagean submits in nearly every case just the head; Kolbe the full figure. Patlagean made a sensation with his exhibit in the east and at the Art institute it is creating a vast amount of enthusiastic appreciation. These are unusually lovely portraits. The abstract heads are equally fascinating. Serious or smiling, these faces make a gallery of great charm, difficult to forget. The sculptor employs rare woods for much of his work and marble now and again. In both mediums his gentle, exquisite skill, his sensitive reaction to personality, and his vast variety of concept reach rich fruition.

The third foreigner to be welcomed at the Art institute is the Mexican, José Clemente Orozco, who deals in many of his sketches with the recent revolutions in Mexico. They are graphic cartoons giving voice to the horror, fear, and ghastliness of civil war. In a few there is pathos, in some beauty walking in the robes of tragedy. His work is powerful, dramatic, and brutal. Fighting between brothers is his theme and no light touch disturbs the grim atmosphere that goes with these people from the battlefield to the grave. He has not the thrilling imagination of Goya, but there is a resemblance between some of his drawings and the spirit of Goya as illustrated in the Spaniard's great series of lithographs illustrating the horrors perpetrated in the devastating peninsula war.

These exhibitions will continue until Jan. 26.

To Celebrate Tuesday.

The fifth anniversary of Jewish colonization in soviet Russia will be celebrated next Tuesday evening with a special performance at the Central Park theater, Roosevelt road near Central Park avenue. Hilda Burke, dramatic soprano of the Chicago Civic Opera company, will sing; the Freiheit Dramatic society will present a one act drama, and a soviet movie production will be shown.

Woman Writes Sad Story of a Father Who Hates His Son

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"The first five of my nine years of married life were awfully happy ones. Then I told my husband we were to have a baby. I had longed so for one and I was beside myself with joy. My husband does not like children, but I felt sure that if we had one of our own he just couldn't help but love it.

"He was furious when I told him. As the days passed he remained irritable and cross. For weeks he refused to speak to me except when absolutely necessary. He felt that I had no right having a baby when he did not wish one and insisted that I not go through with it. This request I refused. Why, I had looked forward to and hoped and planned for a baby for years! His attitude was a bitter disappointment.

"I had the baby, a boy, now 3 years old, and I am both mother and father to him. My husband has no interest in nor affection for his boy. He never speaks to Bobby unless to reprimand him harshly. It irritates him to have the child about and the days he spends at home are miserably unhappy ones for Bobby and me. It seems so wrong to force Bobby to continue in this atmosphere.

"I suggested to my husband that we separate. He refused absolutely. He insists that he still loves me and cannot live without me. He wants to send Bobby to live with my grandmother, twelve hundred miles away, and says that we could then be happy again. I could not part with the little fellow and my husband has no right to ask such a thing of me.

"What has happened now is that I have grown bitter toward my husband, and love for him is gone. His kisses and attentions are positively repulsive to me. It is all such a horrible nightmare. Isn't there some way out?"

What a nightmare of a man that is to have to deal with! Is there any way out but the way of parting? An abnormal character, the man is one for examination and maybe help from a scientific searcher after behavior causes.

The truth is that there are men who do not want children as there are women who do not want them.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Try to Win Her.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a young man, and in love, but I doubt whether or not she wants me. How can I find out? BROKEN HEARTED BILL."

Make up your mind you'll win her, Bill—then get busy and make yourself so agreeable and thoughtful she'll come to depend upon you.

Girl Speaks First.

"Dear Miss Blake: When a boy and girl meet who should say hello first? "WILLIE."

The young lady is the one who should speak first.

How Do Your Arms Look in a Low Cut Gown? Need Help?

A soft arm but not a jelly one is what is needed with that heavenly black satin formal dress. A reasonable amount of firmness must be expected of an arm as well as of character. And you get them both in pretty much the same way—exercising the will power. You have to exercise will power before you can get an arm to pick up a dumbbell or its equivalent in muscle hardening.

Of course, if you didn't lose all your money in the market and Louise, the efficient masseuse, is still within your beck and call, you're lucky. Massage is fine to keep that upper arm, so susceptible to fat, in presentable evening gown shape.

I don't much see the point of advocating home massage for reducing. You've got to put too much strength into it for the average woman, and, besides, she is not, as a rule, ambidextrous enough for the work, nor is she enough of a gymnast to get around to the backs of the arms. But if you can afford one of those women who heed not your cries to go easy you can get the arms molded nicely indeed.

Some women have tried wrapping rubber bands about the arms while they worked away strenuously at a punching bag, and the exercise certainly is good for the arm muscles. But, again, most women haven't punching bags, and if father came home and caught them training with one he might just turn around and take to the tall timbers at once.

Of course, there is one thing I think women generally ought to take to more open heartedly, and that is the regular reducing and body building places where you do get skilled direction for ailing muscles and fat burdened ones. There's more fun in working with some one than working alone on exercises, and the money and time might better be spent where improvement is needed in this sort of atmosphere than where it is often dawdled away.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

MRS. D. M.: NO LOCAL TREATMENT is known to restore color to the hair. Much can be done to retard the graying by giving special attention to your general health and extra local care to the hair, brushing it morning and night, also massaging the scalp.

O. R.: YOU CAN'T MASSAGE FAT on the cheeks as the plumpness of cheeks depends upon the fatty tissues under the skin. What you need is plenty of good fattening food, rest, and fresh air. If you wish to gain weight, send stamped, addressed envelope for my booklet.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

A Little Nervous.

I work in an office building in the loop. One rainy day I had an appointment for lunch, and carried my umbrella. I had to wait for some time for the elevator on my floor, which added to my nervousness, as I was late for my appointment.

I finally got into the elevator, which, by the way, was very crowded, and, having the rain and also my appointment on my mind, I was the first one to rush out of the elevator and immediately opened my umbrella. As this building has a large and long lobby, imagine my embarrassment when I couldn't get through the lobby door into the street with my opened umbrella. Needless to say, I did not enjoy my lunch. L. W.

Tit for Tat.

My girl friend and I were both in the same French class and we thought it was great fun to talk French when we didn't want any one to know what we were talking about.

One day we were standing in a crowded street car, near to a fat man who happened to be seated. My girl friend eyed him critically and then said to me in her best French, "It would be a good idea for him to get a job as the fat man in a circus."

We both giggled but soon stopped when, to our chagrin and embarrassment, our fat friend looked up at us and replied in the most perfect French, "Well, mademoiselle, I do not see any medals hanging on you for being thin." E. C.

Aquarium Hours Changed.

The John G. Shedd aquarium, open for public inspection during the holidays, will be open to the public only on Saturdays and Sundays until further notice. Work in completion of the building and of stocking it with exhibits makes the change in hours necessary.

SEIZE MANAGER OF MOVIE WHERE 72 CHILDREN DIED

First of Funerals Held at Paisley, Scotland.

Dorward's arrest followed official inspection of the theater by Chief Officer A. R. Dyer of the London fire brigade; Maj. T. H. Crozier, chief inspector of explosives at the home office, and J. T. Watson, solicitor general for Scotland. He will appear in the sheriff's court tomorrow morning.

First Funerals Held.

The first funerals for the child victims of the disaster were held today. John and William Pinkerton, brothers, aged 6 and 12, were buried with an impressive public tribute. The crowds lining the route from the Pinkerton house in the working class district of North Paisley to the cemetery were so dense that the police had to be summoned to regulate traffic and enable the funeral party to reach its destination.

Kathleen Pierce, one of the children who survived the disaster and close friend of the little Pinkertons, said she saw the older boy escape from the theater and then run back to look for his younger brother.

"I saw him go back in the crush and try to find him," she told the Pinkerton family.

Business Places Closed.

Representatives of the town council attended the simple services for the dead children. Special services will be held in the Paisley churches tomorrow, when most of the other children will be buried. Business premises and places of amusement will be closed for several hours as a sign of general mourning. There will be double or triple funerals in four families.

Fourteen of the injured children have been sent home from hospital and most of the others are on the way to recovery. Only two of the twenty children remaining at the hospital are in a serious condition.

Testimony in the sheriff's court will not be taken until after the funerals.

Among the numerous messages of condolence which have been pouring in was one from Sir Harry Lauder from Kansas City. It read: "I mourn with you in your tragedy. Let these be days of stout hearts. Keep right on to the end of the road."

5,000 VETS BEAT BONUS DEADLINE IN FINAL RUSH

Close to 5,000 world war veterans and dependents of deceased veterans made a final effort yesterday to file application for a federal bonus before the time of filing expired at midnight.

At the United States Veterans' bureau, 111 North Canal street, where requests for applications had been averaging from 1,000 to 4,000 since Christmas, about 5,000 passed in a continual line from 8:30 to 4:30. It was the greatest number for any day on record. Not all made applications, however, as many who had already received a bonus, misunderstood this filing to mean disability compensation.

Between 900 and 1,000 applicants seeking aid with the forms kept TRIBUNE employés busy until midnight at the public service office, 1 South Dearborn street. The loop bureau was established by THE TRIBUNE on Wednesday and was kept open until midnight both nights.

NEW YEAR REVELER LOSES GEMS.

Wann Wada, 38 years old, a Japanese butler who was reported missing on Wednesday by his employer, Dr. D. H. Danck, 65 East Oak street, found himself yesterday when he awoke from his New Year celebrations in a room at the Grant hotel, 6 North Dearborn street, minus his jewelry and $250.

CLAIMS PROMOTER TRIED TO 'FIX' SHIRES BOUT

Giants May Patch Up Family Row.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 2.—Notwithstanding the implied threat of the Hon. Francis Xavier McQuade, the New York police magistrate, to go into court and squawk the unrevealed details of the scandal of the Good Natured Kidders of 1924, it seems unlikely that the distinguished jurist will let his vengeful desires conquer his discretion.

The Honorable McQuade would seem to be in possession of interesting facts regarding the attempt to bribe an opposing ball player not to bear down against the Giants during the days when they were on the point of winning their last pennant to date. But if he should make use of this information now in the case at issue it would look as though he were revealing the truth not so much for love of the truth and a high standard of sportsmanship as to win a lawsuit and some money.

Was Treasurer in 1924.

Inasmuch as he was the treasurer of the Giants' baseball firm at the time of the kidding around in the Giants' clubhouse, it is quite likely that he had as much information in those days as he has at the present time. If that is the case, and if his private information is such as would bear out the story of the unfortunate pest, Jimmy O'Connell, it would be interesting to know why the judge happened to withhold his knowledge and permit O'Connell to suffer the full blame.

That is, O'Connell suffered the official blame, including disbarment from the baseball business, which was the only business in which he had any future, although the public had other ideas about the instigation of the plot.

Judge K. M. Landis, who signed the writ of banishment against O'Connell, very frankly said that the investigation had not been closed and probably would never be closed, and from this suggestive remark of the baseball commissioner it was possible to infer that he thought there were others in the conspiracy who had not been found guilty with O'Connell merely because of a lack of evidence.

Why Not in 1924?

As a baseball magnate at the time, Judge McQuade might have served the interests of sportsmanship, chivalry and fair play, which are the first motive of all baseball magnates, by addressing the same questions to John McGraw, the manager of the team, which he now purposes to address to Mr. McGraw in his civil suit for money alleged to be due him.

Of course, if the Hon. McQuade should persist in asking McGraw to explain the scandal of the good natured kidders, directing the examination with a private knowledge of hitherto unrevealed facts, Judge Landis as baseball commissioner in consistency would have to reopen his own investigation and apply to the situation all further information thus obtained.

This would be a delicate task for one pledged to deal alike with magnates and employed athletes, because it is a comparatively simple thing to boycott a ball player but quite another matter to impose corresponding discipline on a stockholder.

Magistrate McQuade insinuates that Mr. McGraw hasn't told all he knows. Under the high standard of ethics required of the baseball player it is possible to boycott an athlete merely because at some time in his youth he has been convicted of stealing a peanut off a pushcart. But, out of respect for the property rights of stockholders, it is impossible to dismiss a magnate.

Players May Be Dropped.

More specifically, a baseball player may be dropped out of organized baseball forever for having dealings with bookmakers, although the business men of the industry is more or less adorned by two or three stockholders or magnates who once were bookmak-

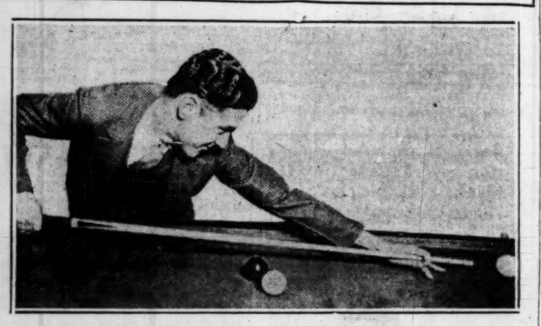
SUBSTITUTES FOR HOPPE



Allen Hall, Chicago master of the ivories, has been selected to replace Willie Hoppe in the championship three cushion tournament which starts in New York tonight.

Layton Starts Defense of 3 Cushion Title Tonight

New York, Jan. 2. — (AP) — When Johnny Layton, the titian haired cue artist from St. Louis, steps to the billiard table tomorrow night in the initial game of the defense of his national three cushion title, he will front one of the classiest and most representative fields in the history of the angle game tournaments.

Heppe Won't Compete.

Seven masters of the ivories from practically every section of the country have been selected by elimination to battle Layton for the lucrative championship, won two years ago by defeating Willie Hoppe in the final game and retained in 1928 by the same manner. Although automatically qualifying for this year's tournament by placing second in 1928, Hoppe will not seek the only major billiard title he has never held. It will be the first time since 1909 that the former 18.2 king has not competed in either a balk line or three cushion title tournament.

Three players new to national competition will join with a quartet of veteran tournament players in quest of Layton's crown. The newcomers to the game are Tiff Denton of Kansas City, who was rated among the "big six" for years; Charles Jordan of Los Angeles, who turned professional after winning the national amateur championship last year, and Harry Schuler, formerly a ranking amateur of New York. Denton and Jordan qualified by winning their respective sectional tournaments, while Schuler replaces Walter Riley of Philadelphia, to whom he lost in the playoff.

Two Matches Tonight.

Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago, holder of the championship at eight different times, qualified for this season's tournament by winning the northern sectional tournament.

Allen Hall of Chicago will compete in place of Hoppe. The former St. Louis amateur has been a headliner in three cushion play for the last four years.

U. S. Cuts Bag Limit on Ducks to 15 Daily

BY BOB BECKER.

A change in the federal regulations governing the shooting of waterfowl whereby the daily bag limit has been reduced from 25 ducks to 15 is the belated New Year's greeting from the United States department of agriculture. This new regulation is effective next fall.

Two other features of new rule are important. The federal daily bag limit on geese will be reduced from eight to four, and the possession limit on ducks takes a decided drop. In the future it will be legal only to have 30 ducks and eight geese in one's possession.

Conservation organizations and sportsmen who refuse to kid themselves about the waterfowl population will welcome this federal regulation. The necessity for action became evident from exhaustive investigations by the department of agriculture and sportsmen's organizations.

Waterfowl were not holding their own. The annual take was larger than production. Consequently waterfowl flocks were smaller. The unusual drought that prevailed during the last season and the reclamation of large, former breeding grounds in the northwest resulted in cumulative losses of areas of marsh and water and this has meant a great inroad in the breeding grounds of the ducks and geese with resultant smaller crops of birds.

As far as the future of our waterfowl population is concerned, sportsmen should not think that a mere reduction in federal bag limits immediately will increase the number of ducks and geese. It will not. The difficulty is that the birds are losing their breeding grounds in the north. We cannot have lots of ducks without plenty of breeding grounds, refuges and rest grounds. So there remains plenty of work to do by conservation organizations if our waterfowl population is to be materially increased in coming years.

Customer Throws Chair; Wrestling Show Ends in Riot

Shortly after midnight, and with Scharpegge holding the edge with one fall over his opponent, Friberg hit the Milwaukee man on the jaw. Scharpegge retaliated. Then a heavy chair came hurtling into the stage ring from the boxes above.

Harry Cannenberg of Beloit had been unable to control his feelings and it was his chair that landed in the ring.

By the time policemen could mount the stairs to the box a score of fist fights were in progress and Cannenberg had vanished into the dark recesses of the balcony. He was discovered and the chase ended in the orchestra pit.

By the time the officers had arrested their man the entire theater was in an uproar. It was necessary to halt the wrestling match and declare it a no contest.

CAREY FAILS TO MATCH SHARKEY FOR GRIFFITH GO

Boston, Mass., Jan. 2.—(AP)—W. F. Carey, president of the Madison Square Garden corporation, said tonight he had been unable, after a four hours' conference, to persuade Jack Sharkey to meet Tuffy Griffith next month at Miami. When the long discussion with the Boston heavyweight and Johnny Buckley, his manager, ended, Carey told newspaper men his plans prevented him from making any statement.

A member of the Sharkey party, however, said that Carey had tried to "cram Griffith down Jack's throat," and that the Boston heavyweight had refused to accept him as his next opponent.

COUGARS BLANK CANADIENS, 4-0; BEVERIDGE STAR

Detroit Scores 3 Goals in Third Period.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 2.—(AP)—The Detroit Cougars blanked Montreals' leading Les Canadiens, 4 to 0, here tonight, in a rough National league hockey game. The Cougars previously had suffered three successive defeats.

The Cougars held a slim one goal margin for two and a half periods. At the turning point of the final period, however, Les Canadiens tired, permitting the Cougars to pile up three more goals.

Maj. Cavanaugh Renews His Contract at Fordham

New York, Jan. 2.—(AP)—Fordham university tonight announced the reengagement of Maj. Frank W. Cavanaugh as head football coach for the 1930 season.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

PACIFIC COAST FOOTBALL.

PITTSBURGH is not the first unbeaten eastern eleven which has fared forth to the Pacific coast to be smeared on New Year's day by a California eleven. Ohio State suffered that fate back in 1920 when University of California triumphed, 28 to 0.

Ohio State had a great forward passing outfit. It went through the conference season with a clean slate, pulling several games out of the fire by the air route. It was called a "horseshoe" eleven in the middle west, an appellation resented at Columbus.

The conference has a rule against post-season games. When Ohio asked permission to play on the coast sentiment was opposed, but lest refusal be misinterpreted or ascribed to jealousy, the rule was waived with the understanding such permission did not establish a precedent. Ohio State, the great passing team, went west and California showed the Buckeyes what a forward pass really was while smothering the Ohio heaves. No Big Ten eleven has since asked permission to play a post-season contest.

Now do Southern California's two smashing victories over Carnegie and Pittsburgh and Stanford's smashing win over Army demonstrate superiority of Pacific coast football? That is debatable with sectional pride supplying part of the answer. The caliber of Pacific football is not debatable. That is established.

Those three games were played a month after the natural season ended. They were played in the west. Pittsburgh was a great team. Carnegie was a good but not a great team. Army, except for Cagle, was hardly up to usual Army standards.

Now take the reverse angle. Southern California, which beat Pitt and Carnegie, played Notre Dame in THIS sector. It lost by only a point after touchdown, but the South Benders looked about one touchdown better except for the "breaks." Washington also played here and was smothered by Chicago. Washington was weak on the coast, but played a great game against California, which beat Southern California. Chicago was fortunate to win one conference game over Indiana. Its two notable victories were over Princeton and Washington.

If partisans wish to debate further, let them go to it.

Way Back When.

Way back 'bout forty years ago
It was as cold as now and heaps more snow,
Great fluffy drifts along the fence
And O the sleighing was immense—
Some forty years ago.

No autos to freeze up and bust,
Which causes worry and disgust.
No tires to skid . . .
You might not like it, but we did—
Near forty years ago.

HE had a cutter and HE drove a horse
Which was well trained, you know, of course,
And he had never heard of Doris Blake,
Forvet's sake!
But that was forty years ago.

Way back when—the stars shone just as bright
As they do now this winter night,
The man in the moon looked down with a smile,
This chaperon job kept him out all the while—
Even forty years ago.

O, come and call for me, dear heart, as in the olden time
And whisper to the music of the sleighbells' chime
That sweetest story—and I'll but
You won't be watching [while you tuck the robes around]
And we'll upset—

Butler clashes with Chicago here Saturday night and then plays four Indiana rivals before meeting the unbeaten Loyola five of Chicago here Jan. 24. Capt. Hildebrand was the leading scorer again for Butler tonight, with five field goals and five free throws.

Although the Bulldogs controlled the tipoff every time except once in the first half, the teams battled on even terms until the quarter. Thereafter they used a fast break under the basket to lead at the half, 15 to 9. Christopher and Hoosier each contributed two from the floor. For Illinois E. B. Kamp, C. B. NORGREN REVAMPS TEAM.

Chicago's revamped team will meet Butler at Indianapolis tomorrow in a preconference basketball game. Coach Norgren is relying on speed and cleverness to repeat the Chicago victory of last season and has shifted his lineup.

The most important change sends Capt. Harry Changnon, veteran forward, to center, at which Jonathan Bunge and Harold Boesel have been tried in three games. Neither of these centers could get the tipoff consistently, and Changnon is a better floor man and a surer shot.

Paul Stephenson, little sophomore who has been a sensational forward in two starts, will be at Changnon's forward position, and Sidney Yates, high scorer this season, will be at the other forward.

Harry Ashley will be at one guard and Marshall Fish will play the other. This combination is small but effective in Norgren's quick breaking game.

FORMER MAROON DIES FOLLOWING TONSILOPERATION

Salt Lake City, Utah., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Philbrick Jackson, captain of the 1916 University of Chicago football team, died here this afternoon of an infection in his throat following an operation for the removal of his tonsils. He is survived by his widow, Caroline, also a graduate of the University of Chicago, and two children. Jackson was superintendent of the blast furnace department of the Columbia Steel corporation at Provo, Utah.

John Van Ryn Injured; Cancels Tennis Dates

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—John Van Ryn of the American Davis cup doubles team has strained an abdominal muscle and the injury will keep him out of far west tennis tourneys in which he was entered for some weeks. Van Ryn, whose home is Orange, N. J., has been practicing here. The injury may endanger his participation in international play later.

ART SHIRES.

ART SUSPENDED; DENIES PLOT, ASKS HEARING

Details of Affidavit Are Told.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Great Shires has been set down by the Michigan boxing commission on charges that his representatives, with an eye on future gold, had sought to fix his scheduled Detroit fight so that he would be assured of victory before pulling on his mitts.

It is alleged that when the purported plot first failed, an effort was made to substitute another fighter, presumably a tank artist, but that matters then got panicky and Shires himself spent New Year's eve in a night club, becoming hors de combat "without the aid of a drink."

The original scheduled adversary appointed for Shires' holiday appearance was one Battling Criss. The proposed alternate is said to be named Heinie Groves. Both boys heretofore have been of limited fame.

The Great Shires, who had planned to come back to Chicago this morning, canceled his reservations last night to stay in Detroit and tell his public that he had no part in the alleged funny business. Through talking hard and fast he expects to be able to make the entire mess clear as crystal and prove the suspension a cruel frameup.

The White Sox first baseman last night wasn't sure just what his explanation will be, but a possible defense is that he has been a sort of Alice in Wonderland without knowing exactly what the rest of the cast has been up to.

Here Are Plot Details.

The details of the alleged fix are not to be made public officially until a meeting of the commission in Lansing on Jan. 9, but the charges last night were revealed to THE TRIBUNE. While they do not involve Shires directly they purport to show a great deal of activity in making it certain that Shires wouldn't lose his Detroit fight. It was feared that a defeat would jeopardize his drawing power in eight other Michigan cities, not to mention St. Paul and several other centers where the ball player was scheduled to appear in the guise of a boxer.

Benny Ray, the promoter who was to have staged the Shires bout, is mentioned prominently in the Detroit discussion of the alleged plan to put the fight in the bag. His interest in a Shires victory is explained by the charge that he had acquired the Michigan rights on the ball player's fighting program. Among the assertions is that in trying to prepare a soft environment for Shires, Ray displayed eight contracts for Michigan appearances of Shires.

The charges which resulted in the suspension of C. Arthur were in the form of an affidavit by Bandes Gildersleeve, manager of Battling Criss, sworn to before Chairman James M. Brown of the Michigan commission, and Henry Komrofsky, one of the five members of the commission.

The Manager's Story.

Gildersleeve's version of the fixing scheme follows:

"I live in Rockwood, Mich., and I have been a fight manager for about six months, during which I have discovered that there are many things I have yet to learn about the way the business is conducted," Gildersleeve said last night. "I formerly was a building contractor and I always have been an honest man. That's the reason I am making this statement.

"I have three fighters, none of them well known. About ten days ago Benny Ray called up and told me about Shires and asked me if I had a boy to meet him. I said I had, and one Dec. 24 signed a contract under which Criss was to receive $150 for meeting Shires.

"I then went to Cincinnati with one of my other fighters, and when I came back I learned that Ray had not filed the contract at the commission office in Lansing.

"On Tuesday, the day before the fight, I met Ray and a man called Scotty, and they said, 'You know that Shires can't lose that fight tomorrow night.'

Wouldn't Assist in Fix.

"Being new in the business, I said, 'What's that?' Ray repeated his statement and said, 'I can't let Shires get beat.' I said, 'Well, you're talking to the wrong man. My boy will be in there trying.'"

"I told them that Shires wouldn't win if Criss was able to whip him, and told them I wouldn't be a party to any fix.

"The next day, the day of the fight, Ray got in touch with me early and told me that a fighter, Heinie Groves, was to take Criss' place in the ring with Shires.

"I told them that I wouldn't stand for any such scheme and that if Criss didn't fight I'd let the commission know what had happened. Shortly after 10 o'clock I learned that Shires had got sick and that the fight was off."

Manager Goes to Commission.

Gildersleeve went to Chairman Brown with his story, arriving about the time that commission physicians were reporting that Shires had been examined in his hotel room and had been found in unfit physical condition.

Reports on the cause of Shires' disability vary. One of the commissioners last night said that the young man seemed very tired and weary, while Shires himself says that he caught

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

If any value attaches to encountering big league competition during the spring training jaunt, Art Shires and the other White Sox should be in fair to middlin' shape by the time they open the next pennant marathon.

Seventeen dates in which the south side athletes will encounter the New York Giants were announced yesterday by Business Manager Harry Grabiner. The last two of the series are scheduled for Comiskey park.

In addition to the tour with McGraw's well press agented performers, the Sox will do various bits of barnstorming against "strong local nines." Dates for these affairs will be revealed later. Most of them will involve Texas league teams.

Resume Series March 29.

The present plan of Manager Donie Bush is to take his assortment of athletes southward sometime between Feb. 15 and 18, a trifle earlier than Comiskey squads have been called from winter quarters in recent years, but Bush isn't exactly familiar with the virtues and shortcomings of the men under his command so naturally wants plenty of time to reach conclusions.

Exhibiting the talent to the natives will not start until March 8 and 9 at Houston. The Giants will furnish the opposition in these arguments. Then both teams will return to their San Antonio camps to divide their time between training routine and regular games. Six tilts have been booked for there, four coming in succession, March 13, 14, 15, and 16, and the two others March 22 and 23.

After the above games the two teams will train some more and resume their series on March 29 at Fort Worth, and the day following at Dallas. Then the two teams will sep-cold in his neck and shoulder while visiting a night club "in which I did not take a single drink."

Benny Ray is well known in fistic circles in Detroit, and his friends last night insisted that he had made no offer of money to Gildersleeve to ease up, and Gildersleeve himself stated that there was no mention of the word "dive", or the popular fistic colloquialism, "going in the tank," in his talk with Ray. Ray's friends said it was Ray's word against Gildersleeve's, and they chose to believe Ray when he denied the manager's charges.

Shires was inaccessible the early part of last night, but after talking with his manager, who is in Chicago, he issued an eloquent denial of the plot.

"I don't know what everybody else has been doing," Shires said, "but I know damn well I never tried to fix a fight with Criss or anybody else. I expect to get licked plenty in this racket and I am not sucker enough to go out and try to fix things. My manager says he didn't try to fix the fight. As far as I know he's telling the truth.

"I was going back to Chicago but now I've changed my mind and I'm going to stay right here and see the fight commission. I'm going to prove to them that I had nothing to do with trying to fix Criss.

"It looks to me like Criss' manager is seeking some publicity at my expense."

Commission Has Data.

While Promoter Ray's associates were pointing out that it was merely a case of Gildersleeve's word against that of Ray, one of the Michigan commissioners said that the commission had been investigating Shires' career for several days before the Gildersleeve affidavit was submitted.

Chairman Brown, it is said, had talked to Criss personally on New Year's eve and had told him the fight had its suspicious aspects and that the commission would be watching him and "would set him down for the rest of his life if he showed any signs of quitting during the fight."

A member of the commission said that the body's investigation of Shires had included his 23 second knockout of Mysterious Dan Daly in Chicago and his 82 second knockout of Bad Bill Bailey in Buffalo.

The commissioner said he was bound to refrain from discussing details of these investigations pending the Jan. 9 meeting at Lansing.

"We have all the necessary data to support our action against Shires and may extend the suspension to other persons at the meeting next week.

"We recommend that our action be followed by a similar edict from the National Boxing association. It is our understanding that our membership in the N. B. A. assures this action coming automatically until such time as formal action is taken by the national body." Chairman Brown of the Michigan board also is a member of the national board.

arate for a week, reuniting April 7 at Evansville for the one day stands that carry them into Chicago for April 12 and 13.

Activities at Cub headquarters yesterday involved two athletes. President William Veeck found no takers when the name of the veteran catcher, Mike Gonzales, appeared on the waiver list so the Cuban was given his unconditional release. Veeck had no sooner attended to this detail than Guy Bush walked into the office to inquire about the chances of signing a contract.

The young hurler who registered the Cubs' only triumph in the late world series was accommodated with a two year document. No mention was made regarding the salary except that it was considerably higher than the amount called for in Bush's previous document.

Gonzales was turned loose because he had reached the end of his rope so far as the majors were concerned. Last summer when called upon to work regularly, Gonzales' aged arm failed to respond. Gonzales, who made his big league debut in 1914, came to the Cubs with Infielder Frigeau in May, 1925, in a trade that sent Catcher O'Farrell to the Cardinals.

BROOKLYN BEATS CHICAGO, 23-11; TIES FOR PRO LEAD

New York, Jan. 2.—(AP)—Brooklyn swamped Chicago, 23 to 11, in a torrid tilt here tonight, and went into a tie with the Cleveland-Rosenblooms for the American league lead. The Bruins' chances for the first part of the season pennant are slim. Both teams went off to a fine start in the first period, each guarding closely. The Bruins attempted long range shooting.

MICHIGAN CITY VICTORY NEAR; CAGERS RETURN

Michigan City, Ind., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Basketball fans of Michigan City, a town of 30,000, have two items for which to be thankful this New Year. Reason number one is that the Red Devils, the high school basketball team, are blessed with a better cooperative spirit this season than in 1929, and reason number two is whoever made numbers forgot to mention anything signifying less than the hole in the doughnut.

EDWARD SAWAYA.

For the first item, the players are to be congratulated as now they have taken to heart their school song entitled "Loyalty," and as to the second, their zero standing in the eastern division of the Northern Indiana High School conference, they expect a change after the game with Mishawaka.

The New Year saw the reentry into the game of two of the three Red and White players who deserted the squad several days ago following a scorching talk by Prof. Andrew Treadwater Gill, physical education director here for nine years. Mr. Gill spoke on school spirit and emphasized that no team will win so long as personal jealousies exist among the players.

Coach Used to Winners.

The two boys who came back are Max Herschman and Vernon Schultze, both sophomores, and quite capable forwards. It is said the lads just couldn't sleep at night for their hearing the strains of their school song, "Loyalty." And big Capt. Edward Sawayh, who stands 6 feet 1 inch in his bare feet and weighs four pounds less than 200, is about the happiest fellow in Michigan City because now he feels that his comrades are "going to town," as the expression goes.

Michigan City's conference rating is disheartening to Coach Leverette K. Wallace. He is not accustomed to defeat, as he was a three letter man in Monmouth college on a team that, among other things, won the conference championship in 1922. Added to that pleasant recollection he may also look back to Traverse City, Mich., from whence he came to Michigan City this fall, recalling that in 1928 his high school squad won 17 out of 19 games.

Team Lacks Experience.

The scores to date follow:

Goshen, 32; Michigan City, 22.
Plymouth, 30; Michigan City, 23.
La Porte, 25; Michigan City, 11.
South Bend, 43; Michigan City, 17.
Elkhart, 28; Michigan City, 12.
Michigan City, 38; Rolling Prairie, 25.
Michigan City, 11; Horace Mann Seconds, 11.

Coach Wallace seems to have found the most logical reason for the team's poor showing. That is that the lads are unseasoned. Capt. Sawaya is the only upper classman on the squad. Then, too, the team is being taught the collegiate way of playing basketball — the delayed offense — and that takes time to perfect.

"They'll be winners some day," is all Coach Wallace would say as he watched the boys scamper over the floor. That's the philosophy of basketball in Indiana. "They'll be winners some day" has sent many a team from the crossroads to the final in the Hoosier meet and that attitude is drawing thousands of fans into good and indifferent gymnasiums in this state of authors and basketball.

Coach Wallace's first string includes:

Forwards—Jack Smith, Donald Korn, James Grimes, James Johnson.
Centers—Merle Smith, Leonard Johnson, Carl Jans.
Guards—Capt. Sawaya, Lane Ducey, Harlow Redding, Earl Fausch.

The reserves are:

Forwards—Vernon Schultze, Robert McCracken, Max Herschman, Clement Puts.
Guards—William Hall, Marshall Grayson, Harold Messner.

Awaits Mishawaka Result.

Camp Leads, 967 to 558, in Match with Collingwood

Toledo, O., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Marcel Camp, world's junior pocket billiard champion of Detroit, won today's rounds in his 1,500 point match with Whitey Collingwood of Tulsa, Okla. Camp took the afternoon game, 125 to 70 and also won the night match, 125 to 61. The standing is now: Camp, 967; Collingwood, 558.

Zoom Scores 1st 1930 Win for Whitney

New Orleans, La., Jan. 2.—[Special.]—Harry Payne Whitney, whose horses won more money than those of any other owner in 1929, was the owner of the winner of the feature race at the Fair Grounds here today. It was the first 1930 Whitney victory and Zoom was the horse to bear the light blue silks. This gelded son of Pennant scored easily in the six furlong dash, but racing luck took much of the competition out of the race.

Following heavy rains, the track was deep in mud, costing Count Palatine dearly in the stretch. Closing fast with a winning chance he stepped into a soft spot and almost fell, losing several lengths. Film, the favorite, previously had gotten off to a winging start only to bolt to the outside fence and bring up last. Jockey J. Cavens, rider on Film, was suspended by the stewards.

Zoom had galloped along without any trouble and crossed the line four lengths ahead of The Showoff, while Scotland was third, half a length behind the second horse. Count Palatine was next and then came The Southerner, Walter R. and Film. The winner paid $14.40 in the mutuels and was timed in 1:16 under 110 pounds.

BLACKHAWKS TO USE CAMPBELL IN PLACE OF COOK

Garnett Campbell, star forward who was purchased yesterday by the Chicago Blackhawks from the Kansas City club of the American Association Hockey league, will replace Tommy Cook during the next two weeks' play. Cook was injured in the game with Les Canadiens Wednesday night, and an x-ray examination yesterday revealed the Hawk had suffered a wrenched shoulder that will keep him off the ice for two weeks.

Campbell is to come to the Chicago club in exchange for Bobby Burns and an unrevealed amount of cash. The Kansas City player is one of the likeliest looking prospects in the minors, having led the scoring of the Kansas City club.

De Paul Whips North Dakota State, 22-14

De Paul university cagers handed North Dakota Aggies the first defeat of their Chicago stay last night, winning, 22 to 14, on the De Paul floor. An effective defense plus scoring on the part of Clarence Coan, Sioux City star, were prominent victory factors.

The Blue Demons exhibited a smooth working machine to register their victory after wobbling to a win over Valparaiso university in the season's opener.

De Paul Takes Lead.

De Paul took the lead at the outset and, except for a momentary tie at 2-all early in the opening period when Capt. Gergen sunk two free throws, held the game in hand throughout, increasing its margin until the score stood at 21 to 8 just before the final gun. Three shots by Seitz, Nordstrom, and Smith brought the count to 14 for the Bisons, while Bill Johnson made the final mark for De Paul, a charity toss. De Paul led at the half, 6 to 4.

Except for a short lapse in the first half when North Dakota forwards broke through to miss a half dozen shots under the basket, De Paul forced the Bison to shoot from long range.

Powers, Asher Help Out.

In addition to the brilliant sharpshooting of Coan, Asher and Capt. Powers stood out, especially when it came to grabbing the ball off the backboard. Lineup:

ers or professional gamblers themselves.

I would not wish to contend that bookmakers or professional gamblers should be barred from the baseball business, having found them to be, on the whole, as scrupulous as lawyers or bankers and almost always make their bets without hidden reservations or special interest fees disguised as discounts. But there is an obvious lack of consistency in the even-handed administration of justice in the baseball industry whereby, if a magnate should happen to start a handbook or a faro bank, it would be possible to bar baseball players from the game for having dealings with their own employer.

It's Just a Preliminary.

But the present game of squawk and counter squawk between the opposing groups of magnates in the Giants' firm is only a preliminary exercise, familiar to all persons who have entered courts for any length of time. It is reminiscent of two hot tempered patrons standing at opposite ends of the bar in a saloon, brandishing heavy seidels and threatening to throw them at one another. I believe that presently one of their political mentors friends in the city will move in between the two excited but normally good natured boys, McQuade and Charlie Stoneham, and soothe them down by pointing out that if they do let fly, both of them are likely to be hit, in addition to which they might muss up the place and injure bystanders.

Perhaps some retired ball player who chanced to overhear the good natured kidding in the Giants' locker room in the last week of the 1924 season, as described by Frank Frisch, then captain of the team, would now be willing to amplify the story for a few hundred dollars. But such testimony, however true, always admits of considerable doubt and it is not the best practice to obtain information this way. I worked on a celebrated murder case once in which a lady witness, who chanced to ride past the scene of the crime on her favorite mule sold her first story of the incident to one reporter for ten dollars, and then went on to sell other stories, all of them exclusive and no two alike, at a rising scale of compensation until presently she was getting almost as much as a major league fiction writer. They were all good stories, and the only objection was that if any one was true, all the others were false. To this the lady's only reply was, "Well, you wanted an exclusive story, didn't you?"

Why Sling Mud?

There is always a long pause between the filing of law suits and the hearing of the testimony and it is my idea that by the time the two goodnatured sportsmen of the Giants' firm come to trial with their claims and counter claims, they will have decided that there is nothing to be gained by mud slinging, as the politicians call it, or blowing the police whistle, as the practice is known among the sinister elements of society.

TUT, FLOWERS FIGHT JAN. 10 AT STADIUM

King Tut will fight Bruce Flowers in one of the three ten round bouts Promoter Nate Lewis has scheduled for the Chicago Stadium Jan. 10. They are to weigh 138 pounds. Tut gave his followers a bit of encouragement Wednesday night by knocking out Billy Wallace in Milwaukee.

In another ten round engagement Jackie Fields, welterweight champion will meet an opponent to be named shortly. It will be a nontitle bout at 152 pounds.

YEAR END STOCK BUYING BOOSTS BROKERS' LOANS

Total Shows Gain of 96 Millions.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Buying of stocks in the last week of 1929 by speculators who anticipated a post-New Year advance sent brokers' loans up to $96,000,000, according to the weekly report issued yesterday by the federal reserve board.

The total now stands at $3,424,000,000, which is $1,906,000,000 below a year ago and at about the same level of two years ago.

The current increase marks the second weekly expansion that has occurred in the last thirteen weeks, or since Oct. 2, when the all-time peak of $6,804,000,000 was reached. Therefore the present total is $3,380,000,000 below that peak.

The withdrawal of funds from the stock market by interior banks, corporations and other leaders, chiefly for year-end purposes, continued in spite of the 6 to 6½ per cent call loan rates. And again the New York banks were called on to furnish additional funds for speculative purposes. The interior banks withdrew $7,000,000 and now are lending $939,000,000 less than a year ago. Corporations and others drew down $219,000,000, making their loans $618,000,000 lower than a year ago. The New York banks increased their loans by $322,000,000 but still are furnishing $349,000,000 less than a year ago.

Credit Demand Slackens.

In contrast to the increased demand for credit for speculation, the weekly statement of the federal reserve system showed a sharp contraction in the need for credit for commercial purposes with the passing of the year-end. Member bank borrowings dropped $130,360,000, bringing the total down to $632,421,000. In addition, the reserve banks helped to maintain relatively easy credit by purchasing $37,286,000 of bankers' acceptances and $26,544,000 of government securities. Total deposits expanded $38,464,000 but note circulation declined $70,436,000 with the passing of the holiday demand for currency.

As the result of these changes, gold and total reserves expanded $35,411,000 and $60,182,000 respectively and the ratio of reserves to liabilities rose to 69.6 per cent, compared with 67.6 per cent a week ago. The gain in gold reserves was made despite gold exports of $11,255,000 and an increase of $2,000,000 in gold earmarked for foreign account, while imports were only $99,000.

Chicago Reports Decline.

The New York reserve bank made no change in its 4½ per cent rediscount rate. Its report showed a decline of $25,961,000 in member bank borrowings, bringing this item down to $171,759,000. Bankers' acceptances increased $17,920,000. Deposits expanded $42,802,000. Reserves increased $44,776,000 and the reserve ratio rose to 69.5 per cent compared with 68.9 per cent a week ago.

The report of the Chicago reserve bank shows a decline of $31,164,000 in member bank borrowings, bringing this item down to $112,667,000. Holdings of bankers' acceptances also receded $1,131,000. Deposits declined $8,647,000. Reserves expanded $15,824,000 and the reserve ratio rose to 70.7 per cent, compared with 66.1 per cent last week.

Mail Order Houses Have Record Year

Chicago's big merchandising concerns announced their 1929 sales yesterday and confirmed earlier estimates of a record volume of business both for the year as a whole and for the holiday season.

Sales of Sears, Roebuck & Co. for last year totaled $443,452,640, an increase of $96,478,725, or 27.8 per cent, over 1928. December sales totaled $54,219,540, a gain of $11,785,367 and also 27.8 per cent over December, 1928. Montgomery Ward & Co. reported 1929 sales at $291,530,621, an increase of $59,175,883, or 25.47 per cent, over 1928. December sales totaled $35,799,316, a gain of $3,847,496, or 12.04 per cent, over December, 1928.

Frederick D. Corley, vice president of Marshall Field & Co. in charge of retail merchandising, stated that the largest single day's volume of business was experienced a few days before Christmas, with sales reaching "an astounding total well over $1,000,000."

Mr. Corley further said that volume of the company's business for the entire year 1929 showed a substantial and healthy gain.

AMERICAN CIGAR, CONT'L MOTORS OMIT DIVIDENDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 2.—Directors of the American Cigar company omitted today the usual quarterly dividend of $2 a share on the common stock. Shares of the company have been under steady pressure in recent weeks on the curb. American Cigar is controlled by the American Tobacco company.

It is reported that American Tobacco has purchased 27,000 shares of preferred stock of American Cigar at $111.50 a share. In addition American Tobacco will loan the cigar corporation $12,000,000 during 1930 to take care of the latter company's expenses for the purchase of new equipment and the enlargement of selling facilities.

F. and W. Grand-Silver Stores, Inc., announced today an initial dividend of 25 cents a share, placing the stock on a $1 annual basis. Directors of the Continental Motors corporation of Detroit have omitted declaration of the quarterly dividend of 20 cents a share due at this time on the common stock.

Directors of Community Water Service company yesterday placed the common stock on an annual basis of 6 per cent with the declaration of a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent, payable in common stock. This is the initial dividend on the common stock of the company. Payment will be made on Feb. 1 to holders of record Jan. 15.

RAIL HEADS OF EAST TO DISCUSS I. C. C. PROPOSAL

New York, Jan. 2.—(AP)—Group conferences among eastern trunk line railroad executives are expected to be held in the near future in connection with the consolidation plan recently announced by the interstate commerce commission.

Wall street heard today that these meetings are likely to begin by a conference between the Van Sweringens and Baltimore and Ohio officials, inasmuch as these two systems were most beneficially affected by the commission's plan. Since the Pennsylvania and the New York Central systems were not materially changed by the plan it is not expected that officials of these lines will participate in the Van Sweringen-Baltimore and Ohio conferences, at least for the time being.

Baldwin Locomotive Asks for Added Working Capital

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 2.—Baldwin Locomotive works is asking stockholders to increase the funded debt of the company by $15,000,000 for the purpose of funding bank loans and providing additional working capital, George H. Houston, president, announced today in a notice calling a meeting of shareholders. The company has on hand $30,000,000 in unfilled orders, and prospects are for a normal year of activity, Mr. Houston said.

Says Morrell Company Net Equals $8.59 a Share

T. Henry Foster, president of John Morrell & Co., Inc., packers, in his annual report to stockholders for the 13 months ended Nov. 2, says that all previous business records were broken during the year. Net earnings after all charges amounted to $3,435,799, equal to $8.59 a share, against $6.22 in the previous twelve months. Consolidated balance sheet as of Nov. 2 shows total current assets of $13,927,853, compared with current liabilities of $3,527,287. Because of a change in the fiscal year the report covers a 13 months period.

FORM HOLDING COMPANY FOR CHICAGO BANKS

Bancorporation Has $30,000,000 Capital.

Plans for the organization of the National Republic Bancorporation, with a total capitalization of $30,000,000, to hold stock in banks of the Chicago area and the surrounding territory was announced last night.

George Woodruff, chairman of the board of the National Bank of Republic, will head the board of the new institution and Gustave F. Fischer, president of the Cosmopolitan State bank, will be president.

The Bancorporation will own a large amount of the stock of the National Bank of Republic and will be closely affiliated with the National Republic Investment Trust.

Twelve Ratify Terms.

Directors of 12 banks and investment companies in the Chicago area have already ratified terms for exchange of stock with the new trust. They are: National Bank of Republic, Cosmopolitan State bank, Peoples National Bank and Trust company, Western State bank, Austin State bank, Adams State bank, First Englewood State bank, Waukegan State bank, Chicago Trust company, Peoples National company, National Republic company and the Cosmopolitan Bond and Mortgage company.

Peoples National company is an affiliate of the Peoples National Bank and Trust company and the Cosmopolitan Bond and Mortgage company is associated with the Cosmopolitan State bank.

The authorized capital of the corporation will consist of one million shares of $20.00 par value with a surplus of $10.00 per share. The holding company will be an Illinois corporation. Affiliated banks will continue to operate independently.

Combined resources of the institutions which will start in the group total $250,000,000. The Bancorporation will hold 51 per cent or more of the stock in all the units in the group except the National Bank of Republic. Three additional banks will be announced as soon as the necessary legal steps can be taken and the banks examined, it was announced.

No public financing is involved in the deal and the shares will not be listed on any exchange at present but will be dealt in as other bank stocks, it was stated.

Purpose of Corporation.

Other officers of the new corporation are Hartley C. Laycock, president of the Peoples National Bank and Trust company, vice president; Ward C. Castle, executive vice president of the National Bank of Republic, secretary, and John W. Jedlan, president of the Western State bank, treasurer.

It was intimated that eventually the holdings may be extended outside the Chicago territory, but for the present will be confined to this area.

According to the official announcement the purpose of corporation is "to bring together a group of sound, successful, well located banks in Chicago and near territory through an exchange of stock of the various banks for the shares of the Bancorporation.

Cites Responsibilities.

"The management of the Bancorporation is charged with the responsibility of seeing that all banks are kept in a sound and healthy condition and will place at the disposal of each bank all the advice and technical experience of the central organization in the determination of many problems of managament and operation.

"Associated with the board of directors of the institution will be the representatives of the affiliated banks, constituting a large group of well known bankers and business men intimately identified with the diversified activities of the territory served and whose wide connections will give the corporation a direct tie-up with the most influential commercial interests in Chicagoland."

ADDITIONAL BANKS HERE REPORT UPON EARNINGS FOR 1929

Favorable earnings reports for 1929 were issued by additional Chicago banks yesterday. The Northern Trust company reported net earnings of $860,345, equivalent to 43.01 per cent on the capital stock and to 10.11 per cent on total invested capital. Net earnings for 1928 were $712,397, equivalent to 35.61 per cent on capital stock and 8.78 per cent on invested capital.

The Mercantile Trust and Savings bank reported net earnings of $181,718, equivalent to 30.28 per cent on capital stock and to 16.32 per cent on invested capital. Earnings for 1928 were $146,532, or 24.42 per cent on capital stock and 14.05 per cent on invested capital. Net earnings of the Peoples Trust and Savings bank were equivalent to 22.37 per cent on capital stock and 14.15 per cent on invested capital.

Four new directors were elected at the annual stockholders' meeting of the South Side Trust and Savings bank. They are Weymouth Kirkland, Mark A. Cronin, B. F. Lindheimer, and Robert L. Harlan.

Announce Plan to Trade in Hogs for Future Delivery

Perishable commodities were announced as the latest entry into the field of futures trading last night as Everett C. Brown, president of the Chicago Live Stock exchange, revealed that his organization has evolved a plan for trading in live hogs for future delivery.

The new plan will be put into effect within a few weeks, he said, as soon as facilities for it are complete.

"Demands from producers and processors have prompted this action," President Brown declared. "They wanted some system which would afford the opportunity to hedge operations, thus reducing risks incidental to price deflation and minimizing risks incidental to hog ownership. We have evolved an arrangement which should answer every requirement.

Enlarges Outlet.

"The purpose of the Chicago Live Stock exchange in starting this innovation is to furnish swine growers with the same outlet, through future delivery channels, as have been heretofore enjoyed by handlers of other commodities, such as grain, provisions, hides, butter, eggs, sugar, cotton, and its by-products, to all of which this method of determining values is indispensable."

Mr. Brown said that the exchange had made an extensive study of the problem and had reached the conclusion that the system now ready for adoption would effectively stabilize prices, to the distinct advantage of every swine raiser in the United States.

He said that rules and regulations, patterned after those of successful exchanges, have been formulated providing an "easy, safe, and satisfactory method" of buying and selling hogs for future delivery, "with the assurance that contracts would be carried out to the letter."

Sees Losses Reduced.

"This future market," Mr. Brown declared, "will mark a stride toward the goal of orderly marketing. Under existing conditions, situations arise under which underweight shoats are sacrificed in apprehension of ruinous prices later. This, we believe, can be prevented by a preview of the situation."

He said that feeding out hogs through excessive and unpopular weight, at heavy loss, could be prevented if a future market would indicate the futility of wasting valuable feed. He said that the cariot will be the trading unit, and that facilities will be offered the public "without discrimination." Inspection, he stated, will be "in the hands of competent exchange employés and will be designed to secure absolute confidence."

According to the new plan, the Chicago live stock exchange will do no trading, merely providing the necessary room, personnel, and other services which "guarantee that trading rules will be fully complied with."

RAIL ISSUES IMPROVE IN N. Y. BOND MARKET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 2.—The initial day's trading of the new year in the bond market resulted in some improvement in domestic bonds, particularly railroad issues, although there were many exceptions to the rule. Foreign loans remained about unchanged on the average. United States government issues closed irregular.

A number of industrial issues made important recoveries, notably Botany Mills 6½s, up 8¾; Cuba Cane Sugar 8s, stamped, up 3½, and the 7s, certificates of the company, up 15 points. Pressed Steel Car 5s jumped 4 points, and Lorillard 5½s, 2¾ points.

Today was the first day for the conversion of American Telephone and Telegraph convertible 4½s, which closed off 3¼ points in sympathy with a decline in the stock. International Telephone and Telegraph convertible 4½s closed a point net lower for the day. Allegheny Corporation 5s finished unchanged and Commerical Investment Trust convertible debentures 5½s were off a point.

Reports 1929 Utilities Financing Is 2½ Billions

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 2.—Public utility financing during 1929 ran above $2,500,000,000, of which $170,000,000 represented financing in the American market for foreign companies, according to Pynchon & Co. Over half of the total financing was for the account of the American electric light and power concerns.

Chicago Title & Trust Earnings Are $10,233,149

Dullness in the Chicago real estate field last year had slight effect on earnings of the Chicago Title and Trust company. Gross earnings were $10,233,149, compared with $10,448,763 in 1928. Net earnings were $4,263,382, equivalent to $35.52 a share on the $12,000,000 capital stock, compared with $4,440,446, or $37 a share, in 1928. The company paid dividends totaling $2,520,000 and transferred $1,000,000 to surplus and $200,000 to special reserves, after which undivided profits were increased to $962,688.

New York, Jan. 2.—Whoopee makers created quite a fuss in launching the new 1930 stock market upon its uncertain way today, but the bears came out of the woods before the party had gone far and spoiled the day completely.

Leading issues were knocked down 3 to 10 points from their early peaks and the close found the list generally off from 1 to 5 points on the day.

The bear operations began as a drive against mail order and copper shares and then spread to the pivotals. Steel from an early top of 173¾ sank to 166 and then eased back to 167¼, a net decline of nearly 4 points. General Electric dipped more than 11 points, but likewise flipped back to some extent, closing the session with a net decline of 1¼. American Can from an early gain of 4 points dropped 2 points below the deadline and was still on the minus side at the finish. Western Union closed off 3 points depends largely upon the maintenance of a carefully balanced list of securities, broadly diversified as to type, nature of industry, and geographical location. The proportion in which bonds, preferred and common stocks should be held depends, of course, upon the age, resources, and requirements of the individual investor.

Is your investment account the result of a plan or the market?

As an aftermath of the speculative period, some investors find themselves with securities that do not satisfy their own investment ideals. It may be that the investor is holding larger amounts of certain issues than he really wants to have, or the issues themselves may not be the kind he would ordinarily select for permanent investment. Such investors plan to rearrange their holdings just as soon as market prices make possible the readjustment without too great a realized loss.

In our opinion, there is no need to defer constructive action of this kind. Bonds and stocks generally are low in price. Any rise which will take place in a few securities will probably also take place in most securities. If you are dissatisfied with the make-up of your investment account, you can dispose of holdings that do not fit in with your plans and acquire others better suited to your needs, without any real sacrifice. The issues you buy will probably benefit from general market improvement to as great an extent as those you sell. As a matter of fact, if your dissatisfaction with certain holdings is based on sound grounds, your position will be substantially improved. In any event, the readjustment can give you a sounder investment structure.

A. G. Becker & Co. is well fitted to be of assistance to you in an undertaking of this kind. Its financial experience extends over a period of 37 years. We are ready to serve you in a thoroughly conscientious manner without thought of immediate business, satisfied that over a period of time there will be opportunities for mutual benefit.

CHICAGO STOCKS OPEN YEAR WELL; CLOSE IS RAGGED

Many Issues Relinquish Early Gains.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

What promised in the early stages to be a bullish demonstration on the Chicago Stock Exchange yesterday turned turtle as the first trading day of the year progressed and ended with the price column in ragged shape.

Only a few stocks were able to hold part of the gains registered in the early trading. Associated Apparel Industries advanced more than two points following publication of the firm's annual report covering the eleven months ended Nov. 30. Bendix slipped more than a point after showing early strength. Current reports state that earnings of the company for last year will equal about $4 a share, compared with $4.44 in the previous year.

Auburn Down 4 Points.

Auburn was off four and Borg Warner was down about 1. Officials of Borg Warner yesterday reported that production in the two carburetor units, Marvel Carburetor and Wheeler Schebler Carburetor, was being speeded up because of the current demand.

Borg Warner corporation's net profit for the year ended Dec. 31 will approximate $7,635,000 or $6 a share on 1,231,020 shares of common stock, after allowing for preferred dividends and minority interests. This indicates earnings of about $500,000 or 47 cents a share on common in December.

Grigsby Grunow failed to register a gain despite a statement by President B. J. Grigsby that net earnings for the first seven months of the fiscal year ended Dec. 30 was in excess of $4,500,000, against $3,600,000 in the same period in 1928. The seven months' earnings are equal to approximately $2.25 on the present common stock.

Mr. Grigsby stated that prospects for the coming year are distinctly encouraging. "We are assured of good volume during the first three months, and I have good reasons to believe that our business during the year will be at least as large as during the last year," he said. The company expects to market a mechanical refrigerator about April 1, Mr. Grigsby stated.

Spurts Eleven Points.

In the investment group, Lehman Corporation spurted 11 points to close at 79 on light sales following a report on the company's condition as of Dec. 31. Net asset value of that date was placed at $91,554,917, based on the purchase price of securities held. The current market value is about $7,950,000 less than the cost, which is equal to $83.50 a share.

More than 16,000 shares of Insull Utility Investments changed hands with the price moving within a three point range, but finishing only fractionally changed. Public offering will be made today of the $60,000,000 ten year 6 per cent debenture issue by a group headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co. The debentures are priced at 99½ and interest, yielding 6.07 per cent.

With the month of December partly estimated, consolidated earnings of the company and wholly owned subsidiaries from all sources applicable to the interest charges for the calendar year 1929 amounted to $12,227,232.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—(AP)—Cotton goods opened the year quiet and steady. Spot raw silk was firmer. Japan markets are closed until Jan. 5. More inquiry was reported for silk goods. Silk hosiery is reported in better demand and substantial provisions is being made for raw material supply for the first quarter of the year. Wool goods quiet and unchanged.

Chicago Curb Exchange Stocks

Although the Chicago curb list dipped sharply in the last hour's trading, many issues held most of their early gains. Otis new, Solvay American, and Transformer were up 2 points or more. Fox Theaters declined over 2 points to new low ground below 3, and Greenebaum and Thermoid were off a point.

Sherwin-Williams.

J. P. K.: Sherwin-Williams company, paint manufacturers, for the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, 1929, reported the largest sales and earning in its history. Net profit, after charges and federal taxes, was $6,019,475, against $4,901,840 the year before. After provision for dividends there was a surplus of $2,824,046 for the last fiscal year, comparing with $2,076,901 the preceding year.

Earnings in the year ended Aug. 31, 1929, were equivalent to $39.13 per share on 153,823 shares of 6 per cent preferred (par $100) and $8.25 per share on 635,079 common shares (par $25). In the preceding year earnings were $40.57 per share on 120,813 preferred shares and $6.99 per share on 594,445 common shares.

At the annual meeting in November it was reported that sales during September and October, 1929, the first two months of the current fiscal year, had shown a gain of 10.8 per cent over the corresponding months of last year.

As of Aug. 31, 1929, profit and loss surplus was $14,631,186, against $12,524,746 a year before.

Current assets were $31,773,630 and current liabilities were $4,986,700, leaving a net working capital of $26,786,930. This compares with $22,243,138 on Aug. 31, 1928.

The company plans a $1,500,000 expansion program, affecting nine branches in different part of the country.

Dividends on the common stock were recently increased from $3 to $4 per year. Extras totaling 87½ cents per share have been reported during 1929.

Both the preferred and common are regarded as high grade.

American Gas and Power.

K. R. M.: American Gas and Power company $4,000,000 secured debentures, 6 per cent series, dated Dec. 1, 1929, and due Dec. 1, 1939, together with the 5 per cent series, due in 1953, will be secured by the pledge of the stocks of Minneapolis Gas Light company, Birmingham Gas company, Industrial Gas corporation (Birmingham), Jacksonville Gas company, St. Augustine Gas and Electric Light company, Savannah Gas company, and Bangor Gas Light company, which it will own at the completion of present financing.

These debentures will be followed by 40,000 shares of first preferred stock, 100,000 shares of preference stock, and 105,000 shares of common stock. All of the preference and common is owned by American Commonwealths Power corporation.

Total income of American Gas and Power company and its subsidiaries for the twelve months ended Oct. 31, 1929, was $2,052,290. Annual interest requirements on the five per cent and six per cent series of debentures amounts to $565,000.

These debentures are somewhat speculative.

Massachusetts Utilities Associates.

Mrs. G. H. W.: Massachusetts Utilities associates reported that for the first nine months of 1929 gross was $8,139,732, against $7,564,182 for the like period in 1928, and balance available for depreciation and reserve was $2,378,011, against $2,189,234 for the corresponding period of 1928.

Chicago Board of Trade Stocks

Security values on the Chicago Board of Trade were irregular, with small dealings outside of the Armour issues. "A" shares advanced early but reacted, gaining only a fraction of a point, while the "B" shares were unchanged. Trading started yesterday in Combined Trust shares, with a trade of 50 shares at 12½. There were 126,000 of these shares admitted to the list, also an additional 5,000 shares of Selected American shares, making a total of 55,000 shares.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Look to Motor Show.

Motor stocks are receiving greater attention because of the automobile show, which generally is ushered in by some sort of bullish demonstration in these stocks.

Completes Best Year.

American Safety Razor has completed the best year in its history, both sales and net earnings establishing new high records. This concern recently bought its own stock in the open market and then canceled it, reducing the floating supply.

Southern Pacific.

One of the railroads which can logically increase its dividend this year, although its ultra conservative management again may decide against such a step, is the Southern Pacific. Southern Pacific will show net of between $12 and $13 a share for the full year of 1929.

City Stores Position.

Indicated net earnings of $2 a share for 1929, coupled with a current annual cash payment of $1 a share, make City Stores one of the most attractive merchandising stocks. The dividend yield around present prices is approximately 10 per cent higher than the average.

Reinvestment Demand.

Much of the January buying power will come from reinvestment demand, thus forming a hopeful factor in the outlook. Inter

WHEN the First National Bank of Chicago was established, in 1863, it began to buy high grade bonds. It has bought them during the sixty-six years since that time in increasing volume.

The investment activities of the First National Bank and the First Union Trust and Savings Bank have been concentrated for years in the Bond Department of the latter bank. Through this department hundreds of millions of dollars of the banks' funds, as well as the funds of individuals, corporations, estates, banking institutions and insurance companies have been safely and profitably invested.

Six decades of experience in weighing security values, a broad diversity of issues thoroughly investigated, an investment service of the highest class—these are the major advantages offered to investors who buy from this bank. Inquiries regarding investments are invited without obligation.

LIQUIDATION IN WHEAT LOWERS PRICES 2 CENTS

Eastern Selling Persists During Day.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Persistent liquidation was on in wheat yesterday, the action of the market of late discouraging longs, and at no time was there aggressive buying. Rallies are feeble, and the finish was at net losses of 2@2¼c.

The decline was in the face of an advance of ⅝@¾d in Liverpool, although there was a small upturn in sympathy with the English market. Reports that Russia had shipped wheat and was asking for offerings at Liverpool attracted some attention, but later cables denied that there was anything in the story, although about 10 days ago samples of wheat were submitted for valuation on around 200,000 bu.

The best buying of wheat on the decline was by shorts and holders of bids, while the selling throughout the day was headed by houses with eastern connections. Winnipeg was off 2¼@2⅝c for the day, while both Buenos Ayres and Rosario lost ⅞@ 1⅝c, a drop of ¼c in the exchange rate having some effect on the latter markets.

Export Sales Liberal.

Although export sales of over 1,000,000 bu North American wheat were reported over the holiday including four cargoes from the Pacific coast the demand generally was somewhat disappointing to the trade. There was no evidence of weakness in the cash situation, however, with No. 2 hard winter at Norfolk quoted at 2c over May asked, while exporters were after the grain f. o. b. New York at 4c over May, with 5c over asked. Some French wheat is said to have been worked to the United Kingdom.

Technical position of the market was regarded as largely responsible for the unsatisfactory showing during the day, as at the high point prices showed 2@8¾c over the low of the previous week, and so far this week there has been a range of around 3½c, March and May both touching the high and low of the week yesterday.

Corn Easier with Wheat.

While the corn market showed stubborn resistance to pressure due to the expression of a member of the federal farm board that he regarded prices as low enough, there was a reaction of around 1c from the extreme top in sympathy with wheat and the close was ⅝@⅞c lower. The spot basis was ½@3c lower with lightweight grain showing the most loss, No. 3 mixed bringing 11@13c under the May.

The big discounts on cash corn as compared with the May tends to make some operators bearish, and also has a tendency to restrict country offerings to arrive. Shipping demand was slow. Buenos Ayres futures closed 1⅛@2c lower with May, 70⅝ or 24⅝c under the same delivery in Chicago. Heavy rains were reported in Argentina Wednesday.

Oats prices held within narrow limits, with trade mainly of a local character, but the finish was ½c lower with sympathy with wheat. The spot basis was steady to 1c lower as compared with May.

Rye showed resistance to pressure, and despite the weakness in wheat closed only ⅝@1½c lower. Trade was light, with local operators not inclined to get far from shore, as those who took in and paid for the cash rye on December contracts have control of the bulk of the visible supply.

CASH-GRAIN NEWS

Foreign demand for North American wheat was disappointing, with sales of over 1,000,000 bu estimated in all positions, including 4 cargoes from the Pacific. There was some No. 2 hard winter sold to Rotterdam and Liverpool. Local handlers sold 29,000 bu corn and 53,000 bu oats to the domestic trade.

CANADA LIFE INVESTS $26,000,000 IN ELEVEN MONTHS; INVESTMENT VALUES MAINTAINED.

Mr. Leighton McCarthy, K. C., President of the Canada Life Assurance Company, states that for the past eleven months the Canada Life has purchased securities and loaned money to the extent of over $26,000,000. This money has been invested principally in bonds, preferred stocks and mortgages, the amount of $11,250,000 being invested in bonds, $4,200,000 in preferred stocks, and $10,500,000 in first mortgages on real estate. The Canada Life has less than 2% of its assets invested in common stocks.

It is interesting to note that nearly 2,500 individual mortgage loans have been made, about ten each working day of the year, which means that a widespread use has been made of the money in the establishing of homes and the developing of agricultural industry, which are the two chief outlets for this company's mortgage funds. As its main investments are in the form of bonds, preferred stocks and mortgages, the recent severe break in stock market prices has had no material effect on its strong investment position and its stabilized earning power. "No real estate values have depreciated," says Mr. McCarthy; "our mortgage loans are not affected, and the real estate and bonds and stocks the company owns show, at present prices, a substantial profit."—Adv.

Does the Automotive Industry Hold the Key to Our Future Business Prosperity?

In years of full production, the automotive industries consume around 18 per cent of the country's total output of rolled steel, 85 per cent of our rubber imports, 75 per cent of our plate glass output, 20 per cent of hard wood lumber output, 25 per cent or more of our aluminum output, 15 per cent of our copper output, 25 per cent of our lead output, almost 30 per cent of our nickel output, and 80 per cent of our gasoline output.

Superlative adjectives are wholly warranted. The automotive industries have become a tremendous factor in our economic structure. What, then, of the outlook for this great industry during the next six months, the next year, next five years?

The conclusions reached by the Standard Statistics Company, Inc., are based on the most exhaustive survey of a key industry ever undertaken by this, the largest statistical organization in the world. They are presented to the newspaper reading public in this skeletonized form because we assume that, at this particular time, they may constitute a matter of general public interest. This survey is one of a series that the Standard Statistics Company is making of America's greatest industries.

A Five-year Forecast of the American Automobile Industry

"AT THE wheel of the automobile rides America's industrial destiny." It is estimated that, directly and indirectly, the automobile industry and its related lines furnish employment for nearly one-tenth of the bread-winners in this country. This group has become vastly more important than any other single group of industries in our economic structure.

The tempo of general industrial activity throughout the country at any given time, therefore, bears an intimate and basic relationship to activity in the motor trades. Significant changes in the volumes of production and sales in these trades are closely related to significant changes in the general business situation.

Because of its outstanding importance, the automobile industry has been selected by the Standard Statistics Company as the starting point in a special study probing into the long term outlook for a number of leading American industries. The results of this study will be reported to our clients in a series of detailed analyses under the head, "THE NEXT FIVE YEARS IN AMERICAN BUSINESS PROFITS."

This is an ambitious title—and an ambitious program. But it is not a guessing expedition, and not one which requires the assumption of any magic powers of prophecy.

All Business Men Strive to Forecast

Every competent business executive and every careful security owner must be constantly laying his plans ahead—often years ahead. To do this intelligently, he must continuously strive to estimate future probabilities. His success in achieving a reasonable, workable estimate of TOMORROW depends both upon his judgment and upon the facilities for research which he has at his disposal.

In its "Next Five Years" studies, the Standard Statistics Company has attempted exactly what the average business leader or the average large scale investor is constantly seeking. It is the work-a-day business of our extensive staff of economists, statisticians and field analysts to be regularly dealing with problems of this type.

The "Next Five Years" analyses are "special" only because they attempt to estimate reasonable probabilities farther ahead than is customary. Our investigation has been more far-reaching and more detailed than is ordinarily feasible. We have also had the privilege of consulting, and checking our judgment against a much greater number of industrial executives than it is usually possible to confer with.

Automobile Production

The conclusions we have reached, following our special investigation of the long term outlook for the automobile industry are summarized (very briefly) below:

On the basis of facts now knowable, we tentatively estimate that total production of passenger cars and trucks in the United States and Canada during the next five years should amount to somewhere around 26 million vehicles.

Such a volume of production during the next five years would mean an increase of 14 per cent as compared with the out-turn of the past five years (1925-1929).

This schedule would call for an average "normal" production of around 5.2 million passenger cars and trucks per year. Normal expectancy for each of the next five years, therefore, is greater than actual production in any past year except 1929. And, of course, over the next five years, actual production will tend to fluctuate above and below the trend of normal expectancy.

It is our judgement that in 1929, when almost 5.7 million motor vehicles were produced, there occured over-production, over-selling and perhaps temporary over-consumption of automobiles.

The penalties for these excesses now seem likely to assert themselves in 1930—especially in the first half of the year. Production and sales for the current year as a whole will, we believe, be less than normal expectancy.

Producer-Dealer Relationships

The year 1929 was not a prosperous one for the majority of the 53,000 automobile dealers in the United States and Canada. They were obliged to take too many cars. The pressure upon them to do so resulted in the accumulation of unduly large stocks of both new and used cars, and therewith in trade-in allowances which too frequently were not on a sound business basis. A prosperous automobile industry implies a prosperous dealer organization.

Thus it is our opinion that if the automobile industry as a whole is to measure up to its normal expectancy over a period of years, further improvement in producer-dealer relationships must occur. All important producers must, we believe, follow the same constructive steps that certain leading manufacturers have already taken in the direction of stabilizing and improving the dealer situation.

Obsolescence

Attainment of the industry's full possibilities over a period of time depends also upon another vital factor.

"It depends," our analysis asserts, "upon the disposition of American automobile users, in the future as through the past, to continue to be the most 'wasteful' class of human beings that has ever inhabited this planet.

"This observation is not made disparagingly or cynically. Indeed, there are some grounds for the assumption that the future of America's prosperity depends not upon saving, but upon a corresponding disposition to waste." . . . to scrap old things before they are entirely worn out, and purchase newer and better ones.

In the automobile industry, this means a continuance of the practice of discarding cars which still have many miles of useful transportation in them, and buying the newer and better cars which each year become available.

"The future of the automobile industry will be solved on the drafting board," Mr. Henry Ford is said to have recently remarked. So many further engineering improvements in the automobile are possible—indeed are now being worked on—that there is scant room for doubt but that the new conception of obsolescence in the automobile industry can be carried through the future as through the past.

Profits and Security Values

With a reasonable expectancy of producing somewhere around 26 million new cars during the next five years, the automobile industry needs nobody's tears and nobody's sympathy. If reasonable expectancy proves to be the actuality, the industry's long term future should be mainly a prosperous future—subject, of course, to temporary sinking spells following periods of abnormal production and consumption.

The peak in aggregate automobile producers' profits has probably not already been reached and passed; it more likely lies in the future.

On the average, the common stocks of leading automobile producing concerns have been drastically deflated during recent months. In our special analysis we name seven issues which we believe will justify higher prices, over a period of time, and after the industry has worked off the effects of last year's excesses.

The Largest Statistical Organization in the World

The Standard Statistics Company is the largest statistical and advisory organization in the world. For almost a quarter of a century it has been furnishing bankers, investment houses, business executives and individual investors with the most exhaustive, thorough-going type of general business and investment information and counsel available.

"Standard" employs over 800 people, including representatives in every important city in the United States and Canada, who are constantly engaged in collecting, analyzing and interpreting significant facts regarding thousands of corporations in scores of industries.

Among its clients, "Standard" numbers not only a multitude of the country's leading business men, but also all of the largest banks and financial houses in North America.

It has won the confidence of its many subscribers because its findings have proved reliable, because its counsel is unbiased, because the information it supplies is complete and right up to the minute.

Through the Services published by the Standard Statistics Company, you, too may secure, at small cost, the exact type of information and advice you need to meet your specific problems.

Simply write us on your business letterhead, and we will gladly tell you, without any obligation whatever, about the sort of results we believe Standard Services could accomplish for you.

May We Send You a Complete Copy of Our Analysis?

Unfortunately, space limitations enable us to give only a very brief summary of our complete report. The entire analysis, however—of far-reaching importance to every business man and security holder—is available to those who desire a detailed statement of the facts upon which the foregoing limited summary is based. PRIVATE TOLL BRIDGES ARE MOOT TOPIC

Expert Discusses Attempt to Bar Capital.

BY SCRUTATOR.

A measure which if passed seems destined to bring an abrupt halt to the building of highway bridges over navigable streams by private capital has introduced in the house of representatives on Dec. 20 by Representative Denison of Marion, Ill.

The bill, H. R. 7,879, approaches a task in making unattractive the private investment of funds in toll bridges. To begin with, the state or states within which the bridge lies, or any of their subdivisions, may on sixty days' notice compel the owners to surrender their property to public ownership.

Specifies the Investment.

States may have the bridges by paying the private owners the investment they have in the individual structures at the time the demand for surrender is made. Mr. Denison's bill specifically provides what the net investment shall consist of. It limits this to the "legitimate cost of constructing the bridge," plus actual financing and promotion costs and amounts spent for improvements, less depreciation and obsolescence and the aggregate excess earnings of the bridge.

If the state desires to take over a bridge which has been a financial loser, it must add a sum sufficient to equal 6 per cent annually on the outstanding securities, but these must not exceed the amount that was actually put into the project.

The payment for recapture shall not include "good will, going value, earning power, prospective revenues or profits, or the franchise under which the bridge was constructed and operated, but shall be limited to the net investment of the owner in the property taken."

Defines Excess Earnings.

Possibly the provision concerning excess earnings should be clarified here. They are defined as the aggregate net earnings that exceed 8 per cent annually on the actual investment. When these excess earnings are equal in the aggregate to this investment the state or states involved may demand the surrender of the property to themselves without payment. It no longer belongs to the private owners because they have gotten back their original investment.

In effect the government will say to prospective bridge builders that they may build if they like, but that at best they can hope only for 8 per cent for a limited period and cannot expect any capital appreciation in value. If the bridge is a loser they may expect to be deprived of their income and to see their investment shrink materially. There is no compulsion on public authority to take over the bridge. Hence the investor is placed in the position of large risk to obtain at best a moderate income.

Toll bridges, annoying as they are to the traveler, have played a considerable part in the program of highway improvement over the last two decades. The automobile editor of THE TRIBUNE, in scouting the roads of the south for tourists this winter, found that he paid nearly $25 in tolls, ranging from 35 cents to $1 each. Congress, from the 66th to the 69th sessions, authorized more than 500 bridges of all kinds over navigable water and requests for permission to build 375 more were received in the 70th congress. Something like 50 per cent were never started. Of those built, many were by public agencies and others were for railroads, but the private toll bridge still were a large factor.

Secretary of War Is Arbiter.

Since 1906 the secretary of war has been the arbiter of tolls that may be charged on authorized bridges built after that year. Mr. Denison has remarked that his subcommittee will not tolerate monopoly of bridge sites by private persons, and is willing to authorize two or more near each other, unless the first is public property.

Generally it would seem that the traveling public could be protected against gouges by the secretary's regulation of tolls and the fact that a public bridge could be built nearby if the owners demanded an excessive price for theirs. Public authority should, of course, build bridges where it can. But to prevent private capital from embarking on a business venture where the state is not prepared to build may mean poorer traffic facilities in some sections for years.

CHICAGO BANKER BUYS OAK PARK BUILDING SITE

Property Is Near Field and Fair Stores.

BY AL CHASE.

Frank F. Taylor, vice president of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, yesterday purchased the property at 1117-19 Lake street, in the center of the new Oak Park business district, and contemplates erecting a modern building. Wreckers already have started clearing the site for the new structure. The lot, which is 48x100 in size, is improved with some old buildings, considered of no value in yesterday's transaction. The property is on the south side of Lake street, between Marion and Harlem, only a short distance from the branch stores of Marshall Field & Co. and the Fair.

The sellers of the fee purchased by Mr. Taylor were Ralph E. Heilman, dean of the school of commerce of Northwestern university, and Robert R. Erving, president of the Thrift Securities company of Oak Park. Mr. Heilman and Mr. Erving bought the property about eight months ago. George R. Hemingway represented all parties in yesterday's transaction.

Buys Northfield Acreage.

George T. Leach of Winnetka has purchased two pieces of acreage on Sanders' road, half a mile north of Dundee road, in Northfield township. The first tract, consisting of forty-eight acres, was acquired from Wilham and Carrie Lesser; the second, of forty-five acres, from the Henry Mentzer estate. The consideration was not disclosed. Wyatt & Coons were brokers for all parties.

John Sexton & Co. leased to the Burns-Le Vee Co., Inc., wholesale furniture dealers, the four story building at the northwest corner of Ohio and Orleans streets. The lessees will use the structure for the display and sale of furniture. Paul C. Loeber & Co. were brokers.

Suburb Buys Playground.

The West Maywood Park district trustees have purchased a parcel of land at the southeast corner of Washington boulevard and 16th avenue, Maywood, from Arnold O. Larsen, for $19,500. The property fronts 200 feet on Washington and 110 feet on 16th. It will be flooded for ice skating this winter and next spring will be developed as a public playground.

The Thatcher Furnace company of Newark, N. J., has leased space at 341 North Clark street for its Chicago office at a reported annual rental of $5,000. Harvey & Dammarell were lessors. James D. Harvey & Co. were brokers.

BUTTER PRICES AVERAGE LOWER FOR 1929 TRADE

Butter prices averaged somewhat below 1928 during the last year, as shown by average wholesale prices in Chicago, compiled by C. L. Pier of the bureau of agricultural economics. Price of 92 score had a range of 39 to 49¼c for the year compared with 43@49½c in 1928.

Diversified agriculture is resulting in more attention being given to milk production, which is reflected in a larger outturn of butter, the total make for the year being estimated at 1,510,714,000 pounds compared with 1,487,049,000 pounds in 1928, and 1,496,495,000 pounds in 1927.

Butter receipts at Chicago in 1929 aggregated 3,253,041 tubs, an increase of nearly 180,000 tubs over the previous year and compared with 3,136,030 tubs in 1927.

HOOVER SAID that the rate of industrial and social progress depends on the degree to which we use electricity.

A new booklet "Our Amazing Electrical Genie" gives a vivid picture of the curve of electrical output from 1881 to 1945.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: 2,500 cattle, 21,000 hogs, and 8,000 sheep.

Following a 5@15c higher opening yesterday, hog prices reacted and finished in line with the general selling the previous day. The extreme top reached $9.85 on the early bulge, but few passed $9.75, while the general average remained unchanged at $9.45. The trade was more unsettled than usual, following the release of an advance estimate of only 21,000 for today, which compares with 42,496 a year ago and with 54,013 two years ago.

Some packers regard the continued shortage with some anxiety, although most traders expect more normal supplies next week. Receipts at Chicago during the first four days of this week at 126,100 are 49,800 smaller than a year ago and 45,700 smaller than two years ago.

Only 5,000 Cattle Offered.

Only 5,000 cattle were offered yesterday, the smallest Thursday receipts in recent weeks. With shipping demand good, the few choice kinds available scored gains of 15@25c.

Medium and weighty beeves, which broke most a week ago, showed the biggest improvement. Prime 1,323 lb steers sold at $15.50, highest for the weight since early in November. Yearlings averaging 1,011 lbs reached $16.00. Some 1,699 lb beeves were bought at $14.25. Butcher stock ruled strong to higher, good 724 lb heifers selling at $14.25. Calves recovered 25@50c of the recent sharp loss. Stockers and feeders were scarce and in better demand at strong prices.

Sheep Sell Higher.

Both sheep and lambs scored gains of 15@25c on yesterday's active trade. Aged ewes at $6.25 were highest in nearly a month and 75c above the recent low spot. The meager supply of lambs changed hands quickly at $13.00@13.50 mostly, prime 92 lb averages at the outside figure, while 91 lb fed westerns to shippers reached $13.75, highest of the week. Yearlings ruled strong to 25c higher. Feeders were scare, but barely steady.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 2,500 cattle, 21,000 hogs and 8,000 sheep, against 2,152 cattle, 24,072 hogs and 13,348 sheep the previous Friday and 2,782 cattle, 42,496 hogs and 10,736 sheep a year ago.

COTTON PRICES STRONGER

Strength in cotton values was attributed more to limited selling pressure than to any material change in the buying power. Trading was light with comparatively little disposition on the part of mill interests to buy except on sharp declines. Liverpool closed 4 to 5 points net higher, with spot sales 5,000 bales. New Orleans was a fair buyer of futures in New York and there was a little buying in Chicago and New Orleans by commission houses.

At the close futures in Chicago were 6 to 9 points and in other markets 3 to 19 points net higher, the latter in January in New York. Spots in New York were 20 points higher at 17.45c, with sales 6,800 bales of middlings. New Orleans advanced 5 points to 17.05c; sales 1,159 bales. Houston was 17.30c and Galveston 17.35c. LEGITIMATE SAVINGS ON GOOD USED CARS

READ THIS USED CAR AD OVER VERY CAREFULLY.

"Bargains" are advertised by dealers everywhere—but how is one to know WHO REALLY offers the biggest savings? Here is a convincing answer. Studebaker is the biggest used car merchandiser in Chicago and has been for a long time. The reason is that over a period of years satisfied purchasers have passed the word around that we have the biggest collection of good used automobiles to offer, priced at the lowest figures.

Under these circumstances, don't you think it's worth while to investigate our unusual buys? Also learn the details of the famous Studebaker Used Car Pledge—the safest automobile protection available today.

STUDEBAKER COUPE. Spec. Six. 4 pass. Attractive original finish. Mohair upholstery and many extras. $195.

WILLYS-KNIGHT SEDAN. Equipped with heater, snubbers, spare tire, bumpers, etc. Has thousands of miles of usual transportation. $95.

CHRYSLER SEDAN. 4 whl. brakes, spare tire, snubbers, spotlight, etc. The finish has not a mar on it and the tires have little mileage. Runs fine. $250.

STUDEBAKER BIG SIX. 5 pass. Club Coupe with practically new tires. Extras are snubbers, driving light, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Will not remain long at $295.

HUPMOBILE SEDAN. We recommend this 8 with 4 whl. brakes, heater, snubbers, spare tire, bumpers, etc. It's a real beauty and the performance is exceptionally good. $450.

BUICK COACH. Recent Mast. 6 that will please the most exacting buyer. It's a beauty. The upholstery, carpets and finish are in the original new condition and the tires are practically brand new. Has 4 whl. brakes, spare tire, bumpers, snubbers, etc. $695.

OAKLAND SEDAN. Very late 2 dr., 5 pass. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, bumpers, snubbers, spare tire, etc. Tires have little mileage. Has a sweet running motor. $550.

DODGE SEDAN. We believe this 1928 Victory 6 is the best Dodge value in Chicago. It's exceptionally clean throughout and has a sweet running motor. Equipped with whl. brakes, snubbers, spare tire, bumpers, etc. Offered at big reduction.

STUDEBAKER PRESIDENT. 1929 str. 5 five pass. Sedan. Actually used less than 90 days. It has the original show floor appearance and will give you satisfaction today. Motor is guaranteed. Houdaille shock absorbers, driving light, etc. $1,085.

GRAHAM-PAIGE SEDAN. Recent model with fender wells and hundreds of dollars' worth of extras. Very low mileage. Motor could not be improved. $850.
